REAL ESTATE NOTES

A real Thanksgiving day it was, with lots to be thankful for. H. L. Moxley & Co. have been appointed agents of the 15-sty building 128-130 Fifth av, recently purchased by Mr. Charles A. Gould.

The McVickar, Gaillard Realty Co. was the broker in the sale of No 37 West 47th st for Mrs. E. D. Brooks-Brown; George E. Pollock was the purchaser.

Mr. S. Goldsticker, 149 Broadway, Manhattan, refers to the great need of modern office buildings in the section south of Cortlandt st and west of Broadway.

Mr. J. Clarence Davies, of 149th st and 3d av, says that real estate business in the Bronx has improved considerably of late.

E. Sheldon Robinson has taken up offices at 3164 3d av.

Frederick Fox & Co., real estate brokers and agents of 793 Broadway, have opened a branch office at 1313 Broadway, northwest corner of 34th st, adjoining Macy's. This company makes a specialty of leasing buildings and lofts in the business sections, at which they have been quite successful.

David Stewart, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, says that he is doing a brisk business, especially in placing mortgage loans, and refers to the growing demand for flats on Washington Heights. The uptown office, 1926 Amsterdam av, which is in charge of E. E. Thomas, reports many inquiries for Broadway property.

John R. Foley, 149 Broadway, Manhattan, says that there is no trouble in finding buyers for well situated downtown properties, and that he has recently made several re-sales in the district mentioned. Mr. Foley believes that the section bounded by Chambers and Rector and Broadway and West sts has a great future.

A. E. Wood, of 219 West 125th st, who has been doing business in this vicinity for many years, says that there are more inquiries on the part of clients to purchase property than there has been, although money is tight, especially on vacant land. He believes business will be good by next spring. Everything is now fully rented, even stores where landlords have exacted exorbitant rentals, these being snapped up without delay, the demand exceeding the supply.

Messrs. Lawrence & Wolff, of 579 Madison av, in correcting an accidental over-statement in last week's number says that property on Madison av, between 44th and 58th sts was fairly dormant for fifteen years until in the past eighteen months it has really begun to move, while side sts have steadily enhanced during these years, and that properties between Park and Madison avs in 56th st could have been bought fifteen years ago for about $1,500 per running foot, while to-day it is worth at least $3,000. Madison av property in this neighborhood had hardly increased at all up to eighteen months ago during these fifteen years.

The next regular monthly meeting of the West End Association will be held at its rooms, in the Hotel St. Andrew, Broadway, corner of West 72d st, on Monday evening, December 3d, 1906, at 8:30 o'clock. The Nominating Committee appointed under resolution adopted at the November meeting has nominated the following officers for the year 1907, who will be voted at said meeting: For Hon. President, Cyrus Clark; for President, James Van Dyck Card; for Vice-Presidents, Judson Lawson, John C. Coleman and William H. B. Totten; for Treasurer, J. Edgar Leaycraft; for Secretary, George B. Sheppard.

What One Corporation Has Accomplished.

ILLUSTRATING in visible form some of the concrete results of the year in the real estate field, is a report from the directors of a certain corporation, which by chance fell under our eyes. It was on which indicated very forcibly the exceptional opportunities of the year for legitimate speculation, and also the manner in which well-ordered corporations advanced their interests.

This particular company has bought during the year properties costing $1,513,588, comprising 81 dwellings, 15 flat buildings, 20 store and flat buildings, 7 stores, 1 stable, 8 unimproved plots; and has made sales of properties amounting to $2,335,196, namely, 148 dwellings, 31 flat buildings, 64 store and flat buildings, 9 stores, 6 unimproved plots.

The company has not, however, materially reduced its total real estate holdings. The cash invested in real estate is about the same as the cash so invested one year ago. The properties purchased have been diversified in character and many in the older sections of Brooklyn as heretofore.

All the acreage heretofore purchased was developed and lots sold to such an extent that the success of the operations was assured, and the company has during the year made two additional investments in acreage aggregating about $250,000, the localities being near at hand and such as to warrant immediate development and occupation. The holdings now consist of 471 dwellings, 79 flat buildings, 110 store and flat buildings, 37 stores, 7 stables, 27 unimproved plots.

The company has invested during the year $330,000 in mortgages, and the total mortgage investments are now $607,447, exclusive of purchase money mortgages. Purchase money and other second mortgages are carried at ninety per cent. of their face value, ten per cent. being carried in a fund to provide against possible losses. During the year $92,723 has been added to this reserve account, which represents deferred profits that the directors do not wish to count until realized.

The company referred to is the Realty Associates of Brooklyn, and it is apparent that the year has been a most interesting one for its directors and stockholders. The notice from the directors states that the company has taken advantage of the opportunity to co-operate with the Title Guarantee & Trust Company in the making and selling of large mortgage loans on tracts of land or large building operations which seemed sound enough to justify it. The mortgages are made to the Title Guarantee & Trust Company as trustee, and the Realty Associates buys the bonds, and sells them with payment guaranteed at a lower rate of interest, making the difference without outlay of capital, success depending upon the credit of the company and the limiting of the operations to properties which have been investigated by the Buying Committee in the same careful manner as are the purchases of the company. Bonds of this character and mortgages aggregating $1,156,000 have been guaranteed by the company. The amount of such guarantees that the company may enter into has been limited by the directors to $5,000,000. The net income from rents and interest for the fiscal year after paying all expenses and taxes, together with the profits on sales, amounts to $653,655.09.

Referee Cuts Claims in Park Avenue Damage Suit.

A report has been filed by ex-Judge Alton B. Parker, as referee, holding that the city should pay the sum of $199,627 in damages to the owners of buildings which were injured during March, 1902, as an effect of the subway tunnelling at Park av and 38th st. The caving in of the land was attributed to the change in plans of the construction work which weakened the foundations of abutting houses. The claims against the city amounted in November to more than $600,000, but many were withdrawn by claimants, who, it is said, preferred to rely on an action at law in preference to the findings of the referee. One of the chief claims was that of Chas. T. Barney, whose building was so badly wrecked that it necessitated the shoring up of the structure. Mr. Barney's claim against the city amounted to $259,149, but the referee has cut this down to less than half, as will be seen by the following awards:

F. W. Devoe, 99 Park av.....	$47,805
Mrs. Arabella D. Huntington, 65 Park av.....	17,100
C. T. Barney, 67 Park av.....	93,325
G. H. Byrd, 69 Park av.....	6,500
Alice T. Wheelock, 75 Park av.....	611
Alice T. Wheelock, and M. A. Kemeys, 77 Park av.....	6,823
Benjamin Welles and other executors, 101 Park av.....	27,454
Total	$199,627

In his report the referee alludes to the fact that all of the abutting houses were damaged more or less by the construction of the subway, but according to his opinion the court has empowered him to determine only what special damages were caused by the actual construction.

Repairing Asphalt Pavements.

A committee composed of George W. Tillson, Oscar W. von der Bosch and Clarence D. Pollock, appointed by the municipal engineers of the City of New York, to investigate the cost and method of repairing asphalt pavements, made a report of which an abstract is given below; the figures being for the first of this year, except those of Washington, which are for June 30, 1905.

In Philadelphia, about 25 miles of pavement are out of guarantee, and all need resurfacing throughout. The prices for this year for resurfacing are $1.19 per sq. yd. for less than 100 sq. yds., $1.17 for 100 to 500-sq.-yd patches, $1.11 for between 500 and 1,000 sq. yds., and $1.07 for over 1,000 sq. yds. The cities repair annually all they can obtain appropriation for.

In Minneapolis the cost was $1.65 per sq. yd. In Omaha repairs are made by a municipal asphalt plant at a cost of 82 cents per sq. yd. In Kansas City repairing is done with a surface heater by contract at 90 cents a sq. yd.

In Manhattan, New York, 460,882 sq. yds. cost to maintain, $161,800.90; or 34 cents per sq. yd. of total pavement.

Effect of McAdoo Terminal on Lower Manhattan Realty.

There is no mistaking the influence which the McAdoo terminal is beginning to produce on the value of real estate below the Main Post Office, and substantial evidence of this fact has been recently furnished in the purchase of the southwest corner of Broadway and Dey st by the City Investing Company for $1,000,000. The price paid per sq. ft. for the parcel in question was $217, and exceeds the figure obtained for the southeast corner of Broadway and Maiden lane, which brought $180 per sq. ft. a few years ago.

From the standpoint of location the Dey street corner now appears to have the advantage over the latter by reason of its proximity to the subway station, but while it is admitted that this fact alone has contributed in no small degree to the enhancement in the value of the parcel mentioned, its effect, it is said, will be insignificant when measured by the influence which the McAdoo terminal is almost certain to exert on real estate in the immediate vicinity. It is believed by many operating companies that Dey and Fulton sts are destined to become the leading connecting streets downtown, and when a study of the geographical situation of the new terminal is made, it is comparatively easy to understand the wisdom of this reasoning. On the principle that travel usually follows the channel of least resistance, it is thought by real estate men that the greater part of the increasing Jersey influx can be expected to pass through the streets to which attention is directed, and this cannot help but result in a proportionate demand for stores and offices along these highways, with a consequent growth in realty values.

It has been argued that the radiating influence of the terminal is affecting only the blocks immediately adjacent to its location, but facts do not support this theory, for there has been a noticeable demand of late for property to the south of the tunnel entrance. Plots which could have been purchased a short time ago for from $15 to $18 per sq. ft. in the Charles st district are now on the market at figures ranging between $30 to $40 per sq. ft., and there seems to be every likelihood that they will command much higher prices.

Brokers who are familiar with conditions in that part of Manhattan are of the opinion that the increase is fully warranted, and unhesitatingly predict a more rapid growth in land values in that locality, particularly upon the completion of the great improvement now under way.

Eastern End of the Belmont Line Will Have a Loop.

The Belmont tubes, otherwise the tunnels of the New York and Long Island Railroad Company, will terminate on the Long Island side in a loop beyond Van Alst av. This loop will be crossed by an incline along which cars can pass above those going round the loop. The incline will pass across the center of the loop and reach grade at the opposite, or easterly side. This will be a considerable distance out on the flats east of Van Alst av and the plan will give the tube lines an opportunity to connect on the surface with one or several of the Queens County trolley lines. More than that has not been decided upon, or at all events, the tracings and plans for anything different have not reached the surface yet.

Outlet for South Brooklyn.

[From the South Brooklyn News.]

For South Brooklyn the 39th st ferry is our most feasible outlet into Manhattan, and we want the proper facilities bestowed upon us at the earliest possible moment. The long ride from 36th st to and across the bridge, with or without the loop, should not be necessary. The B. R. T. makes no pretense of making the run in less than 35 minutes during the "rush" hours. A ferryboat of modern build and equipment can do it in eighteen minutes! We now have the ferry under municipal control, but with no reason to expect greater facilities for several months to come. True, the dock department might say that we do not patronize the ferry, even to a reasonable amount. This is chiefly because we cannot get to it, or, getting from Manhattan by means of the boat we are compelled to walk a long distance.

Law Enforcement.

Borough President Coler said this week that he is pleased with the recommendation of the Grand Jury relative to building conditions in Brooklyn.

"The reputable builders of this borough are giving us considerable aid. We have noticed a very material decrease in the number of violations of the Building Code. Whereas, the number used to run up into the thirties every day, yesterday the number of violations was only two. This is gratifying, and I think the Grand Jury can be thanked for effecting this reform by its presentment. We are going to keep on the track of bad builders and prosecute every violation we find."

Helps Bridge Plan.

Mayor McClellan said this week that all legal obstacles to the city acquiring property along Park row and North William st, in addition to the triangle bounded by Centre and Chambers sts and Park row, had been removed and the acquisition of the land necessary to enlarge the terminal facilities of the Brooklyn Bridge may now proceed. The proposed condemnation proceedings to acquire the land have been tied up for three years by an injunction obtained by Andy Horn, the former owner of a building adjoining the bridge in Park row. This injunction has now been dissolved. The property which it is proposed to acquire it is estimated will cost between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

Activity in Bensonhurst.

Louis Gretch sold for Elmer E. Fingar to Joseph Kessel for $9,500 100 Bay 26th st, a frame dwelling, on a plot 60x100; for R. E. Pilch to an operator 8734 Bay 24th st, a dwelling on a plot 60x100; for William C. Pengel, a builder, to Benjamin L. Morris, a 2-family frame house in the westerly side of Bay 25th st, near Benson av; to William C. Pengel five lots in the easterly side of Bay 24th st, each 20x100, on which the buyer will erect three 1-family frame dwellings; for the Bensonhurst Building Company to a builder, three lots in the south side of Bath av, near Bay 15th st; for A. Minkosky to the same buyer, two lots adjoining. The buyer will build five flats, with stores.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

November 23, 24, 26, 27 and 28.

“AS a nation,” says President Roosevelt in the annual message which he submitted to Congress on Tuesday, of this week, “we still continue to enjoy a literally unprecedented prosperity.” This is almost platitudinous. Our prosperity, shown in the enormous development of business and extraordinary railroad earnings, has certainly not been fully reflected in Wall Street, for there has been another week of ups and downs and irregularity in the stock market with exasperatingly high rates for money. In a sense, there is nothing to be alarmed at in the President’s message. Legislation that he urges is not unfriendly to stock speculation, and to some extent has already been discounted. It is claimed that nothing that this Congress may do in its present session is likely to cause a scare, as has so frequently been the case with other Congresses, so that when adjournment took place the business and financial world breathed more freely. Yet, so long as there is uncertainty about money, no matter how favorable otherwise fundamental conditions may be, it is impossible to avoid a feeling of disquietude. Money is, of course, manipulated by those who control it for their own purposes. At the most the call rate should not exceed 8 per cent., yet it went during the week well into the thirties. As a financial writer says, “anything above 8 per cent. is due entirely to the calling of loans from little men in order to furnish 6 per cent. money to big men.” Naturally some solution of the problem and crumbs of comfort were looked for in Secretary Shaw’s annual report, sent to Congress and made public on Wednesday, of this week. He discusses the question of currency reform like most of his predecessors, but there is really nothing definite or reassuring in his conclusions. Annual Treasury reports have always advocated a change in the existing law for the past fifty years, apparently without result. All that can be gathered from Secretary Shaw’s message is that it is not his intention to extend monetary relief just now, or until there is real necessity for it. That the Secretary of the Treasury is, however, not unmindful of the situation is evidenced by the fact of the announcement that he would anticipate the interest on the government debt up to May 1, thus releasing about $12,000,000 from the Treasury, and affording some slight aid to the money market. The declaration of a quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. of the New York Central Railroad placing it on a 6 per cent. basis, had the effect of causing a decline in the stock, showing that the increase had been anticipated by operators. United States Steel and some other issues have remained firm, and this in the face of high money. When Treasury or other substantial relief comes, if it ever comes so as to eliminate the element of doubt, there is every reason to believe that much higher prices will be seen in the stock market.

TRANSACTIONS in real estate during the week have been characterized by noticeable activity in small properties, particularly in that part of the borough south of Forty-fifth street, with the buying evenly distributed between the east and west sides, and with nearly every street between 3d and Forty-fifth represented in the business, altogether indicating increasing confidence on the part of speculators in the immediate future of real property within these limits. The really notable, as well as the most significant transaction of the week was the purchase of a large tract of land near Fort Schuyler, involving some 210 acres in a part of the city having exceptional attractions and certain in the future of a fine development; while the sale of the northeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-second street, in the automobile district, for $660,000, was the largest in the central section of the town. In the middle of the week attention was attracted by a rumor of the sale of the Fifth Ave. Hotel at a valuation approaching seven million, and it has not altogether been withdrawn since the denial of the rumor. Real estate brokers continue to experience difficulty in closing contracts involving large considerations, owing to the continued stringency of the money market. With building construction being brought within the limitations of the winter season, a falling off in the sales of common brick is reported, and at the same time somewhat higher quotations, on announcements from the upper Hudson that the river is closing, and that the principal towing companies will not accept orders for points north of Kingston. Boats loaded with supplies of material for winter consumption are being covered up at the piers. The cement market likewise is taking on the quiet aspects of the winter season, with no marked change in prices since the sharp decline of a month ago; and lumber, being in strong hands, is maintained at the highest level of values of the year.

EVIDENCE continues to accumulate that the business development at Madison avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Thirty-fourth streets, is near at hand. An unusual number of sales are being reported on that part of the avenue, and last week an important firm of decorators, hitherto situated on Fifth avenue, leased the corner of Madison avenue and Thirty-second street. This transaction suggests that Madison avenue may develop along lines of Fifth avenue north of Twenty-sixth street, instead of along the lines of Fifth avenue, south of Twenty-third street—that it may be occupied by the retail instead of by the wholesale trade. The Record and Guide has believed hitherto that it was better adapted to wholesale than to retail purpose, particularly as this wholesale business, now that it has filled up lower Fifth avenue, needs a new avenue to occupy. But this anticipation may prove to be incorrect. The enormous rents which now prevail on Fifth avenue may induce important retail firms to move to Madison avenue instead of to the side streets. On Madison avenue they could obtain the necessary floor space at less than half the cost, and for certain well-established houses a location on Madison avenue would serve almost as well. We should not be at all surprised to witness some time during the winter or coming spring the announcement that one of the big retail houses situated south of Twenty-third street had purchased a site on Madison avenue. The removal of Altman & Co. to Thirty-fourth street, and the opening of the new McCreery store on the same street have both proved to be big popular successes, and will in time compel imitation. Except in the case of one parcel, it is now practically impossible to obtain locations either on Fifth avenue or in Thirty-fourth street; and it may well be that the retail houses will find Madison avenue the best available substitute. In case they discovered that avenue to be adapted to their purposes, they could, of course, crowd out the wholesale business, because they could afford to pay larger rents. An emphatic drift either one way or the other will probably be developed within the next few months, and the speculators will jump in for the purpose of getting some share of the increase in value. Prices on Madison avenue will never reach the high level which prevails on Fifth avenue, but they may well advance to as much as half that level—which would offer a substantial margin of profit to speculators.

THERE is pending before the Board of Aldermen an ordinance imposing a fine of $25 upon any owner of a building in the Borough of Manhattan who shall not cause “the street number of the same to be plainly and legibly displayed in such manner that the same may be seen and read from the sidewalk in front thereof at all times during the day and night.” Pending action upon the matter the claim is made that this ordinance should not, if adopted, be confined in its operations to Manhattan, and the Postmaster of Brooklyn, Postmaster Roberts, has filed a declaration to the effect that the extension of the ordinance to cover that borough would be of benefit. He adds that “such display of numbers would be appreciated by the carriers of the Brooklyn Postoffice, and would greatly facilitate the delivery of mail." The present method of house numbering in New York is subject to a good deal of censure, for the reason that a considerable number of houses, particularly apartment houses, display no numbers whatever, while tenement houses have usually small tin signs out of the line of vision, and private houses have generally the numbers displayed either on a fanlight, through which they are invisible at night, or on doorplates, which are undecipherable day or night. The present ordinance requires only that there should be a number—the right number—shown, but it is usually so shown as to be visible only by day, if then. Thus inquiries by night for street numbers are rendered more difficult in New York than in most other cities. Postmaster Willcox has written approvingly of the proposed ordinance as follows: "I am heartily in favor of this measure, as it will undoubtedly be of benefit to letter-carriers, and facilitate the delivery of mail."

The Subway Extensions.

IT is finally announced that the Rapid Transit Commission will, at an early date, advertise for bids on the four new subways—that is, on the so-called Lexington avenue, Seventh avenue, Third avenue and Eighth avenue routes, and the reason given by the commission for expediting the offer of these franchises is the desire on its part to get the bids in before the Legislature adjourns. They wish the Legislature to be in session when the bids are received, so that if no satisfactory offers are secured under the amended law the provisions of the act can be modified for the purpose of making the terms more acceptable to intending bidders. The Record and Guide fully agrees with the Rapid Transit Commission that no delay should be incurred in offering the new routes to public competition, and we regret that the Board of Estimate has not acted more promptly; but we dissent absolutely from the reasons which are given for this expedition. Even if no responsible bidders are willing to accept the new subways under the terms offered by the law, the city authorities should be in no hurry to have the law amended. Should no bidders appear, it will simply mean that the Interborough-Metropolitan combination believes that it holds the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx in its grip and can use its power to extort unfair terms. According to all experience in other large cities, such as Paris, a lease of twenty years, with a renewal almost as long, offers private capital abundant opportunities for investment; and if no capitalists are tempted, the only inference is that the capitalists interested are seeking for extortionate profits. The existing law provides for just such a contingency by enabling the city to construct subways itself, and we believe that under such conditions the city should decide to exercise that right. It is really too bad that the Rapid Transit Commissioners are unwilling loyally to accept the law, which they are sworn to execute, and that they inform August Belmont and others, in advance, that the law will, if necessary, be modified to suit the interest of the traction corporations.

The policy which the city ought to adopt is perfectly obvious, and can be deduced from a candid consideration of existing conditions. Bids should be asked as soon as possible for the construction and operation of the several routes. We are willing to risk the prediction that these offers will not be entirely rejected, even by Mr. Belmont. It seems probable that bids will be received for the Lexington and Seventh avenue routes, which complete the existing Subway system, but it is also probable that the Transit Company will refuse to build the subways on Third and Eighth avenues, which constitute an independent and competing system. If such should be the case, the city ought to accept the bids for the Lexington and Seventh avenue subways, even though the other tunnels remain unconstructed for the present. The Lexington and Seventh avenue subways will practically double the capacity of the existing system, and they will enable the Interborough Company to improve very much the service which the Bronx now obtains. The city should be satisfied with this result for the time being; but it should also guard against the indefinite postponement of the construction of the Third and Eighth avenue routes. It should demand some guarantee from the Subway Company that these additional routes be built within five years. An arrangement of this kind would be highly advantageous both to the Interborough Company and the City. It would enable the company to keep its existing monopoly for at least thirty-five years; and it would provide the best transit service for the people of New York which can be obtained under existing conditions, together with a promise of steady future improvement. To refuse such terms would be a piece of crass stupidity on the part of Mr. Belmont and his associates.

If, however, the Interborough officials should be encouraged by the Rapid Transit Commission to refuse such an opportunity in the hope of securing better terms, the city has in its power a most effective retort. It can provide immediately for the construction of an independent municipal subway system. Of course, the objection will be made that the debt margin is too small for such an expenditure, but this objection will not bear examination. It is true that the city could hardly commit itself to the expenditure of the whole $125,000,000 which the four proposed subways will cost; but there is no need to construct all these subways. All the city needs to build, in order effectively to compete with the Interborough Company, is a four-track belt line on Eighth and Third avenues, connected by crosstown subways at Canal, Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Thirty-fourth, Forty-second, Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets. Such a system, with elevated extensions in the Bronx, would be complete in itself, would be capable of economic operation, and would give the people of Manhattan and the Bronx a most useful addition to their means of transit. It could be constructed, probably, for $60,000,000 or $70,000,000, and such an expenditure is not beyond the available means of the city. Even the Comptroller places the debt margin at about the foregoing sum; and the limit could be increased by a moderate increase of the assessed valuation of real estate. The expenditure would be distributed over five or six years, and by a careful husbanding of its resources, the Finance Department would have no difficulty in meeting the obligation. The city has every reason to adopt this alternative in case the Interborough Company refuses to come to terms. The only way to bring these companies to terms is to fight them vigorously, just as Chicago has done, and the city is fully armed for the purpose. It may be added that after such a subway was constructed, and, if necessary, equipped, it could be leased to an operating company for a sum which would more than pay the interest on the bonds, and at the same time provide a Sinking Fund for their extinction at maturity.

Such is the policy which the city ought to adopt; and unless we are very much mistaken, it is the policy which Mayor McClellan will insist upon adopting. It is fortunate, indeed, that the Mayor at least has a clear understanding of what the city's interests are, and how they can best be served. In case no bids are obtained, it is not the Rapid Transit Act which should be amended; it is the Rapid Transit Commission, which should be reformed. It would be absurd to keep a commission in office which lags so far behind the public opinion of the city, and which is so willing to sacrifice the interests of the city to those of a private corporation. The failure to obtain bids could be traceable to one cause only. The commission and its counsel, Mr. Boardman, have notified the Interborough Company that no bids are expected under the existing law, and that if no bids are received the commission will work overtime to have the law amended; and, as a consequence of this announcement, it may be that the Interborough Company will be foolish enough to refuse to bid. But in that event the company should be taught that the Rapid Transit Commission no longer represents the city. Suppose the alternative policy had been proclaimed. Suppose that notice had been served on the company that if no bids were received the city would immediately begin the construction of an independent competing system, it is obvious to any fair-minded man that the Interborough Company would, in self-protection, be obliged to bid. It is very much to be hoped that the Mayor will clearly announce the policy he intends to pursue should no satisfactory bids be received, and that his policy will then be a declaration of war against both the Interborough Company and the Rapid Transit Commission.

Suggestion for Amending the Recording Tax.

Editor Record and Guide:

Will not an addition to section 294, of the Recording Tax Law, drafted along the following lines, make the expensive re-issuing of hundreds of thousands of old mortgages unnecessary?

(a) On mortgages recorded between July 1, 1905, and July 1, 1906, the recording officer of the county will, upon receipt of the difference between the amount paid as mortgage tax thereon, and the amount of tax payable under chapter 532 of the Laws of 1906, stamp upon the mortgage and upon the record thereof, over his signature, official title and current date, the words "Recording Tax paid," and such notation shall relieve said mortgage from further tax. If there be no difference between the amount paid at time of recording and the amount of tax payable under chapter 532, Laws of 1906, the recording officer of the county will, upon request, stamp the instrument and the record thereof as designated in the preceding paragraph, and such notation shall relieve said mortgage from further taxation.

(b) On mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1905, the recording officer of the county will, upon receipt of fifty cents for each one hundred dollars and each remaining major fraction thereof of principal debt or obligation which, at the time, is, or under any contingency may be secured by said mortgage on real property situated within the county, stamp upon said mortgage and upon the record thereof, over his signature, official title and current date, the words "Recording Tax paid," and such notation shall relieve said mortgage from further taxation.

The Present Mortgage Market.

IT is needless to say that the mortgage market is tight and that this state of affairs has prevailed for some time. In my opinion this tightness may be attributed to possibly half a dozen different reasons. I will endeavor to set forth what I consider the two most important causes: Firstly, Greater New York has in the past three years experienced a building boom such as has never been known in its history, and I doubt in the history of any other large city in the world. This in itself has caused a tremendous drainage upon the funds used for bond and mortgage purposes, and I positively consider the building movement, to the extent to which it has been carried on, absolutely unwarranted.

We will take for an example a plot of ground comprising three city lots, each 25x100. We will assume that these lots are worth $15,000 each, making a total value of $45,000. The highest possible mortgage a plot of this nature would command, let us assume to be 70%, which equals a little less than $32,000. Flat houses or tenements are erected on this plot, which, if of a five-story nature, would cost to build not less than $900 a running foot, which would bring the total value of land and building together up to about $115,000. Under ordinary conditions a parcel valued at $115,000 there would be little difficulty in obtaining 70% of the value on mortgage, which would amount to, in the neighborhood of, $80,000.

It is easy to see that this plot, when unimproved, commands a mortgage of $32,000, and when its improvement is accomplished it will command a mortgage of $80,000, a difference arising of about $48,000 on every seventy-five feet of vacant land built upon in the Boroughs of Manhattan, the Bronx and Brooklyn. This in itself, as can be plainly seen, has been an enormous drain on all available mortgage money. There have been hundreds of other cases where the ratio of additional mortgage money per seventy-five feet, as set forth in the foregoing example, have been far greater than $48,000, owing to the fact of the land value being considerably higher, necessitating the erection of high class apartment houses, office buildings, hotels, etc. Of course, a great deal to do with the above building boom has been caused by the builders being able to dispose of their operations many months before the actual completion of the buildings. This state of affairs gave them unwarranted courage, and at the same time induced various individuals to engage in the building business who never knew the cost of a thousand bricks.

Secondly, I can positively state that there have been thousands of people, each having from $500 to possibly $5,000 on deposit in different savings banks and trust companies in New York. These deposits, in 90% of the cases, have been left lying absolutely dormant anywhere from two to twenty years. These depositors have been induced to withdraw their savings and invest them in suburban lots or homes (I do not mean to imply that these small investors have in any manner, shape or form made undesirable investments, as I personally believe in the future of all suburban property within a radius of about thirty miles from New York); in consequence there have been millions subtracted from the treasuries of the above institutions. We all know that savings banks and trust companies have their way of figuring what loans shall be placed on bond and mortgage per annum, the extent of these loans largely depending upon their deposits on hand. Subtract millions from such deposits and it is only natural, in fact, it is imperative that they either cut down their yearly allotment of cash for bond and mortgage purposes or decline indefinitely, as some of them have done, to make loans, and in many cases they have not only raised the rate of their present overdue mortgages from 4% to 4½% and from 4½% to 5%, but also several of the banks and trust companies have found it expedient or necessary to call in such past due mortgages. Scores of large suburban land companies started this movement by an enormous amount of advertising, thousands of people being induced to visit certain sections through the fact that their transportation was free, many of them having no intention to purchase, but took the trip more as a pleasure one than a serious business proposition such as it was, with the result that the ratio of exflux of money was far in excess of the influx, by reason of the disturbed normal banking conditions, due to this cyclonic suburban movement.

As to the future of the mortgage market, it is the general belief, though I seldom hear a reason, that money will be much easier after the first of the year, but, personally, I am of the opinion that it will take at least from nine to twelve months before we are able to enjoy the conditions of the mortgage market such as we experienced two years ago. I arrive at this conclusion from the fact that millions of dollars are gradually finding their way into the mortgage market channels by estates which in the past have never made loans and are now only doing so by reason of the new half per cent. recording tax law. In addition to which the large life insurance companies are feeling much more kindly toward first class mortgages than in the past. This is a very important factor toward easier money, in fact, the present disturbed conditions must, like water, ultimately find their normal level.

Is Your Mortgage Safe?

A dealer in real estate has appealed to the Real Estate Board of Brokers for advice in the following premises:

Certain real estate was purchased at public auction sale in May, 1900. Title thereto was taken the following month subject to a mortgage of $45,000 with interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, which mortgage was then held by an estate. During July, 1902, this mortgage was reduced to $30,000, and the time for its payment was extended to October, 1905, with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. In October, 1905, a title company to whom the mortgage was assigned extended the time for the payment for a period of five years, making the same come due and payable in October, 1910. This extension agreement contained the following clause:

"In event of the passage of any law of the State of New York deducting from value of land for the purposes of taxation any lien thereon, or changing in any way the laws now in force for the taxation of mortgages or mortgage debts for State or local purposes, or the manner of the collection of any such taxes, the holder of said mortgage and of the debt which it secures shall have the right to give thirty days written notice to the owner of the land covered by said mortgage requiring the payment of the mortgage debt. It is hereby agreed that if such notice be given the said debt shall become due, payable and collectible at the expiration of said thirty days; provided, however, that if and so long as the owner of said land lawfully may and shall pay all taxes that may from time to time after the passage of such above mentioned law, accrue or be imposed upon said mortgage or on the debt which it secures, said mortgage shall remain in force and the maturity of the debt shall be postponed as if no such law had been passed."

In November, 1906, the following communication was received from a trust company to whom the mortgage had been assigned by the title company:

John Doe, Esq., etc., New York:

Dear Sir—We address you as the present owner of the property mentioned below for the purpose of notifying you that payment is required within thirty days of principal and interest to date of payment of mortgage for $30,000 made by Blank Trust Company, trustee on premises 99 East 99th st, New York. Said mortgage became due October, 1910, with right reserved to mortgagee in event of mortgage tax legislation being enacted to declare the principal due and payable.

The present demand is based upon said provision. In case you desire to make a new mortgage on same premises of like amount for three or five years at 5 per cent. interest, and the recording tax—you to also pay the cost of new appraisal and expenses of making new mortgage and bringing title down—we are willing to consider application. Please advise at once in case you elect to continue the loan on terms and in manner above indicated, otherwise we will understand that the mortgage will be paid off on date mentioned. Yours truly,

Richard Roe, Trust Officer.

Conflicting opinions have been received from attorneys high in practice in real estate and corporate law as to the power of the trust company to call in this mortgage under the circumstances. The Real Estate Board of Brokers therefore invite owners, operators, brokers and all others interested to meet together at the board room, 156 Broadway, on Wednesday, Dec. 12, 1906, at 3 o'clock, and if so resolved to devise ways and means to test this case, which if carried against the mortgagee would establish a precedent that might work serious distress in many instances. The board will be prepared to receive and consider any similar cases that may be presented at the meeting.

How the Pendulum Swings in Real Estate

EXPERTS Can Make Money Either Coming or Going—Few Men Who Know Real Estate Nationally—Things to Be Guarded Against in Speculation.

By WILLIAM E. HARMON.

THERE have been several periods in the history of this country when the study of real estate as a science seemed particularly pertinent, and when as a field of activity it presented peculiar attractions for the young man to enter into business.* At the same time there have been other periods, which have extended over a long series of years, when for most people real estate seemed about as unprofitable an employment as one could engage in. When there is a very general rise in real estate values, it is easy to make money. It is not subject to those acute fluctuations that visit the stock market, but the movement upward is much more regular, constant, and apparently at times irresistible, indifferent alike to local disturbances, or even national disasters.

The knowledge of profits realized spreads like an infection. It gets in the blood of all people, and men who for years have been satisfied with the normal profits of their dry goods business, box factory or butcher shop are tempted to leave their familiar lines of work and embark in real estate enterprises. And while this period of expansion lasts, comparatively little judgment is required. On the other hand, during the periods of real estate depression and over a long space of time, the pendulum swings backward, and this great public leaves the real estate market to those who have had long experience and are real estate wise.

Money can be made equally well in these periods; but the process requires more care, a keener judgment, and closer investigation. During this period money is made in real estate through other men's misfortunes, by buying property at low figures, which, for one reason or another, the owner cannot carry, and for which there is no general market. Thus the real estate business may be profitable at all times, though one would scarcely organize a class of men for the study of real estate during what I might term "the process of liquidation."

The justification for a course of study in real estate to-day comes from the fact that over the whole country there is an upward movement in real property which is attracting enormous sums of money and which, while it lasts, offers great opportunities for profit either to the investor or to one engaged in a purely brokerage business.

In one respect real estate stands almost alone, and this peculiarity, or individual characteristic, makes it a most complex science to learn and understand thoroughly. Nearly all forms of security have a central market. Railroad and steamship securities, municipal bonds, traction lines, water-works, gas and, in fact, almost all forms of the evidences of wealth, find their value in this great central trading mart. Real estate, on the other hand, being distinctly of an individual character, has almost invariably a purely local market. Therefore, movements in stocks and bonds are comparatively easy to observe; they move harmoniously in upward and downward curves dependent upon general conditions. Real estate, on the other hand, is greatly affected by local conditions. It may be high in Portland, Ore., and low in Boston; it may be absolutely flat in Omaha, and on a speculative basis in Chicago. The activity in a local centre rarely gets into national consciousness, but about ONCE EVERY THIRTY YEARS there is a general national upward movement in real estate, usually culminating in inflation, over-speculation and disaster. We are rising on the crest of a wave of this character now.

For the past ten years real estate has been going upward. This has come from many complicated reasons, partly on account of the increased production of gold, partly by the legislative antagonism to corporation securities, and somewhat from the actual inattention which has been given real estate during a long period. Therefore it is this general condition of real estate activity which makes it an attractive field of study, and there has been immense sums of money made within a few years, and unless some general national catastrophe overtakes us, immense sums of money will be made in the next few years, and if I can point out to you a few of the problems lying in your path, I can well leave the subject in the hands of the other speakers, with the knowledge that when they get through you will be thoroughly saturated with the optimism which is permeating the whole country.

THINGS TO BEAR IN MIND.

Here are a few of the points which seem to me to be significant to the taking up of real estate as an occupation; and whether you intend to invest your own money or the money of your friends, or whether you intend to act as brokers, it is well for you to bear these things in mind. The real estate broker who lasts as a permanent factor in his business is one who guards as carefully against losses as he works earnestly for profit for his client. The man who is a merely temporary figure in the business, is usually the man who is careless of his statements, or of his conclusions.

The first law to be observed affecting real property is, in my opinion, the following: Land and buildings, while ordinarily purchased together, should be treated from distinctly separate points of view. Land increases in value; buildings decrease in value. Vacant, unoccupied land, outside of agricultural lands, may not be an asset but a liability. Buildings, on the other hand, must always be considered as a wasting asset. That is to say, an asset which depreciates in value from the moment of its completion. As land ordinarily increases in value, somewhat in proportion to the growth of the community in which it is situated, and as buildings decrease in value in accordance with their size and character, a certain relationship should be always established between the value of the land and the value of the buildings. In other words, treated from purely an investment point of view, the ideal purchase is one in which the improvements are sufficient to pay the cost of carrying the property, plus a reasonable rate of interest, and not so expensive that their depreciation or destruction cuts materially into the increment which comes to the land by virtue of increase of population. I think this one fact, if thoroughly ground into the minds of all this class, would be the best possible safe-guard against really bad investments. This does not mean that vacant land should never be purchased; neither that the extreme type of tenement house construction is not at times profitable; but the recognition of the fact that land ordinarily increases in value; that buildings invariably decrease in value, is something which no careful student of real estate should ignore.

Real estate, generally speaking, can be divided into five classes: general business property, special business property, residential city property, suburban property, and vacant land in any of the above locations. Farming lands can be left out of consideration at this time.

The most attractive kind of real estate is that which possesses the elements of monopoly. A piece of property which cannot be duplicated, but for which there is a steady and increasing demand, is not only the property which produces the largest return, but it always has the best market; and in purchasing real estate, or in advising its purchase, one should be very careful to discriminate between the properties which have strategic advantages, like corners on important streets, centres of business, proximity to transportation facilities, and those in which any one of a hundred parcels or buildings is equally attractive.

The tendency of all cities is in two directions—centrifugal and centripetal—that is, away from the center and toward the center. Forty years ago in most cities residential property a mile or two away from the business center was more valuable than it is to-day. The extension of electric lines has made outlying districts accessible, and has spread the population over much larger areas, and on the other hand has, for the purposes of business, easily brought the population back to the centers of trade; therefore there are two classes of properties which receive a benefit in excess of the normal growth of cities. As transportation methods develop, business concentrates in the center of cities, and people move toward the circumference of the city for their homes. This is constantly bringing outlying properties into the market, and it is constantly increasing the value of centrally located business properties. Those portions of the city lying between the center and the outer edge are the slowest to rise in value. Generally speaking, land in the center of the city and land in the outskirts will increase somewhat faster in value than the growth of the city itself. Of course this is necessarily modified by the general condition of the real estate market.

There are very few men in this country who are, in my opinion, real estate experts. There are experts in Manhattan, in Brooklyn, in Chicago, and in Portland, Ore.; but any of these men would be hopelessly at sea if asked to give an opinion upon property in any other city than the one in which he has lived. This limitation I consider operates as a great disadvantage in forming a correct judgment in regard to values. We are so influenced by our surroundings. We partake of the optimism of a location, and also of its pessimism. We cannot separate ourselves from our surroundings. If, on the other hand, it were possible for us to get facts relating to property in different parts of the country, we would be in a far better position to judge the value of the property in our own location.

*From an address before the Bedford Y. M. C. A.

There are four or five men in the United States who know real estate as a whole. They have made a study of it in a national way. To do this it is not necessary to travel largely, but it is necessary to observe and study the real estate conditions in each place you visit.

To many people it was a mystery how certain men a few years ago had the courage to buy tracts of land in Queens County, Brooklyn and Staten Island; and the great profits which have come from these holdings have, I am sure, in most instances, been attributed to luck or good fortune. It was not so. The evidences were as plain as the stars on a clear night. A great law was coming into operation in New York, which had operated in every city in the world, except Manhattan.

Five and six story tenement houses would never have been possible in Manhattan had it not been for the East and North rivers. We recognized the situation here as abnormal. The New York man looked upon it as the natural thing, that it must always exist because it always had existed, and you still hear him say that people want to live in Manhattan. They don't. They have to live in Manhattan, but they are going out of it just as fast as they possibly can, even sometimes at Long Island Real Estate Exchange.

NEXT WEEK'S CONVENTION—HOME BUILDERS' EXHIBITION IN OCTOBER 1907.

In all probability the largest gathering of real estate men that ever assembled in New York State will occur next Tuesday, December 11th, at 1 P. M. in Palm Garden, corner Hamburg and Greene avenue, Brooklyn. It will be occasioned by the re-convening of the Long Island Realty Convention which held its original sessions on the 18th and 19th days of September of this year. Those two sessions were remarkable for the numbers in attendance and the enthusiasm displayed, but it is expected that next week's meeting will eclipse the former gatherings in both respects. It is not yet definitely known whether Mayor McClellan will be able to attend or not, but even though his official engagements may keep him from opening the convention, there will be so many other interesting and important features on the program, that those who take the time and trouble to attend will find themselves amply rewarded for doing so.

The Board of Governors of the Exchange met on December 4th at Shanley's in Manhattan, and fixed the details of the proceedings for the convention. There will be short reports from the danger of life and limb. It required this certain knowledge of the tendency of growth governing real estate in other cities to teach a man the artificial conditions surrounding New York, and that it was by tunnels and bridges it was about to come under the natural law governing the growth of all cities, i. e., they never grow upward when they can grow outward.

BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE LONG ISLAND REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE.

Seated from left to right—H. P. Engelhardt, Milton L'Ecluse, T. I. McNeece, Otto Kempner, John W. Paris, Wm. Richenstein, and L. H. Pounds. Standing from left to right—A. L. Langdon, Milton S. Kistler, John M. Thompson, M. J. McLaughlin, J. Robbins, H. Allen Tenney, J. F. Mincher, Wm. M. Griffith, L. H. Terry, H. P. Williams, H. S. McKnight, Jos. W. Cleary and W. A. Ryan.

The man who only studies New York real estate from the New York point of view studies it as the stock-broker studies the tape for its momentary fluctuations. The man who tries to enlarge his experience, even if he goes no farther than Albany or Philadelphia, gets a comprehensive view of the subject, and his judgment, if he has judgment, is clear and freed from local and purely ephemeral sentiment.

This does not mean that you shall travel to learn this subject, but it does mean that when you do travel you can spend no time so profitably as that in the office of some conservative and experienced real estate broker. This, in my opinion, is a part of the education of a real estate man, though it is the part which is most often neglected.

—Thos. L. Hamilton, just appointed to the office of Tax Commissioner in place of Samuel Strasbourger, resigned, was County Clerk until the beginning of the present year, when he was succeeded by Peter J. Dooling. In business he is a contractor and builder and it is affirmed that his experience in this line will now stand him in good stead. Mr. Hamilton has the endorsement of Geo. R. Read and B. Altman, among others. The salary of the office is $7,000 per year.

the special committees having in charge the proposed Home Builders' Exhibition to be held next October in Madison Square Garden; the location of the Exchange headquarters; the plan for the construction of a Grand Boulevard on Long Island, and also the plan for the protection of the public against "wild-cat" land schemes and real estate brokers of the "fly-by-night" variety.

President Otto Kempner was greatly piqued over the criticism made in certain quarters regarding the limited opportunity offered to debaters at the last session. He resents the imputation that the restricted discussion was due to a premeditated scheme with a view to shielding certain interests. In speaking of the matter yesterday Mr. Kemper said: "In making up our program for the convention we found so much available literary talent, that we could not well ignore any of it, without risking the loss of valuable knowledge on important real estate problems. The reading of all those prepared papers naturally took up much more time than we anticipated. Some of them were longer than we bargained for, though they were all excellent treatises on the subjects treated. On the second day we had to cut short our proceedings to meet the special excursion train. But at the convention next Tuesday, the official program may not take up over thirty minutes, and all the rest of the time will be given over to general discussion. Rest assured it will be a free speech convention, and every one who keeps within parliamentary bounds will be allowed to express his views to his heart's content. No one will be muzzled or shut off by the chair, if I should again have the honor of occupying it. There will be absolute freedom of debate until such hour as the convention shall see fit to call a halt."

Tunnel's Progress Across Island.

With drill pick and dynamite a railroad tunnel has been driven for the first time under 5th av, New York's thoroughfare of fashion. The burrowers in the tunnel along 33d st had gone past the west building line and begun to make their way beneath the sidewalk vaults of the Waldorf-Astoria before the public knew what was happening. The engineers and contractors said nothing about crossing below the avenue—they wanted to show how it could be done without anybody finding it out.

Now the tunnel-miners have passed the point where the chamber, already 42 ft. wide at the base, broadens still a little more on each side. For between 5th and 7th avs there are three tunnels under 33d and three under 32d st, while there are only two between 5th av and the East River. The tracks in each tunnel to the east will be separated by a concrete wall, with passageways cut through every 50 ft., but under each street west of 5th av there will be three tracks in one large chamber. The sides and arched ceiling of this three-track chamber will be of concrete 2 ft. 6 ins. thick, and well waterproofed.

The most startling feature of the work, certainly to a layman, is this fact: Except for the smith's forges in the repair shop, not a pound of coal has been burned on the job. The steam shovel is not a steam shovel at all—it runs by compressed air. The engineers always refer to it as a steam shovel, because it represents a type. The boiler is used as an air receiver and is connected by a flexible hose that supplies the force for the rock drills.

Electricity is the force that human ingenuity and muscle call upon for aid. There is compressed air, but it is compressed by machines driven by electricity. Instead of mules or puffing steam engines to haul the rock to the shaft, electric locomotives, each with a pull of 3,500 pounds and weighing ten tons, do the hauling.

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST SHOCK AND NOISE.

That steam plays no part in the work is fortunate for the district beneath which the tunnels run. The 33d st shaft is next door to a large private hospital, across the street from the Park Avenue Hotel and within a stone's throw of a hundred private residences. The men who undertook the job knew that it had to be done smoothly and they hedged it about with all manner of precautions against shock and noise.

At the beginning the contractors found that the removal of excavated material through the streets was to be one of the most difficult problems. All day and all night, twenty-four hours a day, fifty teams are going between the 33d and 32d st shafts and the dumping dock at the foot of East 35th st. There the rock and whatever dirt there may be are loaded upon scows and carried to Greenville, N. J., on New York Bay, where the Pennsylvania is building freight terminal yards on filled-in land.

There is no dumping at all at either shaft. The bucket into which the rock is put by the steam shovel, is hoisted through the shaft, carried out over the street by telfers, and lowered to a truck. At the dock the bucket is lifted from the truck, again by electric hoists, swung out over the waiting scow and dumped automatically.

The Streets of Manhattan.

(With Illustrations.)

The Record and Guide this week chooses a line northward for its pictorial observation of the deplorable, injurious conditions of uptown and obstructed streets, roadways and sidewalks. Many parallel lines to the east and west would exhibit like, if not worse, conditions. The point of departure may be noted, in recognition of the Herald's timely illustrations and words on this same grievance.

The illustrations of this issue and previous ones cover an extended area, but by no means any considerable part of the whole of Manhattan. And, too, they are only sample exhibitions of the observed area. The sum total of offences is simply appalling. Undoubtedly they comprise disturbances of the streets covered by every form of permit under the laws. In number they are plainly more than should be simultaneously allowed. In character and prolongation in time they are indefensible. In matter of temporary repair they are ridiculous, if only those immediately injured could modify wrath to ridicule.

The part of the Record and Guide is specifically taken in the interests of real estate. But really those interests, sometimes perhaps with concealed directness, are the interests of all the citizens of Manhattan, and many more.

There is no doubt of the conditions being intolerable in character, number and continuance. While exhibiting the best proofs of this arraignment—the pictures—the Record and Guide has a further step to take; it seeks to fix responsibility, to making its arraignment personal, de facto and de jure.

Recourse properly must be had to the New York charter. Centralization of responsibility is most advantageous in seeking redress of grievance. In this matter of injury to real estate interests by the present condition of our streets, the Record and Guide believes a single personal arraignment is made available and ready by the terms of our charter.

Where the charter says . . . "shall have cognizance and control." . . .

There is a certain cue. And it does seem that responsibility, at least, can be centered and fixed, in avoidance of all opposition efforts to evade the same. A material gain is made when one target can be lawfully singled out for shafts of indignation and reproach. This is a further step to be taken with firmness and reasonable surety.

THE MAYOR PROPOSES A REMEDY.

On November 28th, 1906, Mayor McClellan appointed a commission of five men to consider revising the charter and placing the streets under the authority of one man, seeking to remedy the serious defects in the management of the streets and highways of the city, because of the divided authority between six or seven heads of departments, several of whom are appointed by the Mayor and the others by the Borough Presidents. The Mayor in a letter notifying the members of the commission of their appointment suggested that the best solution of the problem was the creation of a new department to have full charge of the streets in all sections of the city. The following gentlemen compose the commission: John C. Eames, Vice President H. B. Claflin Company; Nelson P. Lewis, Chief Engineer Board of Estimate; Wm. C. Redfield, former Commissioner of Public Works, Brooklyn; Samuel Whinery, Consulting Engineer, 95 Liberty street; Walter C. Kerr, President of Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co.

The streets of New York City are undermined with gas pipes, sewer pipes, high and low tension conduits for electric wires, and for one reason or another are continually being ripped up, causing great inconvenience to the people of the City. That much of this annoyance is needless is the firm belief, and if such a department as the Mayor suggests is created, with a responsible head, it would reduce these annoyances to a minimum. There are many important things which such a department would look after, for example:

In the City of New York another telephone system cannot be installed without ripping up the streets. The wires must be underground, and the existing subway for the present system is not large enough for another. Even if it were, it is not built to accommodate them for the reason that it is built to reach the various central stations of the existing telephone system and could not be adopted without being rebuilt to reach the central stations of another system.

This can be readily understood, for it is seen at once that a subway system must necessarily become larger and more commodious as it converges towards a central station. If the subway should be remodeled to care for a duplicate telephone system, it would cause as much ripping up of the streets, and would cost practically as much as though a complete new subway system were constructed.

It is in dealing with such questions as this that the Department of Streets would be of great value. With such a Department efficiently administrated, the opening of streets for the construction of another telephone company or for any other needless purpose, would be guarded against.

BUILDING NOTES

H. H. Crowell, of Syracuse, N. Y., has been appointed technical expert of the New York State Gas and Electric Commission.

The State Board of Health, Ironton, Ohio, has approved plans of Alexander Potter, Consulting Engineer, 143 Liberty st., Manhattan, for a proposed water supply.

William B. Ilko, of the firm of Henry A. Hitner's Sons, Philadelphia, Pa., dealers in scrap iron and metals, has been appointed general manager of their New York office, at No. 32 Broadway.

Chief Engineer Rice, of the Rapid Transit Commission, this week said that work on one or more of the new subway routes approved by the sub-committee of the Board of Estimate may be begun in April next.

The State Civil Service Commission will hold examinations Dec. 15th of candidates for positions as bridge designer, assistant civil engineer, and architectural, bridge and civil engineering draftsmen. Further information can be obtained from the Chief Examiner, Albany.

The O'Rourke Construction Co., which is laying the foundation for the terminal at Dey and Church streets, is pushing its men steadily. Huge caissons are being sunk 65 feet to bed rock and filled with concrete. Eight men work at the bottom of these caissons in an air pressure of three atmospheres. The foundation will be completed early next summer. The Fuller Construction Co. will then begin the erection of the terminal buildings, which have been designed by Clinton & Russell.

Mr. Theodore Starrett, of the Thompson-Starrett Construction Co., arrived home last Saturday from a trip to San Francisco, where his company has seven or eight large contracts proceeding. After the stress to provide temporary shelter, the San Franciscans are now entering upon the work of permanent rebuilding. It is interesting to learn from Mr. Starrett that the Burnham plans for beautifying the city have been temporarily laid aside, and that the old topographical map is being adhered to, as public opinion would not countenance any radical changes in property lines at this time. So far as Mr. Starrett observed there will be a superior class of construction, and a great deal of concrete work.

The Care of Modern Buildings.

The Board of Extension Teaching of Columbia University has arranged an evening course of study especially for persons in charge of large buildings, which opened Tuesday, December 4. It is Course VIII., Engineering Physics, in the Evening Technical Courses. The Course deals with the practical applications of physical science to the construction, equipment and maintenance of large buildings. Its practical bearing in the economical care and repair of the machinery and mechanical equipment of buildings is evident from the following partial statement of the topics treated: Water Supply and Plumbing; Fuels; Boilers; Heating and Ventilating Equipment; Electric wiring, signal systems, elevators, etc.; Steam engines, pumps and other machinery; Meters for water, gas and electricity; Repairs, etc., etc. All parts of the equipment of modern buildings are studied. The Course includes (1) Lectures, illustrated with models, charts, and lantern slides, by John F. Woodhull, Ph. D., Professor of Physical Science, who was for eight years in charge of the construction, equipment, and maintenance of the buildings of Teachers' College. (2) Inspections and demonstrations of the equipment, machinery, etc., in Teachers' College (Columbia University) buildings.

The course will be given Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7.45 P. M., at Teachers' College Building, West 120th Street, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue (reached by Broadway Subway to 116th Street Station). It will last twenty weeks, and costs $10 (payable in two installments).

Names should be sent to the undersigned, or you may call Tuesday evening, December 4, visit the lecture, and register then if you desire.

erty needed for the highway will be donated to the city if the latter will undertake to defray the cost of construction. Several other holdings along the route of the proposed boulevard have already been obtained. About two months ago the syndicate purchased Thomas J. Havemeyer's property on Throggs Neck. Trouble Ahead for Lot Buyers.

Many recent buyers of building lots in the Borough of Queens are considerably disturbed over the layout of a system of streets which is to be adopted as a part of the official map of New York City. It is believed by some that this will result in a confiscation of a large number of 20x100 lots which were purchased from land syndicates at auction and private sale during the height of the boom.

Notwithstanding the adoption of these maps, and the fact that in some instances proceedings for the laying-out of streets had already been instituted, many persons continued to buy lots from land companies operating in that section without regard to future consequences.

An instance can be cited where 120 lots situated on the Forest Parkway were sold for about $800 and upwards per lot. The property in question extends north from Jamaica av to Forest Park, and it is said that the sellers laid out the tract so skillfully that it produced more than the average number of lots, with the result that when the several highways on the map of the city are opened, as they are sure to be before long, a large number will be cut in two, thus rendering them practically of no account whatever. Since the title to the streets laid out by the sellers is in some cases retained by them, the present owners must necessarily apply to the original owners for additional land in the old highways, in order to possess ground enough upon which to erect dwellings.

Upon many of the lots have been erected costly houses, and the removal of them cannot be effected without great expense, and it is considered doubtful whether the city can be made to pay commensurate damages in every case. This state of affairs exists in other parts of the borough as well, and judging by the rapidity with which new tracts are opened up and disposed of, the frequent warnings to prospective purchasers seems to have been for naught.

The Hofman Rule.

Editor Record and Guide:

Several of your readers would be obliged if you would again print what is known as the Hofman Rule for their edification.
A. L. D.

The Hofman rule, or scale, is a method of valuing a city lot that is short of a full lot or has been cut. It became known as the "Hofman Rule" through Judge Murray Hofman publishing it in his "Digest of the Charters, Statutes and Ordinances of the City of New York" in 1886.

The rule is based on a lot with 25 feet frontage and a depth of 100 feet. The lot is divided into cross strips, the first one 10 feet wide and the others 5 feet each. On this basis the value of the lot by strips would be as follows:

25x10 feet, 16 per cent. of full lot.
25x15 feet, 23.50 per cent. of full lot.
25x20 feet, 31 per cent. of full lot.
25x25 feet, 37 per cent. of full lot.
25x30 feet, 44 per cent. of full lot.
25x35 feet, 50 per cent. of full lot.
25x40 feet, 56 per cent. of full lot.
25x45 feet, 61.50 per cent. of full lot.
25x50 feet, 67 per cent. of full lot.

Substantial Furniture.

Real estate men who handle furnished houses and apartments are naturally interested in productions in furniture and interior decorations which will withstand the ravages of time and the wear of tenants. Furniture for this purpose is a special feature with Isaac Mason of Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn.

Attractive in design, and substantially made tables, chairs, bureaus, cabinets, buffets, etc., for every class of dwelling are to be found in Mason's show rooms. Compared with the excellent quality and style the prices cannot be surpassed in Manhattan.

Epidemic of Poor Transportation Facilities in Bronx.

At the office of Alfred McCoy, 933 Teller av, Bronx, it was stated that a number of residents of the Melrose section have vacated that vicinity for the purpose of getting within reach of better transit accommodations. Mr. McCoy said that delays were becoming frequent and lengthy on the Harlem division of the New York Central Railroad. It was said that it had become a common occurrence for passengers traveling between the Grand Central and 162d st stations to be anywhere from a half to three-quarters of an hour late, while a train which left 42d st the night before Thanksgiving last at 5.12 arrived at the Melrose station about 7.40 p. m. A letter was sent to the State Railroad Commission to ascertain why these irregularities continued, and the commissioners in turn communicated with the New York Central Railroad Company officials, whose reply was that owing to the change of power from steam to electricity, together with other improvements, the delays spoken of were unavoidable.

Mr. McCoy said further that about five or six of the morning as well as evening trains had been taken off during the month of November, and according to a statement volunteered by a well-informed railroad man the engines were so old that it was a rare thing to make a single trip of any distance without a breakdown, as the company would not properly repair them.

Subway Probabilities.

Hopes rise only to be dashed again in Subway extension matters. Comptroller Metz remarked this week: "Admitting that the city has now a borrowing capacity of $120,000,000 to $130,000,000, bond issues to the amount of at least $100,000,000 have been authorized for public improvements, and while these bonds have not been issued I regard them as a lien on the credit of the city. Consequently the city has no money to expend on subways. If they are to be built they must be built with private capital, if my view of the financial condition of the city is the correct one." Mayor McClellan disagrees with the view taken by Mr. Metz. The Mayor thinks that bonds as yet unissued, although authorized, should not be added to the city's indebtedness and that therefore, the city is in a position to spend at least two-thirds of its borrowing margin, or about $50,000,000 a year on the building of new subways. An effort is to be made on the part of the Mayor and the Comptroller to come to some understanding on this difference of opinion.

Among the authorities the opinion prevails that no bids of a satisfactory nature will be received while the short-term operation provision of the Elsberg bill remains.

Record and Guide Quarterly

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporations created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone, 3157 Cortlandt.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.
Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.
Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

November 30, December 1, 3, 4, 5 and 6.

THIS week's stock market differs but little from that of last week. It still wants to go up. It shows that the moment the pressure is lifted, whether that pressure be tight money or what not, that the market in trying to reach its goal, has to meet half-backs and short-stops and every other form of interference. Yet, notwithstanding all this, it maintains an upward trend, with here and there a stock like Canadian Pacific or St. Paul breaking loose and making a ten point advance on its own account. Should money ease so that the commission houses would feel encouraged to advise buying, a smart advance along the whole line would be a certainty. One of our largest banking houses, however, expressed some fear as to weight on the market of the new issues of stocks by the New York Central, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and St. Paul companies, amounting in the aggregate to over two hundred millions of dollars. While the rights attached to these issues are all favorable in respect to the larger holders, it is fair to assume that they are availed of almost entirely by borrowers of money, so that the new securities do not to any extent find their way into the hands of investors, and can only be digested by the stock market. The point made by the banking house referred to is that during this period of digestion it may be impossible for these shares to advance. Great care is being taken to assure Wall Street that there will be an increase in the dividend rate of Reading next week, and, acting on this information, there is a great deal of short selling of the stock. It will be interesting to see the effect on the shares of the official announcement that the dividend rate is unchanged. Recent experience has been that an increase in a dividend rate has knocked down the price of the shares affected. The money market still remains nervous, and looks as though it might grow harsher for commercial and real estate interests. Several hundred millions of dollars have clearly disappeared from circulation, and can only be in the stockings and pockets of the well-employed laboring class, only to see the light again after a period of idleness. Incidentally St. Paul continues to justify all that has been said of this stock in the columns of the Record and Guide. A price above two hundred is not improbable for it in the near future.

UNDERNEATH and supporting the present real estate market there is felt to be by every token a basis of public confidence and financial strength quite beyond even what the transactions of a very interesting week have typified or been able to measure. In Manhattan especially this feeling is daily spreading wider among the strongest investing and speculative forces, and the several centers of special interest were all represented prominently in the business of the week. Particularly significant were the transactions in Fulton and Barclay streets, which are attributed to the influence of the lower McAdoo tunnel project, and certain deals of exceptional moment on Washington Heights tended to counteract any thought of a general readjustment of values in that section. Likewise, the Pennsylvania terminal section, Middle 5th av and the Bronx, all favorite spheres of action, were prominent in the trading of the week. No doubt the activity is largely professional and more particularly noteworthy in transition neighborhoods, but notwithstanding it is clearly based on a quickened investment movement, and all pointing to the fact that the sentiments now prevailing are not reactionary. While that demand which in the suburbs springs from small building companies and home-seekers seems to have slackened, the loss on this account can easily be ascribed to the severities of the season as well as the money tightness.

The Police Department.

THE Police Department of the City of New York is certainly in an extraordinary condition. During the term of ex-Mayor Van Wyck the collusion between the police and the keepers of gambling houses, pool rooms and other illegal resorts was so flagrant that public opinion was incensed, and it was this public resentment more than any other one cause which resulted in the election of Seth Low as Mayor. Mr. Low was committed, above all things, to the reform of the Police Department, and undoubtedly appointed men as Commissioners who tried to effect such a reform, but they failed, and their failure had much to do with his subsequent defeat. Mr. McClellan, when he became Mayor, in 1903, showed his mettle immediately by appointing Mr. McAdoo to the commissionership and later by substituting Mr. Bingham. Both of these gentlemen have undoubtedly done their best to break up the collusion between the men who violate the laws and the men whose duty it is to see that the laws are enforced, but it is generally admitted that, despite their best endeavors, they have so far failed. It is no wonder, consequently, that the public-spirited residents of this city are coming to the conclusion that the Commissioner evidently has not the power under the existing law to reform the department, and that they are taking counsel for the purpose of agreeing upon some effective amendment of the law. The committee of the Citizens' Union which is considering this matter claims that its purpose has the support of both the Mayor and the District Attorney, and it hopes to prepare a bill which will be passed at the coming session of the Legislature.

It is very questionable, however, whether any bill can be drawn which will accomplish its proposed object without the use of means which public opinion is not as yet prepared to approve. The general provisions of the bill which will be submitted to the Legislature have already been outlined. In the first place, the term of the Commissioner will be lengthened so that an energetic and able man will retain office for a great many years and will really be in a position to learn the business of effectively controlling his subordinates. The Commissioner will be made more independent of the Mayor by providing that he can be removed only for cause and on the official publication of definite charges. Finally, the Commissioner will be given a greater authority over his subordinates, so that he will be in a better position to enforce disciplinary measures. There can be no doubt that every one of these provisions is intended to correct evils which the experience of the last five years has proved to be serious and stubborn. An inexperienced Commissioner is very much at a disadvantage compared to the experienced officials who lead the uniformed force. He does not understand the game as well as they do, and he does not know whom to trust and whom not to trust. He makes mistakes. The public becomes impatient and critical. The Mayor feels obliged to substitute somebody else in his place and the same process, with variations in detail, is repeated. Hence it is expected that a longer term and a more independent position will enable an upright and able commissioner to retain the office until he is really in a position to build up within the department an effective following of honest and energetic policemen of all grades, and the additional power granted to him of disciplining offending members of the force would undoubtedly greatly contribute to this end. The scheme has, under existing conditions nevertheless, one serious difficulty, and that is its tendency to diminish the responsibility of the Mayor. The whole theory of the existing charter is that the Mayor shall have absolute authority over the heads of departments and be able for the purpose of securing loyal subordinates to dismiss and appoint them at will. The proposed revision of the law would make him less responsible than he is for the most important department of the municipal government. It would place the Commissioner in respect to the Mayor in very much the same position that the uniformed officials of the Police Department have been placed in respect to the Commissioner. It would diminish his effective authority and erect the Police Department into a partially independent branch of the local administration. This would be a very serious step to take, and before they sanction it, the people of New York should clearly understand what they are doing. We do not claim that it necessarily an unwise or dangerous step, but it is certainly tantamount to a very radical change in the method of organizing the municipal administration of New York.

The truth is that the increased term and authority which it is proposed to confer on the Police Commissioner should be regarded as the beginning of the substitution of temporary for permanent heads of departments in all the branches of the local government. There can be no doubt that every one of these departments is suffering in a less acute and flagrant way from evils analogous to those which exist in the Police Department. The efficient and economical transaction of the municipal business is rendered almost impossible by the fact that the departmental chiefs are inexperienced and only temporary incumbents of their offices, and that even during their terms they exercise no effective authority over their subordinates. The consequence is that these chiefs, even if they want to make their administration economical and efficient, are practically unable to do so, and as a matter of fact they have little or no inducement to promote economy and efficiency. Such an attempt would make them the enemy of their subordinates, and a powerless enemy at that; and they are fully aware that their term of office is not long enough to afford them an opportunity of making an effective fight. The consequence is, of course, that they succumb, allow the existing extravagance and inefficiency to continue without protest and become routine officials, who merely register the demands and support the methods of the machine they are supposed to control. We do not believe that any municipal government, either in New York or elsewhere, can ever become an efficient and economical business agent until it is managed by permanent departmental heads, who possess some effective authority over their subordinates, the same authority that a private employer has over his employees. They must be able to dismiss for inefficiency and laziness as well as dishonesty, and they must be able to promote for excellent service. That is the larger lesson which should be learned from the flagrant evils which now exist in the Police Department, and it is a lesson which sooner or later will have to be learned. Of course the difficulty remains of providing for some effective method of enabling the Mayor, with his short term, to exercise effective authority over departmental Commissioners who are permanent officials. A Mayor who was elected to administer economically the city's business and who had no effective control over his subordinates could not be held responsible for administrative inefficiency or extravagance, and so we get back to the difficulty of the proposed reorganization of the Police Department. To make the Commissioners permanent and responsible appears to be necessary, but such a result can be obtained only by diminishing their responsibility to a superior who holds office only for a few years. For our own part, we see no escape from this dilemma save by making the Mayor, as the executive, responsible for efficient administration, himself a permanent official—as he is in the European cities. Of course in that case he would necessarily derive his powers from appointment rather than election, and he himself would have to be responsible to the elected Board who were responsible to the people. We are aware that this is a very radical proposal; but it seems to be the logical and necessary result of any attempt to convert the Commissioners of Police, or of any other department, into relatively permanent and really responsible officials.

The Key to the Situation.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I was much interested in the point you made in your editorial last week to the effect that competition with the Interborough Company could be successfully provided by a four-track belt line from the Bronx down 3d av to the Battery, returning on the west side through 8th av, with cross-town subways through the principal cross-town streets. This is undoubtedly the key to the whole situation. If the Rapid Transit Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment will submit such a route for competition, the Interborough Company will perforce be compelled to take it on such terms as the city may exact. That company cannot afford to let it pass into independent hands and can give to the city in the way of transfers to its existing lines more than can an outside corporation. The conditions permit the city to exact a most advantageous contract and permit the Interborough Company to make a most advantageous contract. Aside from the matter of transfers, the question of control should play a prominent part in such an understanding. The more progressive Western cities, like Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, are pressing for contracts which shall enable the cities, on payment of indemnity arranged beforehand, to recover franchise grants whenever the public interest shall make it desirable so to do. If a contract were now made with the Interborough Company, say for the charter period of 25 years, with provisions for the recovery on the part of the city before or after that time on payment of the estimated value of the subways under the streets, with a bonus added, the city under such conditions would retain a reasonable degree of control over its transit and the Interborough Company would undertake no undue risk. Such arrangements become in fact contracts during good behavior, and they are likely to be far more permanent than operation under long-term concessions. While they may not be to the interest of railroad promoters who are more interested in the manufacture and manipulation of securities, they are certainly more advantageous to bona fide investors in public service corporations, as well as in the interest of the public.

Our public service corporations must be brought under public control, and this can only be accomplished by reserving to the city power on reasonable terms to terminate grants. Aside from the matter of public convenience involved in transportation, it is now beginning to be appreciated that the success and growth of the city as a whole depends more upon the proper control of its transit than upon any other one cause. The tunnels under the Hudson River and the tunnels and bridges over the East and Harlem Rivers have provided opportunities for the radial growth of the city. The stage of sectional development under private enterprise which has produced fairly good results so far in Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and New Jersey, has now been outgrown and in order to realize the possibilities of development which are facing the city, its transportation must of necessity come under public control. Private enterprise with its limited capacities and resources can no longer be entrusted with this responsibility. The city is not dependent upon the Interborough Company and the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. As a matter of fact, under existing conditions these corporations are absolutely dependent upon the good faith and fair-mindedness of the people of New York. The Rapid Transit Commission and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, while they should not take an unfair advantage of these circumstances, should certainly take advantage of them.

Yours very truly,

CALVIN TOMKINS.

"Dead Already."

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Your issue of Dec. 1 came to me as a matter of course, and although there is no apparent difference from other issues that I have been getting for years, yet I went over this one from cover to cover with an added and sustained interest, decidedly more than ever. Did you make any unusual efforts with this copy? Or perhaps it may be that old friends, like wine, improve with time. One particularly warm spot in it related to the Bronx transit system, not "on the decline," as you so moderately state it, but dead already. It has been my own experience that whenever I reach the corner to board a trolley car, it seems as though the last car going in my direction has passed on, and as I stand making bets with myself whether I will ride at all or eventually walk, I conclude to try the "L," and meet with the same result as your correspondent, "H. W. B.," only more so. Any evening a half-hour stand at 129th st and 3d av will give the most ordinary-minded Bronxite food for a whole day's pondering. Four or five empty cars leave there going into unsettled districts before the car you want comes along, and the crowd jams into that one.

Yours,

JAS. A. REGAN.

Real Estate Mortgages Are Good Investments.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

Two articles in your issue of December 8 last, headed "The Present Mortgage Market" and "Is Your Mortgage Safe?" have aroused some doubts in my mind as to the value of certain mortgages considered from the standpoint of an innocent investor. It is said "builders are able to dispose of their operations many months before the completion of the buildings." Take a supposed case: A trustee of an estate desiring to invest takes a mortgage on a lot, 70% of the value, and on the building 70%. Should the building be of reinforced concrete and collapse, as I read of so many doing lately, what would the mortgage or the investment on said property be worth? Simply the value of the lot, or what? The insurance (if any existed, owing to the alleged fireproof qualities of the building) would not hold against loss by collapse.

Respectfully,

Changes in Real Estate Farm Values

Remarkable Increase
Since 1900, and a Review of Principal Conditions

By
GEORGE K. HOLMES
(Of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.)

FARM real estate in the United States has gained in value in such a degree since the census of 1900 that an examination of the causes of this gain may be not only interesting, but instructive. Inquiries to 45,000 State, county and township crop correspondents in the autumn of 1905 secured reports which, when properly tabulated, establish the conclusion that at this time, about five years after the census, the real estate of farms, medium in quality and equipment of buildings and improvements, has increased in value 33.5 per cent.

RATES OF INCREASE HIGHER SOUTH AND WEST.

The highest percentage of increase, 40.3 per cent, was found in the South Central group of States, and close after that 40.2 per cent in the Western group. Third in order is the South Atlantic group, with 36 per cent, while a close fourth place is held by the North Central States with an increase of 35.3 per cent. The lowest increase of the five groups of States into which the country is divided in the census reports occurred in the North Atlantic States, where it is 13.5 per cent.

The grouping of farms according to principal sources of income adopted by the census was followed as nearly as possible in this investigation, and the computation of increase in value of medium farms per acre has been made for each group.

The rate of increase for cotton farms is highest—48.2 per cent. Second in order are the hay and grain farms, with an increase of 35 per cent; the live-stock farms increased in value per acre 34.3 per cent, and the farms devoted principally to sugar are found to have increased 33.2 per cent. Rice farming follows with an increase of 32.2 per cent in value per acre, while close to this is 32.1 per cent for tobacco farms. The farms having no special source of income have an increase in value per acre amounting to 30.1 per cent, below which are the fruit farms with an increase of 27.9 per cent, the vegetable farms with 26.7 per cent, and, lowest of all, the dairy farms with an increase of 25.8 per cent.

The foregoing percentages of increase appear extraordinarily large when compared with the percentage of the increase of the average value per acre of all farms from 1890 to 1900, which was 25 per cent, an average of 2.5 per cent a year as compared with an average of 6.7 per cent per year as ascertained by the Department of Agriculture, the total percentage of increase in each case being apportioned evenly among the years.

Although the inquiries were confined to medium farms, there are reasons for believing that the averages derived from the reports are applicable to the various totals of the farms of the census, including farms below and above medium, classified according to principal sources of income; and, with the understanding that the application is subject to qualifications, the increases in value of all farms during the five years have been computed.

INCREASE IN VALUE FOR TEN CLASSES OF FARMS.

For rice farms the increased value of the farm real estate during the five years is $3,000,000, after which are the sugar farms, with an increase of $20,000,000. The tobacco farms increased $57,000,000, the fruit farms $94,000,000, and the vegetable farms $113,000,000. The dairy-farm increase of $369,000,000 is exceeded by the increase of $460,000,000 for cotton farms, and considerably more by the increase for farms devoted to general purposes, including a small element of farms with minor specialties, which was $768,000,000. The grand aggregate of increase for all classes of farms is $6,131,000,000, more than two-thirds of which is contributed by the increase for hay and grain farms, $1,983,000,000, and $2,263,000,000 for live-stock farms.

INCREASE IN VALUE FOR FIVE GEOGRAPHIC DIVISIONS.

Nearly four-fifths of the national aggregate increase in value of farm real estate during the five years is found in two groups of States—the North Central States, with more than half of the total increase, or $3,572,000,000, and the South Central States, with one-fifth of that increase, or $1,201,000,000. The South Atlantic and Western groups of States have nearly the same increases—$514,000,000 and $500,000,000, respectively. The smallest increase is left to the North Atlantic States, where a net gain of $344,000,000 remains after deducting some reported decreases in value.

EXPLANATIONS OF INCREASES.

From every agricultural neighborhood in the United States explanations have been received of the increases and decreases in the real-estate value per acre of medium farms during the last five years. Subject to some qualifications, the general principle is that the farm land itself has become more highly capitalized by a larger amount of net profit per acre. Only the main features of the analysis can be given in this article.

In the general matter of price of farm products farming had long been performed under disadvantages that were often discouraging until a few years ago. With now and then a year of exception in favor of this or the other crop it has been a general fact that prices of farms products, long previous to these recent years, have fallen too near the full economic cost of production, which is considerably larger than the immediate cost of production and includes many items generally overlooked by farmers. Indeed, it is quite certain that the price has at times fallen below the full economic cost of production, of which the most conspicuous illustration was afforded seven years ago when the price of cotton fell to 4½ cents per pound, or even lower, at the plantation.

LAND MORE HIGHLY CAPITALIZED.

In 1905, at the end of the five-year period covered by this investigation, the prices of farm products have risen out of the depths to which various causes had previously sunk them, so that the farmer is at last getting a fair net return for his labor and farming operations in most products. This is naturally reflected in the higher capitalization of agricultural land. This conclusion is not advanced theoretically, but is amply sustained by the reports of many thousands of correspondents in all parts of the country and for all classes of farms for which there has been a considerable increase in price of products.

One can well realize how directly the availability of cheap public land suitable for farming has depressed the value of old agricultural land and kept from rising to its otherwise natural level the value of the newer land taken into cultivation, upon reading the statements of many correspondents, particularly in the agricultural margin near the land recently acquired from nation, State, or railroad. The National land that can be utilized agriculturally is now reduced to about 300,000,000 acres, but nearly all of this is suitable only for grazing, since it can not be used in dry farming nor under irrigation.

Much cultivable land, however, especially in the Southwest, has passed into private ownership during the five years under review, and there is striking testimony from many correspondents that until it passed into private ownership it held down the value of the acquired farms in near-by regions. This effect has extended backward upon the farms farther and farther away, even to the Atlantic coast, where the direct cause has not been as apparent as in the neighborhood where its effect is closely associated with it.

EFFECT OF IMMIGRATION.

While the public land suitable for farming has been reaching exhaustion the flow of immigration from foreign countries and from the older parts of this country has been continuing in its direction, and where no farming land could be obtained from nation, State, or railroad the influx of agricultural people was halted in regions where farms had been established in more recent years, and the consequent pressure of new demand upon a fixed area increased the value per acre during the five years often as much as 50 to 100 per cent.

Along with the general causes that have elevated the price of farm land during the last five years should be mentioned the diminishing rate of interest. So great in the aggregate have been the savings of the farmers and persons in other occupations in the North Central States and in other sections that a large amount of these savings has sought investment in farms, even to the extent of raising farm values and diminishing the rate of interest; so that an advance of the price has followed often with no increased net profit per acre.

CITY DEMAND FOR COUNTRY HOMES.

In the North Atlantic States, and in a less degree in other groups, there has been some back pressure upon the land from the cities, and in this reversion of the tide of population from country to city the old farm lands have not been lost to agriculture, although, in so far as they have become the diversion of wealthy men, they may have become unprofitable. In some regions the old abandoned farms are becoming the country homes of city families, and are passing back into some sort of cultivation and production.

EFFECT OF BETTER FARMING.

It would by no means be fair in the explanation of increase of farm values during the last five years to confine it to increases in price of products and to pressure of demand upon area. Very large effects have been derived from better cultural methods; from the substitution of profitable for unprofitable crops; by the adoption of more intensive culture and crop; by better applied labor; by large and cheaper facilities for reaching markets; and by some improvements in the business features of marketing products. Each one of these causes is of large account and all together combine to make the net return per acre larger than it was five years ago by an amount sufficient to raise the capitalization of farm lands in a considerable degree.

The values embraced in this investigation include improved and new buildings and all improvements upon farms. In many cases correspondents have reported a large percentage of increase in farm values per acre where the increase was almost entirely due to added improvements in the way of better dwellings, new barns, improvements in old barns, new granaries and new buildings for the protection of live stock in winter.

Throughout, extensive areas there have been great additions to land values as the result of draining by tile and open ditches, and the latter are sometimes so large as to be called canals. Increases have resulted from the removal of the stumps of forest trees and the construction of new or better boundary fences. Better and more durable roads on the farm and between the farm and its market town or railroad station have had a distinct effect upon the farm values.

Along with numerous improvements, not all of which can be mentioned here, stands forth the improvement of the soil itself. There is a materially increased production of live stock, with the resultant increased acreage of forage and grain crops which in rotation produce farm manures, humus and rest; enrich the soil, as with nitrogen brought by legumes, and improve the mechanical condition of the soil for all crops. In regions needing commercial fertilizers, nitrogen, phosphorus, potash, and lime have been used more abundantly and more intelligently and on crops bringing better prices.

FARMERS' NEW ECONOMIC INDEPENDENCE.

A matter of great importance in its bearing upon the increased value of farm lands is the new economic independence of farmers, fundamentally growing out of their improved financial condition. Farmers now occupy a strong economic position, founded upon the tendency of the consumption of some important products to increase faster than population does, and upon the tendency of the desires for these products to increase faster than the production does, so that with respect to these products consumption is close upon the heels of production.

It may seem a matter of small consequence to mention poultry and eggs as an instance, but it should be remembered that the values of these products now reach an annual figure of half a billion dollars or more, or an amount about equal to the value of the wheat crop. The price of eggs has been high, and growing higher for several years, because consumers have wanted more eggs than have been produced. The exports are not worth mentioning. Apparently there is no limit to the consumption of fresh eggs at a moderate price.

Fruit is in the same category. There is not enough fruit to any kind raised in this country at the present time which is actually placed upon the market in the grade of first quality, or better, that is produced in sufficient quantity to meet the wants of consumers at a moderate price. The city family that has bought first-grade apples in almost any recent year has paid a luxury price. This is true also of pears, plums, peaches and oranges, and it is true of the small fruits, such as cherries and grapes. The assertion may easily be extended to most, if not all, of the commercial berries—strawberries, currants, blackberries and raspberries.

Butter is another product that tends to underrun consumption. We have no larger butter exports from this country because the price of first-grade butter is often lower in London than in New York. The highest priced butter in the world in its home markets, taking first and fancy grades and ignoring specialties in other countries too small for notice, is found in this country. With regard to milk and cheese also the economic position has become stronger.

The annual products of dairying, of fruit and vegetable raising, and of poultry keeping aggregated nearly $2,000,000,000 in farmers' hands in 1905, or three-tenths of the gross value of all farm products; and these particular products belong to the class of those for which there is a tendency of demand to be greater than supply. In the case of none of these products is there a desired quantity satisfactory in quality obtainable by consumers at moderate prices. The public is underfed in the higher grades of these luxuries of the farm.

Meat animals, too, are establishing themselves in a stronger position in favor of the farmer, because of the tendency of population increase to outfoot the increase of these animals; but this statement, although true under natural conditions, may become subverted in its application to this country by the prohibitive legislation of importing countries.

MINOR DECREASES IN VALUE.

While the net result of changes in the average acre-values of farms in the last five years has been a marked increase for the whole country, decreases have been found within small areas, and these should not be lost to view in the grandeur of the counter movement. The migration of farmers' sons to town and city, to industry, trade and transportation—a common fact especially apparent in the North Atlantic and North Central States—is throwing farms upon the market for sale, and this occurs sometimes in neighborhoods where there is no immigration and little, if any, local demand for farm lands. The unavoidable result in such neighborhoods farms have decreased and are still decreasing in value. Probably no cause of depreciation of farm values is so frequently mentioned in nearly all parts of the country as the scarcity and deterioration of farm labor. The reports on which this statement is based generally refer to wage labor, but the scarcity is found, though less prevalently, in the supply of tenant labor also, particularly that of a trustworthy sort.

In preceding paragraphs are given the more frequently mentioned causes of depression in farm values during the last five years, but these causes are not generally prevalent and are often highly localized and specifically restricted.

Regrettable Condition of Transit Facilities.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

That the Interborough Rapid Transit Company is in need of a competent railroad manager is evidenced by the gross mismanagement of all its branches from end to end of the city. Mr. Frank Hedley complains of too much outside interference; it might be well to recall the fact that no change for the better has ever been adopted by the Rapid Transit officials without practically being driven into it by public indignation meetings and threats, namely, the opening of the Washington Heights division, through express service to the Bronx, transfers to and from the 3d av elevated and subway lines at 149th st, and the operation of the express trains to 137th st. Having been compelled to yield to these demands, the management is apparently sulking on account of being corrected of these faults.

Passengers traveling on the local Broadway division from 96th to 181st st, "a normal run of ten minutes, are compelled to change at 157th st, with a loss of five minutes, then again turned out at 168th st, where another loss of from ten to twelve minutes is experienced. At the Washington Heights terminal passengers are allowed to board a train, and as soon as comfortably seated are ordered into another train, when an error is discovered, all being told to vacate and return to the cars they were originally driven from.

Complaints are heard from all directions. In the Bronx passengers are held up for ten minutes at a time before reaching the 177th st station at non-rush hours, when there are plenty of unused tracks in the barns which could easily and safely be used in order to keep the main road clear. South-bound trains are often delayed, sometimes as much as twenty-five minutes during the day when there is no superabundance of traffic, and often stations are skipped without previous notice to passengers, while the vocabulary of the guards would require the services of a polyglot to interpret its meaning.

At 150th st and 3d av, Bronx, the Interborough Company fails to use the elevated structure connecting the Subway with the 3d av elevated road for passenger service at all, thereby inconveniencing thousands of weary travelers daily, who are compelled to stand in line as at other transferable points and wait for the exchange of their tickets before the company will accept them as a fare. It is quite obvious that the company has no concern whatever for the comfort and welfare of its patrons.

Last Monday's calamities were no doubt the outcome of the careless manner in which the road has been conducted for some time. The attitude in which the police appeared upon the scene, swinging clubs in a threatening manner, was not for the purpose of seeing that the outraged public received transfers or the return of their money, but in order to subdue the angry multitudes as they became unpacked from the cars, with its stifling atmosphere, caused by such inhuman crowding. Yet the agents continued to sell tickets. Many thousands of people were compelled to patronize the elevated road and pay Mr. Belmont an additional fare in order to reach their destination.

The present Rapid Transit Commissioners should be legislated out of office and replaced with a board composed of resident representatives from the various localities who would be in a position to know what they were talking about and insist upon remedies to alleviate them. BRONXMAN.

The Streets of Manhattan.

(With Illustrations.)

The Record and Guide again presents a photographic betrayal (?) of the plague of our streets, which shows little sign of abatement. Perhaps there are too many doctors who juggle with our affliction, while, meantime, we suffer. But we reserve judgment and further comment.

—Very satisfactory progress is now reported on the under-river sections of the Pennsylvania tunnel tubes that are being pushed westward from the two caisson shafts on the Long Island City side. Most of the headings are now in solid rock, and that is the sort of substance the tunnel contractors welcome.

Long Island Realty Interests.

THE Long Island Real Estate Exchange, the new organization of brokers and operators in Long Island property, was in convention on Tuesday afternoon at the Palm Garden, Hamburg and Greene avs. The session was a continuation of that held on Sept. 18 and 19 last, and was reconvened in order to hear and discuss the reports of a number of special committees. The principal features of the session were the adoption of a report putting a stamp of disapproval on "wild-cat" booms of property and including a plan for protecting the public; the adoption of a report that headquarters had been arranged for in the Billings Court, 5th av and 34th st, Manhattan; for a parkway from end to end of Long Island, and the indorsement of the project of the Motor Parkway Company for a sixty-mile automobile road on Long Island. In connection with the motor parkway, in which William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., is enthusiastically interested, A. R. Pardington, one of the vice-presidents and general manager of the company, explained the plans and prospects.

TO PROTECT BUYERS AND SELLERS.

John W. Paris reported for "the committee on the protection of the public," against "purveyors of gold bricks" in Long Island lots. Mr. Paris began by emphasizing the necessity of holding the confidence of real estate buyers, by giving them square treatment. "Protecting the public" was not, he said, a philanthropy, but a means of protecting honest real estate brokers and promoters themselves. He called to mind that much "misrepresentation and fraud" were being perpetrated in the advertising of Long Island lots by unscrupulous companies. In this connection several of the real estate men in the convention told stories of gold brick propositions that had come to their notice. Property worth $10 or $15 an acre was sold in city lots at $1 and $2 each out West. Lots had been offered free with sets of books costing $60 or $70. Improvements were shown on maps and plans that did not exist, and one statement was made that property was even sold by companies that did not own it. To keep the poor people from losing their savings, and to protect the reputations of honest brokers, the following report of the committee was adopted without dissent:

"To maintain public confidence, to encourage legitimate enterprises on Long Island; to advance safe, sane and proper developments of Long Island real estate; to protect both the seller and the buyer; to discourage and stamp out unscrupulous operators who make false representations with a view to deceiving the public, and who promise what they never can and never expect to perform—the Long Island Real Estate Exchange desires the co-operation and support of every honest and reputable real estate agent and operator.

"In order that the real estate buyer may have the same safety and security in his investments as the stock and bond purchaser, the Long Island Real Estate Exchange has decided to list Long Island real estate owned or controlled by any member of the Exchange under the following conditions, proven to the satisfaction of the Board of Governors:

- "1. That the operator has sufficient capital and resources to carry out the development contemplated.
- "2. That the property is properly situated for development.
- "3. That the property is reasonably easy of access.
- "4. That the property is reasonably worth the price asked.
- "5. That the owners make no false or misleading statements.
- "6. That the agents' or operators' reputation in the section he resides or operates in is satisfactory to the Exchange.

"In order that the properties may be listed the exchange has appointed the necessary committees, which will judge the merits of all applications justly, honorably and impartially.

"When property is accepted and listed, the owner, agent or operator may use the indorsement of the Exchange in his advertising matter, or in any legitimate matter he deems most advantageous to himself.

"If at any time any member of the Exchange should perform any act or should any act be performed by his agent, representative or employee with or without his knowledge or consent, that is deemed prejudicial or detrimental to the safety, honesty and legitimacy of the development of Long Island real estate, or should any member violate any condition whereby the listing of his property was obtained, then such member shall be tried in the manner provided by the laws of the Exchange and, if he is proven guilty, he shall thereupon be expelled from membership of the Exchange. The endorsement and the listing of his property shall be rescinded and the Exchange shall make public that such member has been expelled and that his property has been removed from the exchange list. And no member so expelled, nor any agent or operator whom he represented in the transaction for which he was expelled, shall ever be eligible to membership in this Exchange."

FOR A HOME BUILDERS' EXPOSITION.

It was announced that, with the object of arousing interest in property on the island, a home builders' exhibition will be held at the Grand Central Palace for two weeks, beginning May 1. The scope and character of this exhibition will be broad enough to embrace exhibits by all persons, firms and corporations engaged in the development of Long Island residence properties.

THE EXCHANGE MOVES TO MANHATTAN.

It was announced that the Exchange will henceforth be located at Billings Court, 5th av and 34th st, Manhattan. John O'Donnell, of Jamaica, deplored the idea, saying that Jamaica was most central to Long Islanders, but this objection was met by the statement that the largest United States corporations doing business all over the country have headquarters in Manhattan, and that this does not necessarily detract from the local identity of the enterprise.

Legality of the Brundage Clause.

A MEETING of the Real Estate Board of Brokers was held on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the legal right of a mortgagee to call an unmatured obligation under what is generally known as the Brundage clause, with the obvious purpose of compelling its renewal at an increased rate of interest. The clause referred to provides that in the event of any change in the laws for the taxation of mortgages a loan shall become due and payable upon 30 days' notice. Mortgagees have already taken advantage of this provision, to the great detriment of many real estate owners, among them being a prominent operator, who has appealed to the Board of Brokers for advice.

In response to a general invitation to attend Wednesday's meeting many real estate brokers, operators and members of the bar were on hand to express their views on the subject. Mr. Saul Bernstein, an attorney of 149 Broadway, Manhattan, said that he had advised his clients not to accede to the demands of mortgagees in cases of this kind, and he particularly pointed out that many mortgages had not been called within thirty days after the passage of new legislation on mortgage taxation, and that in numerous instances the holders of mortgages had accepted interest payments before calling loans. Mr. Bernstein interprets these circumstances as waivers of the privilege of mortgagees to compel the payment of such obligations.

Mr. Sidney Nordlinger, the next speaker expressed a different opinion on some of the legal points in question but in general was of the belief that the action of trust companies and attorneys for mortgagees would not be upheld in a court of equity or of law.

Mr. Jos. L. Bittenwieser in a stirring speech expressed the opinion that there is no operative law which alters in any respect the status of mortgages made prior to July 1, 1905, and strongly counseled property owners whose mortgages had been called to refuse payment, unless it could be shown that the mortgage in question was actually affected by legislative acts. In the latter case Mr. Bittenwieser advised the owner to agree to any reasonable adjustment, "and if this should be refused, I do not believe any court would entertain a foreclosure suit under the conditions," he added. He strongly condemned those engaged in this kind of practice, alluding to "the trust companies and lawyers for trust companies, who pay no taxes on their mortgages, yet who demand payment of mortgages, or say, 'we will call your mortgage unless you come and see us.' You gentlemen owe it to yourselves collectively and individually and to the important business interests you represent to insist upon the same high standard of morality and honesty of the lawyers who represent mortgagees that would be expected of high-minded men in any line of business. One of our most prominent bankers, in a recent address, held up to public execration the banking institutions which made a practice of calling loans in the morning in order to loan that same money at higher rates in the afternoon. The immoral action of these bankers pales into insignificance before the dishonesty and treachery of the lawyers and the trust companies who attempt to call in mortgages under a Brundage clause, by reason of the enactment of a law which works no hardship upon them, or in any wise affects their interests adversely." Continuing, Mr. Bittenwieser said: "My advice to you is to unite with other bodies similarly interested in this matter, and to try these men and these institutions before the bar of public opinion, and I assure you that they will yield long before any judge of the Supreme Court will have an opportunity of determining the issue in any action of foreclosure, although I feel confident that such legal action would likewise be decided in favor of the mortgagor."

The meeting adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, we, the owners, dealers and brokers interested in New York City real estate assembled at a meeting called by the Real Estate Board of Brokers, Dec. 12, 1906, to consider the calling of mortgages under the 'Brundage' or tax clause declare said calling unjust, because contrary to the intent and fair construction of said clause, injurious to the best interests of the real estate market, and in most instances illegal, and therefore

"Resolved, that a committee of seven is hereby appointed, with power to select and add to their number, to take such measures as may lead to the discontinuance of this practice, and to invite contribution to obtain a legal determination of such clause if necessary, and we request and direct the Real Estate Board of Brokers, together with such other bodies as may see fit to join in the movement, to undertake the defense of any action brought to foreclose any mortgage under such clause."

Bronx Renting Good.

Mr. Frees, of the Frees & Lackman Co., 3029 3d av, Bronx, reports the sales market quiet. He said that two new law houses which were completed about a week ago, had already gained nine tenants. The houses referred to abut the rear of his office, situated on a plot, 40x100, the house being 80 ft. in depth. There are five apartments on a floor, consisting of three and four rooms, together with hot-water supply. These average $14.50 for three rooms, and $18.50 for four rooms per month. Steam-heated apartments rented, he said, for about $6 a room, and were usually well rented where the service was good, although the landlords in this vicinity suffered from more vacancies in the summer months than other classes of abode. Most of the newcomers were from the Borough of Manhattan.

for this lies in the fact that the former law, superseded July 1 by the recording tax law passed last spring, was the subject of litigation, and many have paid the tax under the new law who withheld payment last year pending decision of the courts. In a letter to the Receiver of Taxes the Comptroller directs as follows: "In view of the difficulty experienced from the return of checks by the banks on which they are drawn, by reason of being 'no good,' 'short,' etc., and the complication in accounts rendered thereby, and also from the difficulty which is experienced in securing the return of receipted bills from the parties who pay in such manner, you are hereby directed, after the 15th inst., to require all checks given in payment of taxes, to be certified. DON'T GUESS compared with a Big Central Co-operative operation are centered there on the biggest Scale.

The RECORD & GUIDE to-day supplies thousands of Brokers and others with information—has been doing so for a generation. Its own records cover the history of ALL transactions of every kind in New York for forty years, and in addition to these it has a COMPLETE PLANT that includes the previous period.

Obviously, the RECORD & GUIDE possesses FULL information covering ALL particulars concerning real estate. Other systems are necessarily either partial or mere second-hand abstracts of the records which the RECORD & GUIDE has been gathering and publishing in the course of its forty years' history.

If you need Real Estate Information don't guess. Don't use personal Systems. Don't use partial Systems. Don't use temporary Systems that must be fragmentary and Second-hand. Don't use Systems built for the use of a Few, and that offer you scarcely any of the advantages of co-operation.

USE

THE RECORD & GUIDE BUREAU OF REAL ESTATE INFORMATION. The oldest, the largest, the most permanent, the best equipped—a Service that can serve you TO-DAY and TO-MORROW on a progressive plan.

A Real Estate Information Service is as necessary in a Real Estate Broker's office as the ticker in the office of a Stock Broker.

A personally maintained Service is inefficient and inordinately Expensive

THERE has been little actual change in the Wall Street situation this week, notwithstanding some spectacular action, the result of which was not important. The money situation is not only complex but serious. Speculation in stocks on the Stock Exchange is carried on, as everyone knows, on borrowed money. Not one operation in a hundred is made by the operator paying outright for his purchase. It will readily be seen therefore, when the means for carrying on the operation can only be obtained at 25 or 30 per cent., that business must practically cease. Such transactions as have taken place this week have been largely made up of those of speculators forced to sell either through the fearful grind of the interest charge or the exhaustion of margins caused by the decline which, in turn, was produced by the very liquidation described above. To put it more forcibly, the operators trampled each other to financial death in an effort to escape from the trap in which they found themselves. The money situation is so unusual, caused, undoubtedly, by the masses having plethoric pocket-books, that it is hard, if not impossible, to predict when and how it will end. To many keen observers it seems that it may grow worse and culminate in the cessation of the construction and building of great, important and necessary public works by reason of the inability to finance them. A striking illustration of this is shown in the fact that the projected Hotel Woodruff in Montague street, Brooklyn, is not to be built. The company formed for the purpose of construction has been dissolved. It numbered among its directors Brooklyn capitalists of prominence and the hotel was to be of the highest class. It will be recalled that the first full particulars of this enterprise were given in the columns of the Record and Guide a few months ago.

THE middle West Side has loomed very important in the real estate transactions of the past few weeks. Not only is there a great deal of activity in the whole area affected by the Pennsylvania terminal, but there have been many sales of property which must have been quite independent of any changes effected by that great improvement. Thus the purchase of sites for loft buildings on the side streets south of 23d street and west of Sixth avenue has been very noticeable. Such buildings have been frequently erected during the past few years in this district; but now they are being undertaken on a larger scale. Four and five lots are being bought for the purpose of erecting ten-story buildings thereon instead of the old six-story buildings on two or three lots. It looks now as if the whole district as far west as Ninth avenue would be gradually improved with business buildings. Ninth avenue itself, after many years of quiescence, has been aroused from its sleep and is showing signs of a more prosperous future. It looks as if eventually it might become an active and prosperous business thoroughfare. The new docks that are being built south of 23d street will doubtless tend to increase the availability of these streets for warehouses and other similar improvements. What this district needs, however, more than anything else, is better connection with the thriving business area to the south-east. Both Sixth and Seventh avenues terminate in a wilderness of little streets which afford no southerly outlet, and this fact has diminished enormously the business availability of these important thoroughfares. They could be extended south at a comparatively small expense and to the immense advantage of the real estate of that part of the city and of the business prosperity of the whole of the West Side. But although such extensions have frequently been laid out, they have never really been seriously considered. It is a palpable illustration of the way in which property-owners sometimes neglect their interests that no united effort has ever been made to bring about the southerly extensions of Sixth and Seventh avenues.

IT is good news for Lexington avenue and for the East Side generally that a four-tracked double-decked tunnel is proposed for that avenue. Hitherto it has been supposed that the width of Lexington avenue forbade a subway containing more than three tracks, and so it practically would; provided all the tracks were run on the same level. But a three-tracked subway would constitute a very poor substitute for one which contains four tracks. The popular success of the existing subway has been due to its express service; and three tracks do not afford an opportunity for the operation of a really efficient express service. The adoption of a structure with two decks will enhance the value of the Lexington avenue subway to its patrons by a very large percentage, and it will permit the digging of the ditch with much less disturbance of traffic than would otherwise take place. The people of New York will, however, not be content with any of the new subways unless arrangements are made for the quicker operation of the express trains. These trains have, as we have said, been the great success of the existing subway, but they have not been as complete a success as they should have been. They do not make as fast time between the City Hall and Harlem as was promised; and the actual schedule is, during the rush hours, almost always broken. It takes longer to load and unload the crowds at the stations than was anticipated, and one train which is held back delays a whole string of trains behind it by forcing them to slow up. The use of entrances in the middle of the cars will do something to relieve the congestion at the express stations, by enabling the trains to load and unload more quickly. But that in itself will not be enough. The express stations themselves must be more spacious and better arranged. The ideal arrangement would be a four-track road-bed, with nothing but express stations, access to which could be obtained by transfers from the surface cars. Each pair of tracks could have stations about a mile apart, which would mean that a passenger could take an express train within at least five blocks from the point at which he reached the line of the subway, and could reach his destination without being obliged to stop more than once in every mile. While an arrangement of this kind would mean certain inconveniences, it would probably afford a better service to more people than any other one type of subway. But it also means free and general transfers between the longitudinal surface cars and the subway system, which is something that the Interborough Company has not yet proposed to give us.

THE plan advocated by Senator McCarren of relieving the pressure on the Brooklyn Bridge by building another bridge parallel to that structure can hardly commend itself to the city authorities. Very many more reasons can be urged against it than can possibly be urged in its favor. It would, in the first place, require ten years for the construction, which does not make it a very desirable expedient to meet a critical condition. In the second place, the cost of its approaches, particularly on the Manhattan side, would make it enormously expensive. In all probability it would require an outlay of not less than $20,000,000, and we believe that if as much money as this needs to be spent in order to improve transit from Manhattan and Brooklyn, it can be used to better purpose in building tunnels than in building another bridge. The only advantage which a bridge has over a tunnel is that it affords means of transit for pedestrians and wagons as well as for cars; but the four bridges already completed or well under way, will afford every facility necessary for wagon and carriage traffic. For the same money several tunnels could be built, which could be connected with subways on both sides of the river, and which would thereby become much more serviceable than any bridge would be. There would be precisely the same difficulty in arranging connections for a new bridge as there is in arranging them for those already constructed. No! Tunnels are the thing. A four-track subway paralleling the Brooklyn Bridge and connected by loops at both ends, with the Williamsburgh Bridge, would be the most serviceable means of finally doing away with the existing congestion. It cannot be too often repeated that every additional means of communication provided for inter-borough communication should, so far as possible, be made to articulate with the existing subways. In this way, little by little, a complete system of underground transit will be afforded, whose value to the public will be far greater than the value of the units which go to make up the system. Every additional connection will both feed and supplement the routes already constructed, until finally a New Yorker will be able to travel without delay and without putting his head above ground from any part of one borough to any part of another—Richmond alone excepted.

NOW that new subway routes have been approved of, the selection of stations should, as it no doubt will, receive careful attention on the part of the Rapid Transit Commissioners. Improvement certainly can be made upon the location and width of streets of the present subway, as these are, in many instances, distant from wide streets and too narrow. The Third avenue or tri-borough route is most likely to be more largely patronized than the other new routes, because it is intended for a complete system from Pelham Bay, Westchester County, through the Borough of Manhattan to Coney Island. Care should be taken that the station approaches are wide enough to permit the ready ingress and egress of great numbers, and to this end the location of stations should be, as far as possible, on wide streets only. Eventually there must be built transverse subways across leading streets, and under the Park between Fifty-ninth and One Hundred and Tenth streets, so that connection can be readily made, for instance, between Third avenue and Seventy-second street on the East Side with the present West Side subway. Excepting the Eighty-sixth street trolley line, there are no means of communication within this territory between the East Side and the West.

The Bureau of Arrears.

THE investigation which Comptroller Metz recently made of conditions in the Bureau of Arrears is likely to result in material benefit to the city and to taxpayers having dealings with that Bureau. None of the sensational charges of wrongdoing which were printed in the daily newspapers has been substantiated; in fact, if Comptroller Metz was correctly quoted in his first interviews on this subject, he has in his last statement done no more than simple justice to Mr. Slattery, the Collector of Arrears, and the Title Insurance Company of New York, by exonerating the former and complimenting the latter.

It will be remembered that it was alleged that Mr. Slattery had used the city employees during official hours in making a tax and assessment plant for the Title Insurance Company; that the city's records were being neglected in order that the Title Company's plant might be kept up-to-date; and that the title companies of the city were being paid large sums of money by reason of the city's inability to make its own searches. These allegations were completely disproved, and it now appears that instead of the Title Insurance Company being paid by the city for making tax and assessment searches, it has all along been permitting the city to have the free use of a copy of its plant, prepared at its own expense, to furnish information which the city itself should have been able to provide, but could not.

The Comptroller is quoted as follows:

"As the tax and assessment rolls are public records and the courts have decided that any person has the right to examine, and the privilege to transcribe the same, this Title Company had the same right, if it had wished to do so, to send a large number of men to the office during business hours to compile this tax plant, just as other title companies had done in the past in the offices of the Register and County Clerk. This would have caused great inconvenience to the public business, as the company's men would necessarily interfere more or less with the regular clerks in the discharge of their routine duties. In Mr. Slattery's opinion, it would have been equally as undesirable to allow a number of strange men to have access to the public records after official hours, for the reason that many of the books are so old and worn that the least carelessness in handling them would result in mutilation or partial destruction, and it would have required a squad of city employees to be detailed to guard the records while in use, and to put them away safely at night when the outsiders were through with the work. It was on this account that Mr. Slattery employed the clerks of the Department after hours to do this work, rather than to allow strangers to come in. It does not appear, therefore, that the city has been injured by the participation of some of its employees in this work outside of office hours, and it seems that in the preparation of the Title Company's tax plant, all old and dormant items were abstracted on schedules. As a consequence of this, the city has lately collected thousands of dollars in arrears of taxes and assessments, the existence of which had been forgotten and would not have been found except by searching through the official records. It seems that this office, some years ago, acting under authority of an act of the Legislature, passed in 1893, attempted to compile arrears under what is known as the "locality system." The clerks appointed to do this work, however, were inefficient, and the result of their labors proved to be of so little value that during the Low administration this compilation work was entirely abandoned. The records of the Title Insurance Company found in the Bureau of Arrears were the working sheets of its plant, and were being used by the Bureau without charge, and to this extent the city was benefited by having placed at its disposal a plant which could be absolutely relied upon.

"While appreciating this courtesy on the part of the Title Company in allowing the city to use, without expense, a plant prepared at its own cost, it does not seem proper to me that the city should be under obligation to any concern for services of this character, nor dependent upon any title company for information which it should itself be able to furnish. I have therefore determined that the city shall itself prepare a tax and assessment plant of its own, and in order that the preparation of this plant shall be carried out with as little delay as possible, and that the city may gain the benefit of Mr. Slattery's experience in having done this work before, I have accepted his resignation as Collector of Assessments and Arrears, and have appointed him as Expert Accountant in the Bureau of Municipal Investigations and Statistics, and will give him a force of clerks and bookkeepers to enable him to get up a plant for the city at once."

There is no question but that the city should long ago have been able to furnish taxpayers with a correct statement of their arrears of taxes and assessments. This it has never heretofore been able to do. In fact, the recent preparation of the tax plant of the Title Insurance Company has disclosed, as the Comptroller states, thousands of dollars' worth of old arrears which had apparently been lost sight of in the Comptroller's office. When the new city plant is finished, a taxpayer can secure from the Bureau of Arrears as correct information in regard to his arrears as he could secure from one of the title companies; and while the city cannot, like the title companies, act as insurer, the convenience, nevertheless, in the ordinary course of paying annual taxes, will be great.

No Break on the Heights.

GENERAL surprise is expressed at the firmness of values on Washington Heights and the confidence which owners have shown under the conditions that have prevailed since the "boom" ended. That the "boom" has ended is freely admitted, also that there is a certain amount of reaction, but nothing in the nature of a "slump." A rumor that lots have been sold for less than the owners paid was found not to be true as a general proposition, but possibly true in a few individual cases, and it was found that misfortune had come only to a few in the class of foolhardy speculators of very inadequate means. For the most part Washington Heights lots are held by men capable of retaining possession with equanimity under all conditions of financial weather. An overproduction of apartments in the neighborhood of Washington Bridge there has unquestionably been resulting in a certain proportion of vacancies and in slow disposals, but with all the conditions aggravated by the difficulty of getting sufficient money even for the most conservative operations.

No bargains are to be found, though many are looking. Brokers generally remark that the strength manifested by Heights values as a general proposition under the financial stress has exceeded their expectations, and they consider that the spring will see a strong revival and a renewed vindication of all investments. The repaving of Broadway will at least encourage if it is not a specific reason for improving the finely located lands on the line of and to the west of the thoroughfare, seeing that with the subway building and other long continuing hindrances it has been many years since the driving public has had a straightaway car-free drive for pleasure equipages along the west summit of the Heights. The carriage way is being repaved with asphalt blocks, and when the work is fully completed Broadway through that section will strongly invite the improvement of the adjoining lots.

WASHINGTON HEIGHTS NORMAL.

Relating to a rumor regarding a slump in Washington Heights real estate, Mr. Eugene S. Moses, of the firm of Charles Griffith Moses & Co., 1960 Amsterdam av, said that prices on the Heights in all classes of property were very stiff. As an example, Mr. Moses mentioned a case where he had been asked to look up a bargain in new-law houses for a prospective purchaser where some of the owners might be in difficulty and willing to sell at a sacrifice. After diligent search, no such inducement could be found. He said he was amazed at the phenomenal renting taking place throughout this section, a fact which would be verified by almost any realty firm in the district. Lots were in the firmest of hands. Of course foreclosures were prevalent at all times and in all places.

Mr. Moses commended the aggressive stand taken by the Record and Guide in the matter of disrupted streets and recommended that the next step be against the mismanagement of the subway service, which is on the tongue of every Heights traveler.

Mr. E. Osborne Smith, with an office at the southwest corner of Amsterdam av and 181st st, Manhattan, said regarding Washington Heights, that he considered the existing conditions as normal, considering the rapid growth of the section. In response to a question as to whether real estate had reached a decline, he said that good builders had no trouble. Many had already sold at a good profit and were extending their operations with more new buildings, they having obtained private mortgages on their properties. Mr. Smith said that it was only the "kite" builders who were having trouble, and who would have trouble on badly constructed buildings anywhere. The poorly finished houses were the only ones not renting well. He mentioned an instance where a lower east side tailor had built a house of faulty construction and found that it did not rent well. Speaking of the subway service, he said he was thoroughly disgusted with its management, and he called attention to a heap of rubbish which has obstructed the entrance at 181st st for months past. Fifty passengers get off at 181st st (many transferring to the Interborough trolley line for the Bronx), to every one at 168th st station, yet the company saw fit to dislodge its patrons at the latter named place and compel them to wait for a Kingsbridge train. He was very emphatic in his denunciation of the treatment the people of this locality were compelled to put up with, and said it was certainly a great drawback to the development of this section of the city.

Mr. H. Mandelbaum, of Mandelbaum & Lewine, operators, 135 Broadway, said: "I do not take any stock in the report that a break has occurred in the prices of vacant property on Washington Heights. Our firm is now closing several important loans in that territory, and were this a fact we would have experienced difficulty in securing the acceptance of them." Mr. Abram Bachrach, operator, 128 Broadway, said: "I can see no reason why there should be a break in lot values on Washington Heights, as everything points to a healthy growth in that region." Mr. L. Schmeidler, of Schmeidler & Bachrach, operators, 203 Broadway, said: "Property values on Washington Heights are well held up, and there are very few bargains." Mr. F. E. Barnes, of 217 West 125th st, said that while a number of owners of improved property on Washington Heights were perhaps in financial difficulty, unimproved holdings were remaining firm on the original prices asked.

"Throat-Clutching" Demands on Mortgagors

Attempts of Lenders to Take Advantage of Borrowers by Technical Interpretations of a Clause Contrary to General Intent Strongly Reprobated by Leading Brokers.

IN an interview with Mr. Sidney Nordlinger, an attorney, of No. 73 Nassau st, who was one of the forcible speakers at last week's meeting of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, with reference to the calling of mortgages under the Brundage Clause, he declared that he believed that his position in advising mortgagors not to pay mortgages called in on account of the Brundage Clause, would be sustained by the courts for the following reasons. All mortgages made prior to the enactment of any mortgage tax legislation were subject to the imposition of a personal tax, in the hands of the holders thereof, save and except those held by savings banks, trust companies or non-residents, pursuant to the General Tax Law, Section 291. The Brundage Clause inserted in those mortgages in substance provided that in the event of any change in the law taxing mortgages, then the mortgagees could on notice call in their mortgages. Therefore the entire discussion narrowed itself down to the one important question, "Has the enactment of the present Recording Tax Law in any way changed Section 291 of the General Tax Law?"

The Recording Tax Law, at present upon our statute books, in substance provides that all mortgages recorded on and after July 1, 1906, shall be subject to the payment of a recording tax of one-half of one per cent., which payment shall thereafter relieve the assessment of any tax either personal or otherwise, and such act, affecting only such mortgages recorded on and after July 1, 1906, could not affect any mortgages made prior to that date except in so far as it repealed the mortgage tax act of 1905, which will be brought up in a moment. Consequently there has been no change in the operation of Section 291 of the General Tax Law under which those old mortgages were taxed, with the exceptions named, and they still are and will continue to be subject to the imposition of the personal tax annually fixed according to the budget of the municipal government.

After a most liberal interpretation of the present Recording Tax Law, it can never be said, in Mr. Nordlinger's opinion, that it can in any way be made to fit the usual Brundage Clause inserted in those old mortgages, either as changing the tax law under which they were assessed (291 of General Tax Law) or deducting from the value of the land for the purposes of taxation, any lien thereon, or affecting in any way the manner of levying or collecting such taxes, which are usually inserted in the Brundage Clause. With reference to the mortgages executed under the Mortgage Tax Clause of 1905, a different view must be taken, where such mortgages contain the Brundage Clause, for surely the repeal of the law of 1905, which imposed a tax of one-half of one per cent. per annum, most certainly changed the taxation of such mortgages, and the mortgagees had the right, provided they acted diligently to enforce the terms of the Brundage Clause. The policy of the courts in such a case would not be to permit a mortgagee to continue to accept interest and finally take advantage of the clause. Mr. Nordlinger said further:

"Mr. Bailey, of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company of Brooklyn, in an article in the Brooklyn Daily Eagle of December 17, deals only and particularly with mortgages made in 1905 under the law of that year, and it seems that all mortgages taken by his company contained an increase in the rate of interest of one-half of one per cent. per annum, another case where the borrower paid the tax, and a circumstance which the Legislature of 1905 distinctly tried to avoid but might have foreseen.

"Of course if Mr. Bailey's company is kind enough to continue the mortgages at a lower rate of interest, making it a good business proposition for the mortgagor to accept, it certainly would be advisable for any good business man to accept such proposition which would find him money in pocket when the time came around when his mortgage expired.

"However, the main question would seem to be the one relating to mortgages executed before the passage of any mortgage tax legislation. It would be far better to administer a stinging rebuke in an actual case in court to such unscrupulous mortgagees as attempt to escape personal tax by endeavoring to call their mortgages under their Brundage Clause, than to hurl invectives at them, at their attorneys or at trust companies or mortgage companies. And far better to present a case with the meritorious defense of no change in the law, rather than complain that such mortgagees have been guilty of laches, although it would be advisable to put forward all defenses on the theory of fighting fire with fire."

Mr. Francis E. Ward, former president of the Real Estate Board of Brokers, when asked his views on the Brundage Clause, remarked:

"I am not a lawyer, but for many years have been an agitator for the reform of mortgage taxation, and on several occasions have represented the Real Estate Board of Brokers at Albany before committees of the Legislature appointed for hearings on bills relating thereto. While convinced that mortgages should be exempt from taxation, our board accepted the 'recording tax' legislation as promoted last session by the Allied Real Estate Interests, as a compromise measure, believing that thereby a long approach toward just legislation would be accomplished.

"The mortgagor who was threatened with foreclosure as stated in the article 'Is Your Mortgage Safe?' in your issue of the 8th inst., appealed to me to bring the matter before our board, claiming that great hardship might ensue to many borrowers by enforcement of a clause in a mortgage which might be effective for foreclosure under the Brundage Clause of the recent act.

"In this particular instance I regard the threat to foreclose as outrageous, simply a strike for a higher rate of interest, A THROAT-CLUTCHING DEMAND to 'pay me that thou owest' and more too, directly in line with the procedure of certain loaners as recently charged by Mr. Schiff before the Chamber of Commerce.

"It is my opinion that the Brundage Clause was not inserted for such purpose, and that the action of a lender in attempting to take advantage of a borrower by a technical interpretation of a clause contrary to the general intent of the act cannot be condemned too strongly."

"I cannot see what injuries could be wrought under the provisions of the Brundage Clause by reason of its fundamental principles," said Mr. Edwin L. Hess, of M. & L. Hess.

"If its meaning is misrepresented by the holders of mortgages, or their attorneys, and if the mortgagors are ignorant of their moral and legal rights, of course financial injury may be sustained by the mortgagor. To offset such injury the Real Estate Board of Brokers are prepared to give moral and legal assistance if necessary.

"The Brundage Clause contains provisions only for the protection of the mortgagee, and if laws be enacted which would reduce the value of the mortgage in a manner provided for in the Brundage Clause, then the mortgagee would surely be protected by its terms. It is hardly likely that we will have such laws."

Rights of Mortgagors and Mortgagees.

IN ORDER to properly understand the rights respectively of mortgagors and mortgagees, at the present time, it is necessary to go back somewhat and study the history of the existing law, which is chapter 532 of the laws of 1906. Prior to the law of 1905, there was no special mortgage tax legislation, and the only tax which was payable on mortgages was that which was payable on all personal property as contained in the general laws in relation to taxation.

On June 3, 1905, chapter 729 of the laws of that year was enacted which amended that tax law so that debts secured by mortgages were then specially taxed one-half of one per cent. annually, and the property represented by such mortgages was exempted from all other taxation. That law became operative July 1, 1905. The existing law was passed May 22, 1906, and went into force July 1, 1906; and under the terms of the existing laws all mortgages thereafter recorded were required to pay one-half of one per cent. in order to entitle them to record, and were then relieved of all other taxation; and under the terms of the same law, the law of 1905 was substantially, in all respects, repealed. Mortgages, therefore, which were executed and recorded prior to the enactment of the law of 1905 are to-day in the identical position in which they were had there been no legislation of any kind enacted thereafter having relation either to mortgages or mortgage debts.

The 1905 law gave the right to then holders of mortgages executed prior to the passage of that law to bring their mortgages within the provisions of the law of 1905. Many holders of mortgages, particularly trustees, who had not succeeded in evading the payment of personal taxes took advantage of the rights so conferred and made their mortgages subject to the payment of the tax of one-half of one per cent. annually. The great majority, however, did not.

It is the holders of these mortgages which contain the Brundage tax clause who are now endeavoring to enforce payment of the mortgages held by them with a view towards having the mortgagors accept new loans from them, the mortgagors bearing the brunt of all expenses incident to the substitution so to be effected.

I have no reason to change the views which I expressed at the recent meeting called by the Real Estate Board of Brokers of this city, to wit: "That the mortgagees cannot enforce such payment at this time." My reasons are as follows: Firstly, as to such mortgages there is now no change in the law.

Secondly. Assuming that there is a change in the law, the holders of such mortgages waived whatever rights they might have had under the Brundage Tax Clause, and for two reasons. First, by reason of laches. In order that they might have availed themselves of the right they should have acted promptly, and particularly so, between the time of the passage of the law and the date fixed by the law for the law to become operative, so that the mortgagors, by acting with diligence, would not have been prejudiced in their right to procure a new loan prior to the time that the new law went into effect.

Secondly, by the acceptance of the payment repeatedly of the semi-annual interest payments, which undoubtedly were made by the mortgagors to the mortgagees, both after the passage of the law and after the law became operative. A mortgagee may not remain silent so long as it may be to his interest to be silent, and then speak up only because it is no longer to his interest to remain silent. A party may waive any right which he may have, whether conferred by statute or otherwise, and a failure to call attention to such right at a time when it should be asserted will constitute a waiver. We have that principle enunciated in various analogous cases. For example: The parties to a building contract may, by their acts, waive a provision therein that subsequent alterations to the building shall be specified in writing. The same parties may, by their act, and particularly by the making and acceptance of payments, waive a provision in such contract that the builder shall procure and produce architects' certificates showing the builder entitled to payment, etc. Parties to a lease may, by their acts, waive a provision therein that the lease shall not be assigned without the written consent of the landlord, and this simply by the landlord's acceptance of rent from the assignee. Likewise the provisions of a policy of insurance on one's life might be waived by the insurer accepting the payment of subsequent premiums. So, many other cases might be cited.

While on this phase of the question, let us ask ourselves, Why did not these mortgagees who are now so anxious that the mortgagors contribute one-half of one per cent. recording tax, and relieve them from the burden which they would have us believe they now bear, bring their mortgages within the operation of the law of 1905, as they had a right to do. If the holders of such mortgages were paying the personal tax which that property at that time should have borne, it seems as though they would have gladly jumped at the chance to pay a smaller tax or else sought to enforce what they now say were their rights. They, however, did neither. Does it not seem that there can be but one answer to the question propounded, and that is that these holders of mortgages paid no tax of any kind on the property owned by them. The law of 1905 gave to mortgagees no right to compel the mortgagor to pay the then tax; in fact, that law made the mortgage usurious if the mortgagor paid the tax. What happened? Let me answer. These mortgagees simply continued in the course of conduct which they had been at all times theretofore pursuing, to wit: Evaded the payment of taxes. Now we see them come forward, and what is more, everyone of them that does so unequivocally by his conduct brands himself. They now believe they see a way in which they need not pay the taxes they never paid, and need not evade the payment of taxes by ways that were devious, etc., but can compel the mortgagor to pay the recording tax. So, without regard to the ethics or morals of the questions involved, they seek to inflict a further burden upon the mortgagor, for the owner of real estate cannot, if he would, hide from the tax collector and escape all burden himself. No words of mine could be, nor words of any orator can be, too strong in condemnation of such men and institutions, and of such actions on their part.

As to the mortgages which were recorded during the year in which the first mortgage tax law was in effect, there is this much to be said for the holders of these mortgages who seek to enforce payment of their mortgages for the purpose of having new loans effected, so as to bring such new loans within the province of the second law. They, in good faith, made the loan which they did make with a view to the payment thereon as taxes of one-half of one per cent. annually, and they were fairly entitled to believe and to rely upon the fact that all they would at any time be called upon to pay would be the same one-half of one per cent. taxes; and as has been well stated heretofore by another, if such a mortgagee offers to reduce the rate of interest on his mortgage by one-half of one per cent. then the mortgagor should, in accordance with all good principles of morals, and in accordance with the equitable rights of the mortgagee, consent to a satisfaction of the old mortgage, and to execute and deliver a new mortgage, the mortgagor paying the recording tax and even all additional incidental expenses. Here, again, however, we have the title companies doing that which is unfair, as is well known by those who have had occasion to procure such change in their mortgage loans. The titles to property on which such loans are made are always insured by the title companies, the mortgagor paying the expense of such insurance. In the cases in question, by reason of the fact that the existing mortgages are cancelled and new mortgages executed for the purpose of coming within the provisions of the new recording tax, the companies treated them as though the same were entirely new loans and in nowise related to the last mortgage, and as though made between different parties, and required the payment of the full fee for the issuance of the new policy. Here, too, it seems as though equity would require the companies to simply continue the policy of title insurance in relation to the new mortgage, replacing the old mortgage, where such a step is taken simply for the purpose of bringing the entire transaction within the provisions of the existing law, and not to insist upon the absolute technical right which the title companies unquestionably have to enact the new fee.

Now, as to the question of the legal rights between the mortgagor and the mortgagee under such mortgages, the answer is not so easy.

The mortgagee, to enforce his demand for payment, would have to resort to an action instituted for the foreclosure of the mortgage, and that is an action in equity. The parties to such suit would then be before a court of equity and the rights of the parties would have to be adjudicated in accordance with equitable principles. Both the mortgagor and the mortgagee will then have to do equity as well as have equity done towards each other. I believe that the court in its endeavor to grant equitable relief will examine into the history of the tax legislation and examine into the conditions existing at the time of the making of the loan, and where either party has made a proper and equitable tender, it is my belief that the court will not require more to be done. The question of waiver which I speak of at the outset also in a measure enters into the question here.

I don't share the belief of Mr. Bailey, of the Title Company, that new legislation is required to bring existing mortgages under the provisions of the existing 1906 recording act. Attorneys frequently have occasion to re-record instruments. Personally, I have frequently had occasion to have instruments re-recorded for the purpose of correcting errors appearing in the first record. There is nothing in the Recording Acts prohibiting a man from causing an instrument to be recorded as often as he pleases, if he desires to pay the fees. I know of no provision preventing the recording of a deed or of a mortgage once a year or once a month or every year or every month, if the holder of the instrument takes a notion to have that done. If that is so, I don't see what there is to prevent the holders of mortgages recorded in the year 1905 and subsequent to the enactment of the first mortgage tax from having their instruments re-recorded, paying the recording tax, and then claiming the exemption which the law gives to mortgages recorded after July 1, 1906. While it will be true that those mortgages were recorded prior to that date, and therefore subject to taxation as personal property, unless otherwise exempt, yet, having been recorded after July 1, 1906, they are exempt from personal taxation, and the exemption would take preference over the prior condition by reason of its being the latter status of the mortgage. I believe, that there, too, the courts, if appealed to, would grant the proper relief and would not permit any such gross discrimination to exist which Mr. Bailey and many others think does not exist.

In any event, be the respective rights what they may, there is nothing in the existing condition of affairs which justifies the attempted extortion by so many mortgagees, and it is time that the press of this city took the matter up and held these individuals and institutions up to public execration.

BUILDING NOTES

Robert W. Gardner, architect, formerly of 1267 Broadway, has moved his office to 122 West 29th st.

Fitzhugh Townsend, Assoc. M. Am. Inst. E. E., a consulting engineer and instructor in the Columbia University, died on Dec. 11 of typhoid fever, aged 35 years.

Messrs. Hazen & Whipple, consulting engineers, No. 220 Broadway, Manhattan, have been retained to report upon certain features of the water supply at Brisbane, Australia.

Accidents due to the destructive action of buried creeks, many of which still flow across Manhattan, have happened before, and unless some modern method of prevention is devised we may yet hear of a greater calamity than the mere swallowing up of a wagon.

Owing to the many inquiries received from San Francisco in regard to Rapp's fireproof doors and trim, the company has sent Mr. H. W. Benedict to the coast to personally look after the business. Mr. Benedict is now staying at the Globe Hotel, 1113 Broadway, Oakland, and is expected to remain about five months.

The U. S. Civil Service Commission will hold an examination in all large cities on January 9, 10 and 11 of candidates for positions as mechanical draughtsmen. The examination of candidates for places as architectural and structural draughtsmen, originally scheduled for Dec. 5 and 6, will be held Jan. 9 and 10.

Considerable interest centers in the test which the Building Department has directed fireproof block manufacturers to have their materials undergo. The test will be severe, some say, and will exclude wet and dry compression. A few manufacturers express confidence at the outcome, while others are reticent.

James S. Coleman, the well-known Manhattan contractor and builder of public works, died Dec. 16, aged 63 years. Mr. Coleman took part in building the new Cro-on dam, the West Shore tunnel at Weehawken, and constructed thousands of miles of railroads in various parts of the country. His home was at 38 East 69th st.

Question as to the Right to Call Mortgages.

The views of Mr. Bailey, vice-president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., were quoted to the extent of a column in the Brooklyn Eagle of Monday, regarding the Brundage clause, concluding as follows:

"There is an open question as to whether the clause referred to allows that these mortgages be called. Some holders of mortgages, not ourselves, have advised that this clause did give them the right to call their loans and demand a new mortgage made tax free under the recording act. It is with regard to the right of a mortgagee under that clause in relation to mortgages made prior to July 1, 1905, and not yet due, that the controversy has arisen in New York.

"Some lenders—and there always are such men—have demanded from borrowers the payment of the mortgages because the rates are now higher than the rates at which they originally made their loans. This company has not adopted any such practice in any of its mortgages, and does not expect to so do. It is hoped that those who have charge of those dealing in real estate will differentiate between those who are compelled to act under a bad law and the makers of such a bad law on whom the blame must rest. I know of no more foolish, simple and incompetent legislation than an act which says that if you take a new mortgage and have new papers and record them, the mortgage is exempt, but you can't take the old papers over and pay one-half per cent. and have the same mortgage exempt. In other words, it says, 'Mr. Lender, you can have a mortgage exempt from personal taxation provided you make it as expensive as you possibly can to a borrower, and then those who pass such legislation spend time orating upon the evils of lenders.'"

The Architectural Record, January, 1907.

A perusal of the contents of the January issue of the magazine reveals a series of articles of unusual diversity of interest to public and profession. From its treatment, on the one hand, of the very latest development of American mural decoration in the Knickerbocker Hotel, to a discussion of the merits and possibilities of faience for architectural purposes, it adds pictorial interest in its display of several very attractive American country houses and a modern French chateau, besides several bank buildings. The table of contents follows:

Assignments of Mortgages.

By a veritable accident the Record and Guide failed to print in its last issue an important communication from an official of the Mutual Life Insurance Company. With regret for the accident and consequent delay, the communication is printed below:

"The Record and Guide of Dec. 1, 1906 (page 908) states that the Mutual Life Insurance Company, for the first ten months of 1906, made 77 real estate loans, aggregating $3,430,500. During this period the Mutual Life closed over 200 loans, aggregating over $20,750,000. Of the amount more than $14,000,000 was loaned in New York County. Perhaps the Record and Guide does not include assignments of mortgages which amount to over $11,000,000."

James Pyle & Sons, manufacturers of "Pearline," whose business has outgrown facilities of their New York works, and who planned a large plant on the Erie tracks at Edgewater, N. J., last year, now have it completed and in operation.

The Bronx Subway Routes.

When the various Taxpayers' Associations of the Bronx got together and submitted their views to Borough President Haffen at a hearing in Borough Hall, three subway extensions were agreed upon and approved by the borough authorities. These three roads were the Jerome av and White Plains av lines and a road up Westchester av and thence northerly to Pelham Bay Park.

At that time there was no means of reaching Pelham Bay Park on a direct line, as no thoroughfare had been laid out. Since that time the Borough President has carried out an idea for a trunk thoroughfare, which is no less than an extension on a tolerably straight line of Westchester av to Pelham Bay Park and the city boundary.

Such an avenue was laid out on the map with the approval of the Board of Estimate and title proceedings instituted. These proceedings have now gone so far that the city can take title in a short time. This Westchester av extension is an entirely new street, running through private property.

When the Board of Estimate met on Friday, Dec. 6, the question of subway routes received practical consideration. Previously the Rapid Transit Commission had been demanding action upon pending routes, so that the letting of contracts for construction might go forward. Comptroller Metz, who by virtue of his office, is a member of the Rapid Transit Commission, promised to secure speedy action, and the result is seen in what was accomplished on Dec. 6.

We learn from the North Side News that when the calendar came under the eye of the President of the Bronx, he perceived that the White Plains av line had been overlooked, and upon his motion the White Plains av route was included in the list of routes submitted for adoption.

Fortunately the necessary consent for the Jerome and White Plains av lines had been obtained, and so they could be approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The Jerome av road will be a subway and will cost $13,000,000. It has not yet been decided whether this line will be a three or four-track road. It will connect with the present Interborough system as well as the northward extension of the new subways, the construction of which will soon be commenced.

Simultaneously with the approval of the roads on Jerome and White Plains avs, the tri-borough route was also adopted. This line, in the procuring of which Borough President Coler has been active, has its lower end on Coney Island and reaches the Bronx by running up the east side of Manhattan Island to and under the Harlem and up Lincoln av to 138th st. At this point the line makes a loop by which it branches off on the west side to and up Gerard av to Jerome av. On the east a turn is made to and up the Southern Boulevard to Westchester av and up Westchester av to and through its extension to the city line.

The Traders' Paper Board Company has located at Bogota, N. J., where it is constructing large works for the manufacture of paper-board.

Washington Heights has not seen since the boom a week of greater activity in real estate than this present one, and, indeed, in the absence of a confirmation of the report of a transfer of the northwest corner of Madison av and 34th st, the outskirts of the city have monopolized the most notable transactions of the week. A transaction for a vacant square bounded by Broadway, Wadsworth av, 181st and 182 sts, and a trade involving an apartment house and a block front on Broadway between 158th and 159th sts, together with a number of lesser transactions including a large foreclosure sale, attracted favorable attention to Washington Heights. A syndicate which already owned large tracts on and near Throggs Neck, added to its holdings the Coster estate at the corner of the Eastern Boulevard and Throggs Neck, and will await the onward march of population to bring a great profit. Seven thousand feet of waterfront and several hundred acres of beautifully situated land constitute a very exceptional investment in city property for these times. Somebody's gift of 175 lots to be added to the New York University grounds, on Fordham Heights, was a much-talked-of transaction, for which credit is being given to Mrs. Sage. The week's business south of 42d st, although rather limited, included a few high grade properties, but mostly consisted of tenement sales, and on the whole, except for the very notable transactions heretofore mentioned, a week of disagreeable weather naturally produced rather less business than is usual in a similar period.

Fifth Avenue Site for Mr. Frick.

5TH AV.—Henry C. Frick is said to be the buyer of the Lenox Library site on 5th av, between 70th and 71st sts, forming a plot of 200x125. Mr. Lewis Cass Ledyard, one of the trustees of the Lenox heirs, negotiated the deal. Mr. Frick has a lease of the Vanderbilt mansion, at the northwest corner of 5th av and 51st st, which has several years to run and will not take title to his new purchase until the new library at 42d st is completed, so as to allow ample time for the removal of these rare collections, of which it is said there are about seventy thousand volumes. This library was a gift to the city by James Lenox, it being incorporated in 1870. Mr. Lenox prized his precious literature at one time to the extent that he would not permit his historian to consult his manuscripts, also barring the bookbinder from inspecting them. Mr. Lenox, however, turned his library over to the public in 1875, presenting the land and massive building to which this voluminous collection was transferred. That Mr. Frick will entirely remove the present edifice is probable, though it would seem as if much of it could be used in the new mansion.

STH AV.—Friedman & Chenken sold for R. Maplesden 2547, 2553 and 2555 8th av, three 5-sty flats, with stores, each 25x85, to a Mr. Klein.

$500,000 Trade on Washington Heights.

BROADWAY.—The Hudson Realty Co. sold to the Fluri Construction Co. the block front, 200x100, on the east side of Broadway, between 158th and 159th sts, now being excavated for the purpose of erecting a tall apartment house. The Fluri Construction Co. gave in exchange for this the Washington Heights, a handsome 6-sty elevator apartment house, 100x100, situated on the northeast corner of Broadway and 159th st, the same which was completed last fall, is almost fully rented. Mr. Jacobs, of the Hudson Realty Co., adds that the better the house the quicker they rent in this section of the city. Mr. Leo M. Mosauer, of Jacob Leltner's office, is reported to have negotiated the deal.

Another Large Washington Heights Transaction.

BROADWAY.—A. Hollander has sold the vacant block bounded by Broadway, Wadsworth av, 181st and 182d sts, 170x161x172x184.4, to Adolph M. Bendheim, who gives in exchange the northeast corner of Broad and Front sts, an 8-sty building, 24x65.9.

164TH ST.—Max Freeman sold for George N. Reinhart to Ratze Brenke 689 to 697 East 164th st, a 2-family house and brick stable, on a plot 97x200. The buyer recently acquired the adjoining property, 50x200, through the same broker.

213TH ST.—A. Shatzkin & Sons bought the block front in the south side of 213th st, from Maple av to Carlisle pl, 200x100; also, a plot, 50x100, in the west side of Carlisle pl, 100 ft. south of 213th st.

BERGEN AV.—A. M. Johnson & Co. sold for Joseph Engle 652 and 654 Bergen av, two 3-sty frame buildings, 34x131.5x irregular.

TINTON AV.—William Danzeiser resold the 5-sty flat, with store, at the southwest corner of Tinton av and 169th st, 80.2x59.8x70x21, known as 1247 Tinton av and 968 East 169th st.

Another Large Acreage Sale.

THROGGS NECK.—A syndicate organized by Benjamin Klee (A. Barnard, president, and Edwin Meyers, treasurer), acquired the Coster estate at Throggs Neck, about 31 acres, situated at the corner of the Eastern Boulevard and Throggs Neck rd. They now own the Havemeyer, Bruce Brown, Turnbull and Coster estates, about 350 acres, with more than 7,000 ft. of the finest water front lands in the Bronx, and costing about $2,000,000. The brokers who negotiated these sales were Samuel Fleisch, who represented Mr. Klee; Joseph Veit and Louis A. Risse, former chief engineer of the Bronx, and who was largely instrumental in the building and laying out of that borough. Mr. Risse has acted in an advisory capacity for the syndicate, and, together with Messrs. Fleisch and Veit, will have full charge of the development of these lands. These purchases are made for speculative purposes. William Ebling, who bought the Stephen Kelly tract of 15 acres, adjoining the Coster estate, about a year ago for $5,000 an acre, refused, an offer of $8,000 an acre for his holdings.

Schwab Acres to New York University.

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS.—J. Clarence Davies sold to N. Y. University the property known as the Schwab estate, consisting of about 175 lots running from Sedgwick av on the west to Aqueduct av on the east, and extending from the campus of the University south to 180th st. It contains the residence of the Schwab family and the Herman Schwab residence. The property is the site of what was known as Fort No. 8 during the Revolutionary War, being one of the lines of defense which stretches south along the Harlem River from Fort Independence at Kingsbridge, and is one of the highest points, if not the highest, along that side of the Harlem River. It has been the Schwab family residence over fifty years, this family being well known in connection with the North German Lloyd Line. This very greatly extends the grounds of the University and adds 14 or 15 acres to their beautiful site at University Heights. While the Chancellor concealed the identity of the donor by saying that the farm had been bought by friends of the University and presented to the institution free of encumbrance as a Christmas gift, it is currently reported that the gift came from Mrs. Russell Sage. Gustav Schwab, who later became a member of the firm of Oelrichs & Co., agents for the North German Lloyd Line, lived in the house he built until his death in 1888, and his widow continued to reside there until her death in 1904. Some years ago the late Herman Schwab, a son of Gustav Schwab and brother of Gustav H. Schwab, the present agent of the North German Lloyd Line, built a small brick house on the farm a few yards away from his father's residence, and these two brick structures are the only buildings except a few outbuildings. The smaller house is now occupied by a family, whose lease has a few months longer to run. While the farm is for the most part covered with fine elms and oak trees, there is much level lawn space, the whole being a model addition to an ideal college campus. In the negotiations which resulted in the turning over of the property to the school Mrs. Sage was represented by Henry W. De Forest. The price paid is said to have been about $300,000.

WEST FARMS RD.—Geo. J. McCaffrey & Son sold for the estate of Smith W. De Voe, dock property on the east side of West Farms road, 438 ft. north of 174th st, 130x30x irregular, this property having been in the De Voe family for over 60 years.

LEASES.

S. Osgood Pell & Co. leased to A. Freedlander & Co. 23 West 36th st for a term of years at an aggregate rental of over $150,000.

M. & L. Hess leased for Brody, Adler & Koch 30,000 sq. ft. in the new 11-sty and basement building, 8-10 West 19th st, for a term of years.

John J. Boylan leased for William Esselborn to Hugo Gutfreund for a term of ten years the stable and loft building No. 518 West 48th st.

M. & L. Hess leased for the Union Square Realty Co. 6,000 sq. ft. in 16-18 East 16th st, and for M. H. Beers 7,000 sq. ft. in 7 East 17th st.

E. V. Pescia & Co., of 99 Nassau st, leased for Annie Putter to a client the 6-sty double tenement, with stores, at 417-419 East 74th st for a term of years.

E. Tanenbaum & Co. leased to Hackett, Carhart & Co., for the Master Builders' Realty & Construction Co., 7,500 sq. ft. in the new 13-sty building 10-12-14 East 12th st. The lease is for a term of years.

Pocher & Co. leased the following: 331 West 37th st, entire building, for B. F. Poth to Walter L. Herbert, for a term of years; also the private dwelling at 120 East 54th st for John D. Wing to Bernard Hagen; also store at 634 6th av, for the United Merchants Impts. Co. to Kauffman & Co.

Frederick Fox & Co. leased for Francis Bannerman 499 Broadway, together with the store and basement at 70 Mercer st, to the Eastern Manufacturing Co., for a term of years; also for Sherman B. Townsend 8,000 sq. ft. in 11 East 17th st; for Herman Hohns, 7,500 sq. ft. in 40 East 12th st.

Heil & Stern leased for the 14th St. Bank in their building at the northeast corner of 5th av and 14th st the entire upper part, consisting of five floors, containing about 30,000 sq. ft. The bank will make extensive alterations to the property. The lessees are Messrs. H. Kitzinger & Co., and the lease covers a term of years.

SUBURBAN.

Fred H. Cozzens, of Brooklyn, bought through Cornelius Kolff the Hutaf farm of 40 acres at Richmond Valley, Staten Island.

Cornelius Kolff has just taken title to a plot, 50x100, on Stuyvesant pl, Staten Island, and is having plans prepared for a 6-sty office building to be erected on the site.

E. Sharum sold to M. Depan 191 Harrison st, 121-123 East 23d st and 477 Graham av, three 2-family and 4-family houses in Paterson, N. J. The seller took as part payment a country residence and 76 acres of land at Indian Lake, N. Y.

Jesse C. Bennett & Co. sold the John J. Croke farm, situated between Whitlock and Great Kills station, consisting of 130 acres, and fronting on Amboy road, Grand Boulevard and Great Kills Bay. This is a valuable piece of property for subdivision, having large water frontage and large frontage on Grand Boulevard.

More Interborough Rapid Transit Economy.

The coating of dirt is so thick upon the windows of some of the subway cars that one's sight is befogged in attempting to look through them, even after emerging from the underground. Of course, window cleaning is expensive, and no doubt Mr. Hedley would feel hurt were any complaints or suggestions offered, as he has already expressed a desire to have outsiders mind their own business.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

The report in the daily press this week of the sale of 588 5th av, a 6-sty brick and stone business building, is denied by the owner, Henry G. Trevor.

At a meeting of the Bronx Real Estate Auctioneers the following officers were elected: Julius H. Haas, president; Thomas T. Uren, vice-president; Walter Whewell, secretary, and Edward Polak, treasurer.

The city of New York took title to 48 Irving pl during the past week. The property is near 17th st and is a part of the block frontage upon which the Board of Education will erect a building for its own use.

Robert E. Bliss, for several years with Charles H. Easton & Co., real estate agents and brokers, 116 West 42d st, has made a connection with Edward C. Williams, 135 Broadway, who has recently closed contracts for several important parcels of realty.

Lotos Club is said to have an option on Nos. 56 to 60 West 48th st, 60x100.5. The present owner of No. 56 is Louise R. Weed, of No. 58, Julia M. Foster, and No. 60, Robert Jaffray. The Lotos Club recently sold its home at 558 5th av, near 46th st, to Jacob Needle for $750,000.

It was announced during the week that Staten Island is to have a new theatre; in fact, the first real theatre on the island. It will be on the pattern of the American Theatre in 42d st and will seat 1,800. The building will cost about $225,000. Its location is in Main st, Stapleton, where excavations have already begun.

Chas. Leopold, of 169 East 74th st, New York, offers for sale the following lots in the Bronx: Corner Gun Hill road and Decatur av, 50x100, with 25x100 on Decatur av, on the east side of Decatur av, 100 ft. from Gun Hill road, 50x100. In the Borough of Manhattan: Northwest corner of 145th st and Lenox av, 80x100; good for building site.

It has become quite noticeable of late that many churches in the older sections of Manhattan are taking advantage of the rise in property values and are disposing of their holdings at large advances over original cost, thus enabling them to purchase sites in locations better suited for their purpose, and to erect thereon more modern houses of worship.

No five-cent fare on the Pennsylvania lines. "We are not doing a local business," said Vice-President Rae. This is rough on Queens, but who had any right to expect anything different? Mr. Belmont's tunnel may do better by us, but Mr. Belmont himself has nothing to say at present. The Pennsylvania evidently means to insist on the full commutation fare.

Mr. Sheldon B. Shaw, of Richard V. Harnett & Co., 73 Liberty st, Manhattan, says: "While there is no doubt that mortgage money is more plentiful than it was a month ago, it is still difficult to place applications. This unsatisfactory condition is exerting a retarding influence in the sales department, and has resulted in many postponements in the signing of contracts of purchase."

It is stated that a large number of mortgagees who, previous to the present agitation, had suits pending to foreclose mortgages upon which payment demanded under the Brundage or similar clauses had been refused, have discontinued legal proceedings in such cases. This is regarded by brokers and operators as an admission of weakness on the part of lenders with respect to their legal right to enforce payment under the provisions mentioned.

A new title company recently incorporated with a capital of $150,000 is the Empire Title Guarantee Company, with temporary offices at 3 Park row. This company was formed at a meeting of over one hundred Manhattan and suburban real estate brokers, who have subscribed 90 per cent. of the stock of $150,000. The company expects in the early part of January to elect permanent officers and commence business, and ultimately the capital stock will be increased to $3,000,000.

It is said that the Thaw family, of Pittsburgh, who have acquired costly dwellings in Manhattan, are desirous of disposing of their holdings on account of the unpleasant notoriety brought upon them by Harry K. Thaw. Edward Thaw, brother of Harry K., sold his residence at 4 East 89th st. The house was built for Mr. Thaw only recently by Ronald H. Macdonald & Co. The house at 1054-5 5th av, which was purchased by Mrs. Thaw in the early part of the year, was also reported sold. See in reported sales column for detailed description.

Mr. E. Tanenbaum, of E. Tanenbaum & Co., 656 Broadway, Manhattan, in speaking of renting conditions along Broadway, alluded to the marked absence of "to let" signs on that thoroughfare. "Practically everything is rented," said Mr. Tanenbaum, "and the few remaining signs generally refer to short leases." Upon being asked his opinion of the condition of the mortgage branch of the real estate business, Mr. Tanenbaum said that loans are much easier to place than formerly, which indicated a less stringent condition in the money market.

A loan of $1,500,000 at 4½ per cent. was made on Tuesday by Mrs. O. Sage, widow of Russell Sage, on the property of the Lands Purchase Company on the south side of Wall st, 107.6

west of William st, and has until Feb. 1, 1910, to run. The following loans made by Mrs. Sage on real estate in Manhattan have been recorded in the Register's office: on the New York Hippodrome, $1,200,000; on the Hotel Breslin, $1,650,000; on Park Row Building, $2,500,000; on a plot 87.3x46.1, at northwest corner 62d st and Broadway, $175,000; and on a plot 47.3x98.9, on south side of 34th st, 643 ft. east of 7th av, $450,000. All of the above loans are at 4½ per cent.

Mr. H. White, of 1471 St. Nicholas av, near 184th st, says things are fair to middling on Washington Heights. While this was a bad renting season, there were some places being rented. Both improved and unimproved properties were being sold right along. He said the subway arrangements were contemptible. The traffic at 181st st station was so great that people had to stand and wait for an elevator. He was at a loss to know why the company did not run their cars to 181st st, instead of switching back at 168th st, when there is so much demand for it. The fact seemed to be that the company did not care or try to do what's right.

Mr. Louis Becker, of 2003 Amsterdam av, has been appointed sole agent for the management of the newly constructed 6-sty apartment houses at the northwest corner of Amsterdam av and 159th st, southwest corner of 159th st and Amsterdam av, 2006 Amsterdam av, No. 509 West 159th st, No. 504 West 159th st, and the whole block front of houses on the easterly side of Amsterdam av, between 158th and 159th sts, also Nos. 524-26 West 159th st. When Mr. Becker first established his office at the above address many years ago, his building was the most northerly elevator apartment house on Manhattan Island. He now finds himself surrounded with dozens of them, to the north, south, east and west. Although the houses above mentioned have scarcely been completed, many of the apartments have been rented to desirable tenants. Within the last month Mr. Becker has received the agency of over twenty-five houses newly completed on Washington Heights.

Many Sales in the Pennsylvania Terminal Section.

The numerous sales which have lately occurred in the Pennsylvania Terminal section reflect an unmistakable growth of confidence on the part of real estate speculators in the future value of property within that zone. Brokers are daily in receipt of inquiries from all quarters concerning prices of old buildings in the locality, and indications point to the closing of several transactions of importance before the beginning of the new year. It is generally believed that some of the recent purchases, especially in 32d and 34th sts, will result in the improvement of the sites acquired by the erection of modern store and loft buildings. Just what the character of 32d st between 6th and 7th avs will be, it is difficult to determine, but realty experts express the opinion that it is likely to become one of the most active side streets in the terminal section. It is certain, though, that a large part of the Pennsylvania traffic will pass through that thoroughfare, and it is therefore not unreasonable to assume that values will be correspondingly affected.

The recent sales of 106-8, 138-40, 144, 154 and 156 West 32d st, all of which are situate on the south side of the way, are an evidence of the preference which buyers have shown for property in this street. In direct contradistinction, the absence of activity on the north side of 33d st is noticeable, and has been the subject of comment during the past week. No sales of note have taken place on this side of the street since the purchase of the northeast corner of 7th av. Whatever the cause of this temporary dullness may be, brokers and operators advance the belief that it cannot be of long duration.

Thirty-fourth st has emerged from its inactive state and has contributed important sales during the past month, among them being the purchase of 156-58-60 between 6th and 7th avs, and 215 to 223 between 7th and 8th avs. Another parcel, 214, has been sold twice in the last three months, and is the latest addition to the interesting list of transactions effected in the terminal district.

It has been intimated, however, that the prices which have been obtained for realty in the streets referred to have been excessive and out of proportion, more especially in view of an uncertainty which still exists as to the class of building which will best meet the requirements of the changing locality. It is argued that in the event of a consolidation of interests between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the McAdoo Tunnel Company with respect to a joint erection by them of an arcade which might extend from 6th to 7th avs, that the effect of such a structure would exert other than a beneficial influence in values, particularly in 32d and 33d sts. While plans have not taken any definite shape in the indicated direction, the possibility of the result of such an undertaking is worthy of thoughtful consideration.

—Brooklyn realty men predict that there will be some busy times next spring, by which time the market will have fully recovered its equilibrium. The boom sections picked out are Queens, the Bay Ridge and Flatbush sections, which will profit most by improvements which are now pending. But how Flatbush can boom again with the extreme prices that are being asked is difficult for the public to see, unless the designation "Flatbush" means something different than the general acceptance. So much of Brooklyn is now called "Flatbush," that almost any statement can in truth be made for it. As the case stands, extreme prices have blocked the market in Prospect Park South and in the adjacent neighborhoods, but certain other Flatbush neighborhoods, far to the south, may come in for some real business in the spring.

Inefficiency of Rapid Transit Board.

Real estate brokers throughout the boroughs of Manhattan and the Bronx continue to manifest feelings of dissatisfaction regarding the management of all transit roads operating in these boroughs. Mr. J. Clarence Davies, referring to the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, remarked this week that it was his opinion that they should be removed. "What we want are live men," he said; "this is not a dead town. What have they done? It took them about fifteen years to build one road when three should have been built."

Mr. Davies called attention to the elevated structure at 150th st and 3d av, connecting with the subway, which has ruined the abutting property, and is now used by the Interborough Company to side-track cars on, thereby causing the public every possible inconvenience. As to the 4th av trolley cars, he was unable to patronize them at all during rush hours, being compelled to hire a cab to get home. Even during the day so few cars were run as to cause unnecessary congestion and delay.

Passing of an Old Church.

The property of the 7th Avenue United Presbyterian Church, fronting on 7th av between 12th and 13th sts, was sold during the week, and it is the intention of the buyer to alter the old edifice into an office and loft structure. The property has a frontage of 92 ft. and a depth of 100 ft., and is regarded as one of the most desirable parcels in that section. Owing to the building of the McAdoo tunnel, values have greatly increased in the vicinity, and as a result there is a growing demand for well located realty in the neighboring streets and avenues.

Long Island Real Estate Matters.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Board of Governors of the Long Island Real Estate Exchange was held at Shanley's, on Broadway, Manhattan, on December 18, amid felicitations at the success of the reconvened convention. It is significant of the interest taken by the Governors in their Exchange that twenty-two members out of twenty-five were in attendance at the meeting of the board, and that is about the average attendance at all meetings. A large number of propositions were received as a result of the convention, but only the following were acted upon at the meeting, and which were elected: Rickert-Finlay Realty Co., Leo Bugg, representative; Henry Clay Weeks, of Bayside, Long Island; E. R. Berau's Realty Company, Hollis, Long Island; Edwin M. Rowley, Northport, Long Island; William Olpp; J. W. Dollittle; Frank Sovack; Stanley E. Gunnison, representative of Hollis Park Company; S. Osgood Pell & Co. President Kempner reported that he had signed the lease for the new headquarters of the Exchange, to be located at No. 349 5th av, southeast corner 34th st, in the building known as Billings' Court. The headquarters have been leased for five years and will occupy the fifth loft of the building. It is expected that the Exchange will be opened for business on the first day of January, 1907.

The Home Builders' Exposition occupied considerable attention during the meeting, and resulted in the selection of an Exhibition Committee of nine members, and the general man-

Many People Want to Study Real Estate

They want to know what it means to buy and sell property, all about contracts, deeds mortgage, etc.

There is a book which tells all about this, "Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate," by Geo. W. Van Sicken agement of the exhibition is to be in the hands of President Kempner. The committee is as follows: H. Allen Tenney, W. A. Ryan, L. H. Pounds, H. P. Engelhardt, J. F. Mincher, J. W. Paris, William Richensteen, A. L. Langdon and Otto Kempner. This committee met for the first time on December 21, and made preparations for an active and aggressive campaign. The executive office for the management of the exhibition will be at the Exchange headquarters, where all communications may be addressed from now on.

One of the questions that engaged the attention of the board, raised by Mr. Engelhardt, related to the subject of compiling a register of non-members to consist of reputable brokers, with whom members could engage in transactions and share brokerage fees. After an extended debate it was decided that every broker who may desire to become registered must also become a regular member of the Exchange and pay the usual membership fee. Mr. William Richensteen spoke of the importance of taking up the matter of protecting brokers by some legislative enactment, and on his motion the subject was referred to the committee on Law and Legislation for immediate action. The instructions of the convention regarding the amendment of the city charter so as to provide a separate Park Commissioner for the Borough of Queens and a separate fund for the maintenance of parks in Queens County were also considered and assigned to the appropriate committee for proper action. It was stated at the meeting that at an early day a committee of the Exchange would make a tour of inspection of Long Island in company of State Engineer-elect Skene with a view to locating the best available route for the grand Long Island Boulevard that the Long Island Exchange proposes to advocate most strenuously.

Want Fort Hamilton Removed.

The West End Board of Trade of Brooklyn is of the opinion that the defenses at Fort Hamilton are not of sufficient importance to warrant the maintenance of this historic post, and voices the belief that the batteries at Sandy Hook are powerful enough to deter a hostile fleet from gaining an entrance into the inner harbor and doing considerable damage. The members of the Board of Trade further believe that it would be desirable to raze the army buildings at the fort, dismantle the batteries and turn the reservation into a city park, and to this end they have asked Representative Waldo to take up the subject with the War Department. It is needless to say that the proposition comes in the nature of a surprise to War Department officials since they have been busy making plans for the enlargement and development of this famous post into one of the most important stations of defense on the eastern coast. Fort Hamilton has always been regarded by army officers as a very important post, and it is believed that any suggestion toward the abolishment of same will meet with strong disfavor on their part. It must be admitted, however, that the reservation is very much in the way of real estate expansion and blocks traffic between Bay Ridge and Bath Beach. If the Shore road could be cut through the fort and opened to public travel, and trolley cars permitted to run through, the relief and convenience newly afforded would be very great.

Fifty Per Cent. Advance in Queens County Tax Values.

The tax rolls of the Borough of Queens for 1907, which are now being made up by Deputy Assessor Richard Homeyer and his force of inspectors and clerks, will exhibit many changes in taxable values over the preceding year. The development of numerous farms into building lots and the erection of hundreds of new buildings have necessarily advanced the value of real estate in that section of Greater New York. It is said that more than 8,000 new apportionments have been made in the Borough of Queens during 1906, and that considerably more than 10,000 acres of land have been cut up into lots at Bayside, Douglaston and the Broadway section of Flushing, and at such places as Glendale, Hopedale, North Corona and Woodside, in the town of Newtown; and at Union Course, Richmond Hill, Jamaica, South Hollis, Springfield, St. Albans, Queens and Rosedale, in the town of Jamaica. It is interesting to note that about 25,000 lots have been purchased by small investors and that numerous tracts are now being improved with water and gas mains, sidewalks, etc. Property which was assessed in 1905 at $1,000 per acre will this year appear on the assessment rolls at $500 per 20x100 ft. lot. Judging by the ratio of increase in assessments over that of last year, the total real estate valuations of corporate property in Queens county will exceed the figure for 1905 by $60,000,000 and will foot up $200,000,000. A noticeable increase in the values of vacant lots along such highways as Jackson av, Long Island City; Jamaica av, Richmond Hill, and on Fulton st in Jamaica are apparent, such parcels having advanced more than 100 per cent. since the completion of the preceding assessment rolls. For the first ten months of this year plans were filed for 3,503 new buildings, to cost $14,168,917; and the reports of last month indicate that the same average may be counted upon the balance of the year, which will finally amount to about $16,530,303, and to this will be added the item of plumbing, bringing the total to about $18,000,000. This exceeds the cost of the 2,973 buildings for 1905, which amounted to $12,533,324. The sum of $1,250,000 for alterations should also be included. All told, about $19,000,000 will be added to the assessment rolls of Queens county.

Office Building for Williamsburgh.

Stokes & Knowles sold for the Realty Buyers 246 to 256 Broadway, corner Havemeyer st, a plot 121x100. The property faces the Williamsburgh Bridge Plaza and is one of the most valuable in that section of the borough. It is said that the new owner is likely to improve the site by the erection of a modern office building.

A Review of The Real Estate Year 1906 AND A Forecast of the Year 1907

In response to many requests

The Evening Post

last year, for the first time, devoted an entire section of its December 31st edition to an annual review and forecast of the Real Estate world, modelled after its famous financial review. It received such strong commendation that we have decided to make it a permanent feature of our last-day-of-the-year issue.

CONTENTS THIS YEAR:

THE REAL ESTATE REVIEW will contain a complete exposition of all the features of the market of the last year, besides special articles in which public improvements and their relation to the market will be discussed at length. The activity of the year in each borough of New York City and the resultant growth will be treated in special chapters, while New Jersey, Connecticut, Long Island and Westchester County will each be dealt with under separate heads.

The private sales branch of the market and the auction room will be reviewed by experts who have played a leading part in the business of the last year. Special authoritative articles will appear in which the subjects of tenement-house reform, labor, taxation, land speculation, reconstruction, labor and material, the money market, rapid transit, and building loan operations will be discussed.

Among the well-known authorities who will give their views on these subjects are: Robert E. Dowling—William H. Chesebrough—B. Aymar Sands—Daniel B. Freedman—Theodore Starrett—John R. Foley—Joseph P. Day—Isaac W. Maclay—Lawson Purdy—Lawrence Veiller—Charles Griffith Moses—John L. Parish—Edwin Hess—George Slawson—McDougall Hawkes—Edward McVickar—J. Clarence Davies—Albert B. Ashforth.

Copy for advertisements in order to obtain insertion in this section should be in hand by 2 P. M. Saturday, December 29th. There will be no increase in the advertising rates for this issue; the usual card rates will prevail.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

December 14, 15, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

AS the year 1906 closes the stock market situation has improved. This week, as was naturally to be expected, the fear of money stringency is passing, and the disposition to renew operations broadens. Should this boldness born of better feeling extend, it might run into a bull market in January. The outlook is a continuation of prosperous conditions. There may be a currency measure before Congress promising permanent relief to the ever-recurrent currency difficulty. Further, we have a pretty well-liquidated stock market and a fair-sized short interest. The pounding into almost insensibility that the stock market has undergone recently has apparently had good results. The market also benefited from other causes. The Bank of England's rate of discount remains unchanged at six per cent. and the bank's proportion of reserve to liabilities is still about the same. In the Wall Street money market there was also encouragement, lenders showing an increased willingness to accommodate borrowers at a moderate rate, one financial institution loaning large sums at six per cent. The cessation of liquidation in Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific was likewise a favorable factor. Payments against the new stock issue of $30,000,000 by the New York Central Railroad were made on Thursday last, and early next week there will be paid the initial instalment of $10,000,000 on account of the increase in the St. Paul share capital. Some advances have been made in railroad stocks including Union Pacific and Reading and industrial and kindred issues are also considerably higher. But what, after all, vitally interests real estate and building interests is this money question and we may revert to it again by stating that undoubtedly there is a turn for the better which may develop into easy conditions in a very short time, which is a "consummation devoutly to be wished" for all concerned in the use of this necessary commodity.

IT is authoritatively announced that the report of the State Tax Commission will include among other things a recommendation for a graduated income tax; and evidence is already accumulating that many excellent people are alarmed by the proposal. No discussion on the merits of the plan is possible until the details of the new bill and the reasons in its favor are submitted to the public; but even before that announcement, one warning is very much in order. The newspapers are asking why lay such a novel and burdensome tax when the State already has a surplus. This objection disregards the situation, which has made the Tax Commission necessary. The tax system of this State is demoralized at present by the remnants of the old property tax, which is collected, so far as real estate is concerned, but from which personal property is largely exempt. The great task of the Tax Commission was to do away with the anachronisms and inequalities, which result from this antiquated property tax, and to plan a scientific and equitable system of taxation both for the State and for the local governments. The scheme of the Commission must be considered from this point of view: The time is ripe to substitute a consistent modern system of State and local taxation for the hodge-podge under which these revenues are now raised, and it is most devoutly to be hoped that the Commission's plan will contain the essentials both of a fair and complete scheme of taxation and of popular acceptability. The makeup of the Commission seems to indicate that nothing either entirely impracticable or unscientific will be seriously proposed. Prof. Seligman is the leading authority of the United States in matters of taxation and would not lend himself to any plan which, at least, was not a manifest improvement over the present system. On the other hand the Republican politicians on the Commission would probably be careful not to commit themselves to a proposal which would be likely to incur any widespread or violent unpopularity. Consequently New Yorkers must not become alarmed over the word "income-tax." How much the phrase will mean in the report of the Commission we do not know, but it may well mean that the taxation of personal property will hereafter be put upon a basis which will extinguish existing inequalities, which will not bear heavily on any single individual, and which will do something to relieve the burden now falling on real estate.

THE New York Times is doing a public service by constantly drawing attention to the method which, under its existing management, the local transit system is operated. It appears from the report of the Railroad Commissioners for the third quarter of this year that on certain divisions of the system a continued increase in the number of passengers has been accompanied by a further decrease in the car mileage. On the surface lines, for instance, the cash fares increased by over 28,000, while the car mileage decreased by 1,123,895 miles. On the Manhattan division the cash fares increased by 6,277,160, while the car mileage decreased by about 358,000 miles. The Subway was the only division on which a considerable increase of traffic, amounting to about 5,500,000 cash fares, was accompanied by an increase of the car mileage, but this increase in all probability is merely the result of the increase in the amount of track opened for traffic. The much-abused Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company is really the one corporation engaged in the business of carrying large numbers of passengers in this city, which is trying hard to increase its service. The Interborough-Metropolitan Company continues its extraordinary policy of accommodating an increasing traffic with a smaller car mileage. The complaints of its passengers are treated with contempt, and its officials are indifferent to the public opinion which is being aroused against them. They behave as if their position was unassailable and that their responsibility in relation to the public was merely confined to avoiding the creation of an absolutely intolerable condition. It is obvious that they must be forced to recognize a closer and a heavier responsibility. The transit conditions were bad enough before the merger, but instead of improving since the merger, they have actually become worse. Public interest demands that the monopoly exercised by the consolidated company shall be checked and regulated by a local transit commission, with powers to compel obedience to its orders. Such a commission should be carefully constituted, and should be made up, not of politicians like the State Board, but of one lawyer and two railroad experts, and it should have full powers and a sufficient appropriation really to get at the facts as to what increase of service can be safely provided. Governor-elect Hughes is committed to some legislation on behalf of the victims of the New York transit corporations, and it is very much to be hoped that he will recommend a bill of this kind.

THE justices of the Supreme Court are quite right in objecting strenuously to the way in which they are housed by the courts of New York. The old County Court-house is a disgrace to New York, not merely because of its origin, but because of its situation and the accommodations it offers, and the sooner it can be torn down the better it will be for every person who has to use it. But it cannot be torn down until a new one is built; and the site for the new court-house has not as yet even been selected. Five years ago a commission was constituted for the purpose, but it has been unable to agree upon a site, and the matter, consequently, is still hanging fire. The Commission should be re-constituted during the coming session of the Legislature. The old Commission consisted almost exclusively of lawyers; and their interests in respect to the new building were so divergent that they have not succeeded in accomplishing anything. The new Commission should be composed only in part of lawyers. It should contain also business men, a real estate broker, an architect and an engineer. Such a body of men could, in all probability, consider the matter, not from the point of view of their own immediate interests, but from the point of view of the ultimate and general interest of the whole county. It will be remembered that the Commission of lawyers could not reach an agreement as to the comparative desirability of one of several sites near the present court-house and of a site in the vicinity of Union or Washington Square. It is natural that such a disagreement should exist among lawyers, because each of them would consider the matter chiefly from the standpoint of his personal convenience; but so far as the general interest of the county is concerned, the arguments in favor of a site further up-town are much stronger. A site at the south end of Washington Square could be bought for at least one-third the sum that a similar area would cost near the City Hall. The court-house would be thereby removed to a quiet and pleasant part of the city, in which rents would be comparatively cheap and which would give the court-house much more appropriate surroundings than it could obtain in a bustling business district. Wherever possible the city and county government should use every opportunity to de-centralize the business of the city, to distribute it over a wider area and to relieve congestion. A court-house on Washington Square would be a step towards such a better distribution of the business affairs of Manhattan. The one objection which can be urged against it is that it would at times be somewhat inconvenient for lawyers whose offices were necessarily situated down town to reach the court-house; but the inconvenience thereby caused could not amount to much. Before any court-house could be erected on Washington Square, that square or its immediate vicinity will be connected with the financial district by at least three subways, and the journey to and fro would not take, at the outside, more than fifteen minutes. The great advantage of the subway system is that it does facilitate a better distribution of the important centers of business. Such would be its effect in the present instance, and if the new court-house were built on South Washington Square a preliminary step would be taken towards that de-centralization, which as time goes on will become increasingly necessary for the welfare of New York City and its inhabitants. In any event, however, the Commission should be reconstructed at the coming session of the Legislature, and some action should be taken looking towards the erection of a healthy and spacious court-house.

The Right to Record Mortgages.

The Editor Real Estate Record and Guide:

In your issue of Dec. 22d Mr. Saul Bernstein, writing on "Rights of Mortgagors and Mortgagees," stated as follows:

"There is nothing in the Recording Acts prohibiting a man from causing an instrument to be recorded as often as he pleases, if he desires to pay the fees. I know of no provision preventing the recording of a deed, or of a mortgage, once a year or once a month, or every year, or every month, if the holder of the instrument takes a notion to have that done. If that is so, I don't see what there is to prevent the holders of mortgages recorded in the year 1905 and subsequent to the enactment of the first mortgage tax from having their instruments re-recorded, paying the recording tax, and then claiming the exemption which the law gives to mortgages re-recorded after July 1, 1906."

In a circular of instructions and rulings addressed to the various recording officers of the State under date of June 16, 1906, the State Board of Tax Commissioners made the following, among other rulings:

"Second: Mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1906, are relegated to the jurisdiction of the local assessing officers, for the purpose of assessment, and are assessable by such officers as personal property, in the same manner as they were prior to the passage of the Mortgage-Tax Law of 1905; except that mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1906, upon which advances are made subsequent to that date, are to be taxed in accordance with the provisions of Section 301 of the Act, and are thereafter exempted from the jurisdiction of local assessors.

"The re-recording of mortgages after July 1, 1906, when Chapter 532 takes effect, which were originally recorded prior to that day, will not bring such mortgages under the provisions of this Act, nor will it relieve local assessing officers from including such mortgages as a part of the assessment of personal property of the party owning them. . . .

"Fourth: Every mortgage must be given a serial number in your record book, commencing with B-1, on the 1st day of July, and the corresponding number, together with a receipt for the tax, shall be endorsed on the mortgage and recorded with the instrument."

In a circular addressed to "The Assessors of the Various Tax Districts of the State," the State Board of Tax Commissioners informs assessors of its interpretation of the Recording Tax

Law, stating that this interpretation was arrived at in consultation with the Attorney General. The commissioners instructed the assessors as follows:

"The re-recording of mortgages after July 1, 1906, when Chapter 532, of the Laws of 1906, takes effect, which were originally recorded prior to that date, will not bring such mortgages under the provisions of this act, nor will it relieve local assessing officers from including such mortgages as a part of the assessment of personal property, as above stated."

Under the above rulings the recording officers of this county and other counties of the State, have refused to receive recording tax upon instruments which were offered for record apparently merely for the purpose of being re-recorded after July 1. Even if such a mortgage were re-recorded, the assessors are instructed by the State Board of Tax Commissioners to include them in the taxable property of persons assessed for ownership of personal property in the various tax districts.

Mr. Bernstein's position as to the right to record mortgages made before July 1, 1906, may be right, and he might be able to sustain the claim of exemption for mortgages thus recorded, but the assessors throughout the State would probably not act upon this assumption until the Court of Appeals had passed on the question.

In this state of affairs this Association has prepared amendments to the present law for the registering of mortgages recorded prior to July 1, 1906. These amendments will be presented to the Legislature at the coming session.

ALLAN ROBINSON, President,

Allied Real Estate Interests of the State of New York.

Transit Reforms Needed in the Bronx.

The Rapid Transit Committee of the Association of Bronx Real Estate Brokers, Mr. Julius Haas being chairman, has with the approval of the association formulated the following recommendations to the Board of Railroad Commissioners of the State of New York:

Gentlemen: We hereby most respectfully petition your honorable body to aid us to correct the abuses now existing in the general transit facilities in the Borough of the Bronx, and herewith make the following recommendations, which if adopted, we believe will in a very great measure relieve the necessity for more complaints.

First: That the third track (on 2d and 3d av elevated railroad) be at once constructed from Chatham sq to 129th st, and that all island stations in the Borough of the Bronx be taken out and the third track be extended from 129th st to Bedford Park; and that the railroad company be compelled to run express trains on the third track to and from 149th st the entire day, and some express trains farther north during rush hours.

Second: To at once provide a connection between the 3d av elevated and the subway without change of cars by extending the spur now at 145th st, near Willis av, through Willis and Bergen avs to connect with the subway. This can be done by elevated or subway, preferably subway.

Third: That the Rapid Transit Commissioners be requested to at once prepare plans and specifications for widening the present subway and placing two more tracks from 96th st to 149th st and 3d av, and a third track from 3d av to West Farms. If this is done, it will enable the Interborough Railroad Company to run express trains all day long all the way from 149th st to the City Hall and South Ferry, and some express trains farther north during rush hours.

Fourth: We ask the State Railroad Commissioners to recommend to the New York Central & Hudson River R. R. that they bid for the building of the Lexington av subway and connect said subway when built with their tracks at 149th st or 150th st and Park av, thus giving a direct route from 42d st to the city line; and in this connection we would also request the Rapid Transit Commissioners to lay out a new line from 42d st to South Ferry to be the extension of the Lexington av route, so that the present subway will not be overcrowded by having all these other trains running in said subway below 42d st, and that when built the fare on this line shall be five cents from South Ferry to the city line.

Fifth: We request the State Railroad Commissioners to recommend to the officers of the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. that they bid on the construction of the new 3d av route and connect the same with their present line at Willis av and 133d st, as well as to build the extension planned by the Rapid Transit Commissioners to Pelham Bay Park; and when said routes are constructed that they give a five-cent fare from the City Hall and South Ferry to the city line.

Sixth: By having the New York City Interborough R. R. Co. at once equip such portions of their lines as are finished or can be finished in the near future, and run cars thereon, even though some of the tracks must be laid temporarily. The people of the Bronx are willing to change cars and walk a few hundred feet where the same is absolutely necessary on account of the construction of streets.

Seventh: By at once compelling the Union Railway Co. to order 300 to 500 new cars to be run as soon as they can be completed, and the old, dilapidated cars now used by said company to be forced off said lines.

Eighth: We demand that pending the arrival of these new cars the Union Railway Co. use the cars now lying in their several barns, so that the growing public of this borough can have some accommodations.

Ninth: By issuing an order compelling the Union Railway Co. to keep the rear platforms clear, except during rush hours, so that passengers can get on and off the cars without crowding through a pack of smokers.

Tenth: That the laborers of the railroad company be not allowed to ride on the cars with passengers, as they take the place of those who pay their fare and crowd the people of this borough very uncomfortably, especially during rush hours.

Eleventh: We demand that the Union Railway Co. change its entire service at transfer points and be forced to place an inspector at each of said transfer points, so that cars will not run away from passengers being within only a few feet of them simply because there is no one in authority to hold them.

Twelfth: That the Union Railway Co. be compelled to give universal transfers, as under the present system it is necessary in many cases to pay them ten cents to take a short ride; a few cases are hereby illustrated. A passenger desiring to go from 170th st and 3d av to 174th st and Jerome av must pay a ten-cent fare. A passenger desiring to go from Av B, Unionport, to 170th st and 3d av may ride down Westchester av to 3d av and then north on 3d av and pay five cents, while if he Bronx Brokers' Banquet.

(With illustration.)

NOTWITHSTANDING the inclemency of the weather and that many of the guests of the evening were from Manhattan Borough, not a vacant chair could be seen at the second annual banquet of the Bronx Real Estate Brokers at Association Hall, Thursday evening, Dec. 20. Mr. J. Clarence Davies, the toastmaster of the evening, after a few remarks a la Davies, introduced the Hon. Lawson Purdy, President of the Board of Tax Commissioners, who made an interesting address on the "Relation of Bronx Taxpayers to Support of City." The next speaker was Comptroller Herman A. Metz, who said in part:

"We are going to have a Bronx to Coney Island line pretty soon—on paper. [Laughter.] However, you can take it from me, from what I heard at the meeting of the Rapid Transit Board this afternoon, at least one of the new subway lines will be built. That is the East Side subway. I don't want to betray any secrets, but I can say that the Lexington av line will surely be built on the express line, and there will be only one station between 42d st and 125th st. That has been determined upon so that you may be sure of real express service and not any half-way express service.

"You are also going to get the third track on the 3d av and 2d av lines. [Applause.] As for the 3d av subway line, I can't rides by the Tremont av route, which is a much shorter way, it will cost ten cents. A passenger getting on a car at 169th st and Boston road, desiring to ride up 3d av to 170th st, must pay a ten-cent fare, although he can walk the distance in less than ten minutes.

Thirteenth: That the Union Railway Co. be ordered to at once label all their cars going south "Harlem River," instead of "128th st." This will allow them to comply with the law that the car shall go to the destination marked thereon, and still let them turn back when the bridge is open.

Fourteenth: That the Union Railway Co. and the New York City Interborough Railroad Co. be ordered to at once erect shelter stations at all transfer points in the borough.

Sad Condition of Harlem Streets.

Aside from the large water pipes which have obstructed upper 7th av for months past, Harlem owners and residents are compelled to submit to a hold up of the street cleaning arrangements. From two to five barrels of ashes are to be seen in front of each apartment house in the vicinity of 133d to 135th sts, from 5th to St. Nicholas avs, and as far around as the eye can reach. On the north side of 135th st, between 7th and 8th avs, fifty full ash cans were counted on Christmas night. Many to let signs are visible on apartment houses in this district, and it is obvious that these property owners will not thank the city officials for these unsightly obstructions.

Encroachments.

To the Editor Record and Guide:

Will you please publish a clear explanation of the Encroachment Law, as it applies to the City of New York? I say "clear" because the Civil Code seems somewhat ambiguous.

A new codification of all the city ordinances relating to encroachments, projections and incumbrances will be found printed in the City Record of Nov. 1, 1906, and we can do no better than direct your attention to this.

say so much, but I think you will get the White Plains line, and possibly the Jerome av line. You may not get those, however, before you get the third track on the elevated. Some of the Commissioners thought that the third elevated track would interfere with future subways, but the figures for subway travel and 'L' travel for the past few weeks have changed their minds, and any one can see that there will be no interference with subways for the third track. The Corporation Counsel has held up proceedings and asked for instructions with regard to that matter, and we have found out that the Interborough Company is willing to accept a ten-year franchise. Some of the Commissioners were opposed to giving such a franchise as provided for by the Elsberg bill—a twenty-five-year franchise. A ten-year franchise is a different proposition, and the Commissioners will vote for it."

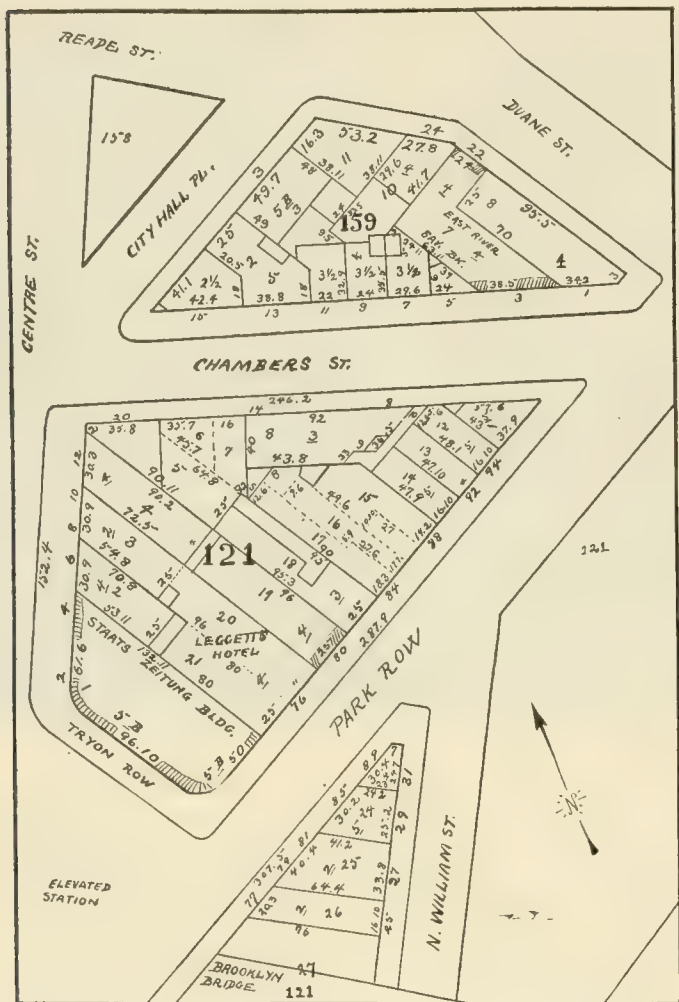

Other speakers of the evening were: Senator-elect John P. Co-halan, on "Legislation for the Bronx"; Commissioner John F. Murray, on "Growth and History of the Bronx"; Hon. John Eustis, on "Bronx Before Annexation," and the Rev. Dr. B. C. Warren, on the "Relation of the Church to the Home in the Bronx." The souvenirs of the evening were miniature flower-pot holders and silver lead pencils.

The brokers and their guests included: Mathew Anderson, Julius H. Haas, Olin J. Stephens, Geo. W. Bard, Wm. Peters, Emil N. Sorgenfrei, David Arthur, Basilus Busch, Frederick Judge, T. H. Thompson, John F. O'Hara, Louis Milton, James J. Donovan, Eugene L. Field, Emanuel G. Bach, Alexander Gerhards, Walter G. Walsh, Morris Wiederman, Joseph Majud, Wm. A. Huntress, Hon. Changes Near the City Hall.

Subjoined is a plan of the triangular blocks of land which have been taken by the city for Brooklyn Bridge purposes. Title issued to the city on Monday, Dec. 24, 1906, by action of the Corporation Counsel, under a resolution of the Board of Estimate. The commission to assess damages and benefits has been appointed but no testimony as to values has yet been taken. An estimate of the total cost of the ground is $5,000,000. Notices were being served this week for tenants to vacate within sixty days, at the end of which period the work of clearing this ground will begin, and a large number of tenants will be displaced, prominent among whom are the printing offices of the Staats Zeitung and the Journal and Leggett's Hotel. For many years it has been the supposition that these blocks would eventually be taken for bridge purposes, and for more than a year matters preliminary and incidental to condemnation proceedings have been in litigation. Plans for the construction of a loop for the elevated and local trains are ready, and bids are about to be advertised for. The pressure for rentable business space in the vicinity has become newly noticeable, though what the esthetic effect of the ungainly structure will be can only be imagined. For certain lines of trade, however, proximity to the terminal is prized beyond all question of the good or bad appearance of the surrounding works. Last March in order to protect themselves, the owners of the Staats Zeitung building purchased an irregular plot at Lafayette, Duane and Pearl sts, having 60 ft. on Duane st and a depth of 160 ft. Plans have been drawn by Schickel & Ditmars, but no building contract has yet been given out. The building will contain 12-stys, and will require the best part of a year to finish. It is understood that the city will also eventually condemn the triangular block bounded by Centre, Duane and Reade sts, besides several lots on the east side of Park st, adjoining St. Andrew's Church. All of these blocks, now crowded with buildings, will be covered by the bridge loop structure, not very handsome in itself but very needful.

Mr. Arneberg, of E. H. Ludlow & Co., 149 Broadway, Manhattan, when asked whether the building of the loop at the bridge terminal would be likely to affect the value of property in the neighborhood, said that he did not know of any reason why it should. Mr. S. Goldsticker, 149 Broadway, said that the building of the extension loop would not in the least affect values in the immediate vicinity. Mr. Schmeidler, of Schmeidler & Bachrach, operators, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, said that while he was not as familiar with the plans as he might be, he did not believe any change in property values would result by the erection of the new terminal. Mr. David Stewart, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, said: "I do not believe that such an improvement will exert a retarding influence on surrounding values, unless the structure will shut off light."

Strange Criticism from a Millionaire.

Mr. J. G. Phelps-Stokes, a gentleman of some distinction as a worker and dweller among the poor of the East Side of New York, has penned a strange letter to the general secretary of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association (318 West 57th st), in which he feels constrained to say that he is sorry to have learned of the establishing "of classes in real estate and stock investment" under the auspices of that association. Such encouragement to young men who seek support from unearned incomes is to his mind very distinctly contrary to the teachings of Jesus.

The rest of it was printed in the daily papers during the week, and by intelligent people was doubtless read with feelings of amusement and commiseration. So far as the real estate classes are concerned, Mr. Phelps-Stokes has misapprehended and misjudged them, as he has also very evidently misunderstood the teachings of Jesus. Inasmuch as he has chosen to link real estate management with stock speculation, and to apply to both a condemnation deserved by neither, and in the case of real estate at least extremely absurd and inapplicable, he will be asked to first separate the strictures intended for property owners and agents from those aimed at stock brokers, when his remarks will be more comprehensible and worthy of consideration; and some attention may also then be paid to his qualifications as a witness. As the matter stands, Mr. Phelps-Stokes is so far beyond the pale of reasonableness that no reply is called for.

Certainly no defence is necessary on the part of the Y. M. C. A. The classes in real estate teach their members concerning the liabilities and responsibilities incident to ownership of real estate, the development of land tenures, the basis of real estate values, building loans, title insurance, appraisals, the management of large properties, the architecture and building of apartment property, the rights and duties of real estate brokers, of landlords and tenants, and the theory and principle of managing a real estate office. Most of this is valuable and necessary knowledge for any man possessing real property, or hoping to possess, or having anything to do with its management or construction. In a word, it is knowledge that most men should be equipped with, that ought in fact to be taught in a larger measure at the public schools, and for teaching which the West Side and other Young Men's Christian Associations are, in the opinion of most men as honorable as Mr. Phelps-Stokes, deserving of the highest commendation.

Streets and Plots.

Editor Record and Guide:

- (a) A having a farm wishes to cut it up in lots. How many lots in an acre, lots 25x100?
 - (b) What is the average length of a block?
 - (c) What is the general width of a street? Also sidewalk?
 - (d) Is there a law governing the above question?
 - (e) If a party has a mortgage on a place and he wishes to pay the mortgage off before the time expires, could not he compel the mortgagee to take the money and give him a clear title to that effect?
 - (f) If a stream running through a party property (B's say) and sewer runs in above B's property, could not B compel the above parties or sewer commission to change the sewer pipe in some other direction, as he wishes to raise fishes in his part?
- Brooklyn. L. W.

Answer.—(a) Twelve, allowing for streets. (b) The length of blocks on the lines of avenues in Manhattan is about 200 ft. on the average. Between avenues they vary from 400 to 900 ft. (c) All the avenues are 100 ft. wide except Aves A, B, C, and D south of 23d st, the Boulevard (Broadway), 150 ft.; Lexington av, 75; Madison, south of 42d, 75 ft.; north, 80 ft.; Park av, north of 34th, 140 ft.; Lenox av north of 110th, 150 ft.; 7th av, north of 110th, 150 ft. Most of the numerical streets are 60 ft. wide. Consult the Topographical Bureau for full information before laying out a building tract in a new section. In streets 40 ft. wide, sidewalks are 10 ft. wide; in streets 50 ft. wide, sidewalks are 15 ft. wide; streets 80 ft. wide have sidewalks 19 ft. wide; above 80, not exceeding 100 ft., sidewalks are 20 ft. wide. (d) No. (e) No. (f) He could not compel it. If there is a sewer commission, such commission would doubtless hear both sides, and then decide.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

United States Steel Corporation to Erect a Warehouse.

The United States Steel Corporation has offered through the Carnegie Steel Co. to purchase a tract of thirteen and a half acres of land owned by the city of Newark, N. J., located in the Waverly section, for the erection of a large warehouse to be used for storing structural material, sheets, plates and bars. The Newark Board of Trade is backing up the Steel Corporation's offer, and Frederick C. Faulks, who represents the company, says that it can secure a site in the immediate vicinity if its proposition is not accepted. It is said that the corporation will use the building for the storage of structural material, in order to gain a better hold on the trade in the vicinity of Manhattan. It is proposed to erect a building at a cost of about $900,000, and if the city decides to sell, work of construction will be begun by April 1.

BUILDING NOTES

Here's to good times in 1907, with plenty of work, and plenty of money to do it with.

Mr. Gardiner M. Lane, of Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, of Boston, Mass., has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Casualty Company of America.

Alexander Potter, consulting engineer, 143 Liberty st, Manhattan, has completed plans for a proposed sewerage system and purification plant at Oxford, Ohio.

A convention will be held on Jan. 8 at the Ashland House, 4th av and 24th st, to form a New York branch of the Structural Building Trades Alliance of America.

Henry M. Hornbostle, of Manhattan, was the principal guest at the fifth annual Christmas banquet of the Chicago Architectural Club at the Auditorium on Thursday evening.

A. Klaber, importer and worker in marble, onyx and stone, has changed his business address, so that his office is at 211 Vernon av with mill and yard foot of 11th st and East River.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission, 299 Broadway, announces an examination to be held Jan. 10, to secure an eligible person for the position of inspector of filter plants in Manhattan, at $1,200 a year; age limit, 21 years.

The Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers has secured quarters in the new Engineering Building in West 39th st. At the last annual meeting the election resulted as follows: President, Francis T. Bowles; vice-presidents, D. W. Tăylor and W. L. Capps; secretary and treasurer, W. M. J. Baxter.

President Cassatt of the Pennsylvania did not live to see his great work in this city completed, but his name will ever be linked with it, as his was the master mind in the great undertaking. Vice President Rae, who has been in direct charge of the metropolitan improvements, is mentioned as the man most likely to succeed Mr. Cassatt as president.

Annually the members of the General Board of Arbitration meet to revise the arbitration plan, should any of the articles of agreement be found in need of improvement. An adjourned meeting of the board having this business in hand will be held on the 12th of January, when the report of a committee will be heard and acted upon, but it is understood that nothing very radical is proposed at this time. The bricklayers, seeing that only half of their large number are under the plan, consider that their share of the expense of maintaining the agreement is disproportionately large, and they object to the Board or Arbitration taking up disputes for employers not under the plan. These and such like trade matters will come before the Board.

The board is somewhat doubtful about getting bids for a subway along Jerome av in the Bronx. So are some of the citizens of the Bronx. This week at the request of some of the people of that section Mr. Metz asked the board to change the plan so as to provide for an elevated on this part of the route. This would not cost nearly as much. He said that people of the Bronx were afraid they would not get any transit relief at all if a subway had to be built. The board decided to offer the subway plan to bidders first and if no bids were received to then offer an elevated.

Jamaica to Have Real Estate Exchange.

Not satisfied with the locating of the Kings and Queens R. E. Exchange in Manhattan, a body of Queens brokers have resolved to form another exchange. About twenty real estate brokers of Jamaica met in the office of the United States Title Guaranty and Indemnity Company and formed a nucleus for the organization of a real estate exchange for the Fourth Ward of Queens Borough, making that ward the centre of the real estate market of the island.

It was recommended that the organization be called The Jamaica Real Estate Exchange, and that all brokers who buy and sell property on Long Island be eligible to membership.

It was resolved that a committee of five be appointed by the chair to inquire as to the pleasure of the real estate brokers and what the organization would throw special stress upon outside of an exchange. The committee will also present a set of rules and regulations and make suggestions regarding the best interests of real estate men in that section.

Among those who were present were: F. W. Scutt, David L. Hardenbrook, Joseph Gray, Elmer E. Bergen, Sidney Hart, Philip Meynen, George T. Watts, Henry C. Price, James Jay Smith, James Gray, Jr., Harry O'Neill, B. H. Sweet, E. Eno, M. Loeb, E. E. Burtis, F. C. Redcliffe, Howard Sutphin, J. W. Jones, Alfred Cohen and Harry Barto.

Margins on Mortgage Loans

By GEORGE A. HURD.

The margin of security on any particular real estate mortgage loan depends on the needs of the borrower and the willingness of the lender to meet those needs.* As a result of this, many loans are made for only a small percentage of the value of the property securing them, because the needs of the borrower are small. In any community, however, and on any class of property, the greater part of the mortgage business consists of loans approaching the limit of safety, as that limit has been ascertained by experience. This is the natural result of the competition of lenders. Since the limit of safety must be closely approached in a mortgage business of any size (unless extraordinary attractions are offered to borrowers through low rates), it becomes of the highest importance to examine not only the margin required by general custom or by law for trustees and institutions, but also the separate elements of risk against which the margin is to guard.

We are not considering second mortgages, or first mortgages which are made for an exceptionally large percentage of the value of the property in return for exceptionally high interest rates or commissions, the latter being in effect the combination of an ordinary first mortgage and a second mortgage in one transaction; nor purchase money mortgages where an unusual percentage of the selling price is allowed to remain on mortgage as a special inducement to effect a sale, such transactions being outside of the ordinary scope of the mortgage business. Disregarding such exceptional cases, then, it may be stated that the smallest margin required by law or observed by custom anywhere in the United States is on New York City mortgages, where loans by trustees are limited to two-thirds of the value of the security, and this legal provision has established that percentage of the value as a proper one to be followed by other mortgage lenders. The loans of savings banks in New York City are further restricted to 60% of the value of the property, and it is only a few years since the law restricted savings bank loans to 50% of the value. In the largest American cities other than New York 60% of the value is not often exceeded; that is, in such cities as Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis, while loans on the best class of security in smaller cities, and the best type of farm loans in such States as Ohio, Illinois or Iowa are limited to one-half of the value of the security. In the smaller cities a still larger margin is generally required on residence loans which are ordinarily from 25% to 40% of the value of the security, and about the same percentage is loaned on farms in the more remote or less highly developed agricultural districts.

It is interesting for purposes of comparison to examine the requirements of margin which are met with in Europe, in different countries, and on different classes of loans. If we disregard the advances of the Russian Government to its peasants, which have amounted to 75% of the value of the land in Russia, and 90% in Poland, we find that the only companies or associations ever allowed by law to loan more than 66 2-3% of the value of the property are the Dutch companies, where 75% is the usual limit on land and 60% on buildings, the Hamburg Association, founded in 1782, which could loan up to 75%, and the Deutsche Grandschuldbanke in its loan on city property. In Germany generally the limit is 66 2-3% of the value, though the Prussian Central Boden Credit, one of the largest of their mortgage companies, is limited to 50% of the value of buildings and 66 2-3% of the value of land, while on vineyards and forests the limit is 33 1-3%. The Deutsche Grandschuldbanke of Berlin is limited on farm loans to 60%, and the Bavarian Mortgage Company of Munich to 50%. Other German companies are restricted to 50% of the value of the property, or to 60% of the land value and 50% of the value of the buildings. There is quite generally a tendency in Germany and Scandinavia to distinguish between the land value and the value of the buildings. This is no doubt largely due to the fact that their loans are commonly for a long period of years, the terms of 50 and 75 years being by no means unusual there, and the depreciation of buildings from age during the life of the loan being very considerable.

Turning to other countries, the Credit Foncier of France is limited to 50%, except on forests and vineyards, where the limit is 33 1-3%. In Italy the limit for mortgage companies, originally placed at 50%, was raised in 1881 to 66 2-3%, though the loans of associations are still kept under 50%. In Russia the St. Petersburg Credit Association is limited to 50%, and the same is true of the associations in Belgium, though the mortgage companies there loan up to 66 2-3%. The largest mortgage company in Austria is limited to 50%. In Denmark the companies are limited to 60% on land and 50% on buildings, while the associations are limited to 50% on land and 40% on buildings. In Norway the limit is 60% on all farm loans and loans in Christiania and Bergen, while it is 40% to 50% in other towns. In Sweden the limit is generally 50%, though the Stockholm Mortgage Company has been raised to 60%. In Argentine and Mexico the limit is also 50%. The limitation in Germany is sometimes expressed in terms of rentals, the German Mortgage Bank of Berlin, for instance, being limited to ten times the official assessed income in cities, and twenty-five times the assessed income on estates, and the South German Mortgage Company, to twenty times the net income. To summarize the result of an examination of the margins required in different countries, it may be stated that the limitation on loans varies from 25% to 75% of the value of the security, and that with few exceptions the limitation varies between 33 1-3% and 66 2-3% of the value.

To those who are familiar with the small margins required on short time banking loans based on collateral consisting of high-grade stocks or bonds, the margins required on mortgage loans are likely to seem unnecessarily high, and this point of view on the part of bankers and investors has led to serious losses. On the other hand, through laying down fixed and severe rules as to the amount of margin required, without examining the reasons for it, opportunities have often been sacrificed for meeting what is really a reasonable and conservative demand. While many of the same factors are present in farm loans, it is of loans on city property that I wish especially to speak. The margin on city loans to insure safety must be sufficient to cover the following six elements of risk:

First: Errors of judgment in appraising the value of the property. Since each piece of real estate stands by itself, there can never be a "market value" for it in the sense that there is for bonds or shares of stock, where each sale is representative of the value of the entire issue. The valuation of real estate must rest on opinion only, and while it may be comparatively easy for an expert with full information to value real estate correctly in an active market, in a market where transactions are few the difficulty is very great. In order to have appraisals of any value, a real estate expert must have at his command a large fund of information in regard to sales of property, rentals of property and the cost of construction of buildings, since these are indispensable to a proper valuation of real estate. It is not always easy to obtain information in regard to the consideration for sales, especially in New York City, where the practice is growing of setting out a nominal consideration of one dollar in deeds conveying property. The insertion in deeds of fictitious considerations must also be guarded against, such considerations being sometimes met with where the amount has been placed below the actual selling price, in the hope of obtaining a lower assessment for purposes of taxation, and more frequently placed at a figure above the selling price in the hope of giving the property a fictitiously high value. The selling price of property ordinarily reflects the rental of the property, which is the source of its value, but this is modified by the prospect of the future rental of the property; and there is an apparent exception to the rule that values follow and are based on rentals in the case of high-class residences in a high-class district, which seldom rent for a reasonable return on their value. This is no doubt due to the fact that ownership of such a property, which gives the owner its permanent occupancy and is paid for in the form of interest on the cost, makes this worth more per annum than the temporary occupancy of the house, which is paid for by the tenant in the form of rental. Disregarding vacant city land, which may be said to have only a future or speculative value and is not accepted as mortgage security by any mortgage company in Europe, nor by conservative companies in this country, the ordinary method of appraisal of improved property is to add to the estimated land value the present cost of the buildings, with an allowance for age and depreciation. The aggregate of these values should always be checked wherever possible by capitalizing the net rentals of the property, after deducting expenses of all kinds, to find if the building's commercial value is equal to its structural value. Wherever a building is misplaced or badly designed, loss of income over a period of years is a sure result; and examples could be given of many expensive buildings, the cost of which has been entirely thrown away, as is shown by the fact that the net rentals produced by them have been less than those produced by adjacent properties improved with buildings of trifling cost. The structural value of the improvements, considered by itself, is therefore an entirely unsafe guide in such cases.

On the other hand, to rely on the net rentals alone would be unsafe, since different classes of property are capitalized on a different interest basis. For example, a retail store property rented on long lease to an entirely responsible tenant might be capitalized on a basis of 5% net return, where a tenement house with a large number of tenants and corresponding vacancies and difficulties of collection would naturally be capitalized at a considerably higher rate.

The second point to be considered is that mortgage loans ordinarily cover so long a term of years that general financial and commercial depressions during the life of the loans cannot be foreseen, and loans should have margin enough to cover the shrinkage of value due to this cause. A period of general industrial depression has a powerfully depressing effect on real estate, but this effect varies greatly on different classes of property. When a mortgage loan is made for a term of years, if the borrower pays his interest and complies with the covenants of the mortgage in regard to taxes, insurance, etc., the principal of the loan cannot be called, nor can additional security be called for, no matter what the decline in the value of the property mortgaged may be. A great distinction is thus apparent between mortgage loans and ordinary bank loans; and when a loan is made for the usual term of five years it should be borne in mind that the property to furnish adequate security should at all times during the five-year period show a comfortable margin above the amount of the loan. We are familiar with the recurrence of panics every twenty years, with intermediate depressions of less violence at ten-year periods. The effect on real estate of these greater and lesser panics is, however, not directly commensurate with the financial and commercial disturbance which they cause. A reason for this is probably to be found in the fact pointed out by Mr. Adna F. Weber, an eminent authority on the growth of cities, that the growth of population of American cities has ever since the foundation of our Government been conspicuously greater in the alternate decades coinciding with the lesser or intermediate panics. The effect of this has been to offset the effect of intermediate depressions, as far as city real estate is concerned, by the abnormal growth of city population coinciding with that general period; while the relatively slow growth of cities during the decades coincident with the greater panics aggravates the depression of real estate following those panics. During the period of depression following a great panic every community is forced to restrict its expenditures to the most necessary objects, and the result of this is that the classes of property within a city which maintain their value best are the two indispensable classes of business and residence. All properties devoted to special uses, such as theatres, clubs, hotels, churches, etc., as well as factories and warehouses especially suited to a single line of business, suffer severely. During such a period, also, all properties which on account of the growth or movement of a city have a value based on expectations of the future are greatly depreciated, since the future value is largely eliminated. This applies especially to suburban land, or that at the circumference of a city which is just coming into use, and is aggravated if the growth of a section has been artificially stimulated by capitalistic influences. The difficulty of valuing property during a period of depression is greatly increased just at the time when through falling rentals and values it is most necessary to be careful in making mortgage loans. This difficulty arises partly through the number of real estate transactions being greatly reduced, and information from this source thus largely cut off, since no property owner will sell under such conditions except through necessity, and also because of the difficulty of forecasting future rentals where vacancies exist, it being a matter of the greatest difficulty to judge whether these are to be temporary or long continued. To avoid the difficulty which arises from a lack of information about sales, the most feasible method is to prepare a scale of relative values for a city, so that a few real estate transactions in different localities will tend to show a drift of values, just as an inspection of the daily fluctuations of half a dozen prominent stocks tends to show the drift of fluctuations for the whole list of securities.

A further effect of a depression on values of different kinds of property not usually given sufficient consideration is the great difference which a reduction in the gross rentals of property makes in the net rentals where the expenses of the property are heavy, as contrasted with the slight effect which such a drop in gross rentals has where the expenses of a property are light. This is readily shown by contrasting a modern office building which normally has expenses amounting to about 50% of its gross rentals, these expenses including not only taxes and insurance, but heat, light, elevator service, janitor service, etc.; with a store building of moderate height where the expenses do not amount to over 15% of the gross rentals, the owner having no expense except taxes and insurance. If we assume a drop in gross rentals amounting to 30%, the drop in net rentals of the office building will be 60%, while the drop in net rentals of the store building amount to only about 35%. Since values follow rentals, the stability of value of a property that is less expensive to operate tends always to be greater than that of a property which is more expensive to operate, and careful lenders are therefore disposed to exercise the utmost caution in loaning on large buildings, the expenses of which are heavy.

A third point to be considered and guarded against is the possible loss of value through changes in the internal structure of a city. In retail business property this most commonly occurs through the advance of the best retail district in the direction of the best residence district; in wholesale property through changes in the location of wharves or railroad terminals, and in residence property through changes of fashion or of transportation, and the encroachment of what are actually, though not legally, nuisances.

There is always going on in a city a movement of the retail stores in the direction of the best residence district, this being an effort on the part of the storekeepers to approach as closely as possible to their customers. As this district moves forward it leaves a vacuum behind it, which is filled later by wholesale or other uses which are inferior from a rental standpoint. Unless the growth of a city is so rapid as to make its wholesale property worth as much as retail property was a few years before, there will be an actual drop in the value of the property so replaced by wholesale; and this has commonly occurred.

Where there has been a change of axis of the main retail business streets of a city there has always occurred a shrinkage of the values created by an anticipated growth of the business district in the line of its original direction. Many examples are to be found in American cities of the best retail business streets being parallel to a lake or river front during the growth of the city up to a population of perhaps 50,000, while after that point in population has been passed the concentration of the best residence district at a distance from the waterfront has drawn business out toward these residence districts on lines at right angles to the waterfront and to the original business streets. As regards wholesale and warehouse property, the chief danger to be guarded against arises, as I have said, through changes in the location of transportation terminals. The natural tendency of wholesale property is to place itself between its transportation facilities and the best retail business district, so that it may at the same time be able to handle its goods cheaply and yet be in a location convenient for its customers. Where the wholesale business of a city grew up through river transportation, as, for example, in Savannah and Portland, Oregon, it is noticeable that of late years the predominance of railroads has been so great as to withdraw wholesale business very largely from locations occupied by it for half a century, with an increase of value near the railroad terminals and a corresponding decrease of value near the wharves.

In the case of residence property, purely social reasons are the predominant ones in establishing high values, and property of this character is for this reason liable to depreciate through changes of fashion. Changes of transportation are also of great importance in determining residence values, improvements in street-car facilities enabling people of a good social class to live at greater distances from the business centre of a city and among surroundings which are pleasant. The general tendency of our street railway improvements of the last 20 years has been to equalize the value of residence property over considerable areas, and as a result of this to depreciate residence property which is close to business property, while rapidly enhancing the value of property further out, which is well located topographically. Residence districts at a distance from the business centre of a city have an element of stability in the fact that they are less likely than those closer to the business centre to be injured by the encroachment of nuisances. In the term "nuisances" may be included buildings for every kind of utility except residence, since homogeneity is necessary to the maintenance of value in a residence district.

The fourth element to be considered is the depreciation of buildings. Mortgage loans are usually made for a long enough term to have the improvements lose appreciably in value from age and the wear and tear of usage during the life of the loan, except in cases of the most expensive construction. The loss through depreciation where a building is kept in good repair is estimated at $\frac{1}{2}\%$ a year for the highest type of fireproof construction, and increases for different classes of buildings to a maximum of 5% a year, or even more, for cheaply constructed workmen's cottages. If improvements are not kept in good repair—and it is practically impossible for a mortgagee to compel repairs to be made—the further depreciation from this cause must be added. In addition to the depreciation of buildings through age, there frequently occurs a further and more serious depreciation due to changes in style or new methods of construction, or to a change of utility in the location. An example of such a change of style in detached residences has been the abandonment of the mansard roof, once popular throughout the United States, with the result that residences built in this style of architecture depreciated heavily in value, regardless of the soundness of their structural condition. Other changes in fashion affecting residences are the abandonment of narrow hallways and of stained glass and other exterior ornamentation, together with newer and better methods of heating and lighting houses.

As regards business property, the erection of modern fireproof buildings frequently takes away a large part of the value of the older buildings with which they compete; and the failure of architects formerly to plan their store buildings with the ground-floor frontage all open for the display of goods, has greatly depreciated the value of older buildings, or has led to their reconstruction along modern lines at large expense.

New Brokers' Manual.

The Real Estate Board of Brokers has issued a very convenient and attractive Diary and Manual for 1907. The information contained therein will be found accurate in all respects. In addition to the list of members and the usual calendar and diary, it includes a general municipal directory, reports from various city departments, the "Hofman rule," tables of distances and measurements, water rents and rules, building-code requirements, regulations for summary proceedings, ward boundaries, lists of banks, trust companies and public buildings, and the location of piers and ferries. In brief, the volume contains much that is of consequence to both the members of the fraternity and others interested in real estate matters, and is invaluable as a book of reference. It is artistically bound in flexible leather and is a credit to the members of the diary committee, of which J. Clarence Davies is chairman.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

Messrs. Lower & Cochran have secured offices in Astor Court Building, 18 West 34th st, where they will conduct their real estate business.

E. J. Busher, of 627 East 149th st, Bronx, said many are seeking to buy real estate, but the prices are so high as to discourage negotiations.

Mr. Max Marx said that Washington Heights property was improving. "Things are beginning to rent up and there is an increased inquiry from buyers."

Kirk & Hazelton, a new firm of real estate brokers, have opened offices at 2023 Broadway, just above 69th st. They will make a specialty of west side property.

Mr. Julian Benedict, real estate broker of 1 West 34th st, has recovered from his recent illness and may be seen at his office any business day between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m.

City railroads which violate their agreements with the city and lay tracks where they have no right, ought to have their rails pulled out, and everybody is glad to see President Ahearn getting on to the job.

The members of the Board of Real Estate Brokers are distributing among their clients the annual Diary of the association. This book contains valuable information regarding building code requirements, tenement house laws, etc., and should be in the hands of all property holders.

Mr. Oscar Hammerstein was an unsuccessful bidder for 539 to 545 West 34th st., extending to 536 and 538 West 35th st., sold recently in foreclosure proceedings at the Vesey st. auction room. The parcel was sold to the defendant for $165,000. It is understood that Mr. Hammerstein wanted the property for storing the scenery of the Manhattan Opera House.

S. L. Rhoades, general claim agent of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co., and president of the American Street & Interurban Railway Claim Agents' Association, has been appointed supervisor of claims of the Casualty Company of America, the change becoming effective Jan. 1. The new position has been created owing to the growth of the business of the company.

Property owners and residents in the vicinity of Kingsbridge complain of the dilapidated condition of Farmer's Bridge; which connects Manhattan Island with the Bronx, which has withstood the vicissitudes and inclemencies of the seasons, as well as traffic since the year 1759, and now think it should be supplanted with a modern structure, as it is inadequate to meet the demands of this period.

N. R. and L. Ottinger, operators, bought 134 West 87th st., a 4-story private house, 20x102.2. Mr. Ottinger said that private house properties on first-class streets on the West Side had advanced five to thirteen thousand each during the past few years. He was also of the belief that the transformation of the Lenox Library on 5th av. into a private dwelling would help to influence the district into even a more select residential section.

David Stewart, 203 Broadway, Manhattan, reports that his Washington Heights office, 1926 Amsterdam av, is placing a large number of mortgage loans, and points to this as an evidence of the increasing confidence of lenders in real estate in that section of Manhattan. "Many owners of property on the Heights are so confident of obtaining large profits on their investments in 1907 that it is becoming difficult to induce them to accept anything less for their holdings than the registered asking price," added Mr. Stewart.

Negotiations are under way for many high priced properties that may result in considerable activity in that class of holdings. There has been a material relief to the stringency in the money market, which for several months has operated as a deterrent influence on the market. Recent records of mortgage loans show an increase of new loans and a smaller percentage of renewals. The conditions have not yet assumed a normal condition, but further relief is expected after the January disbursements of interest and dividends. Much of the money now offered in the market is private capital.

Mr. Oscar L. Foley, of John R. & Oscar L. Foley, 149 Broadway, Manhattan, in referring to the prospects for continued activity in the real estate brokerage business, said: "Unless a greater stringency occurs in the money market, and barring any change in the general prosperity we are now enjoying, I look forward to a continuance of active trading in realty for 1907." Mr. Foley further remarked that his firm is now in touch with a surprising number of buyers who are in search of well located property below Chambers st. "Plots in the district mentioned are becoming very scarce, and owners are jacking up prices in proportion to the increase in the demand," he concluded.

About three years ago a number of Manhattan savings banks reduced the rate of interest they were paying to depositors from 4 per cent. to 3½. But hereafter the Bowery Savings Bank, the Dry Dock, the Metropolitan, the Irving and the German will pay the former rate. No doubt the restoration will tend to replenish the funds available for real estate, which ran out last spring, as the reduced interest paid by these banks was an extremely strong inducement to transfer funds to banks willing to pay more, and later on it was only an assumption that most of the withdrawals had been invested in real estate. As the banks in the towns up the Hudson and in other States continued to pay 4 per cent., we can understand the report that many city families placed their savings with the trust institutions of other places—in their old home towns, in fact. As a reason for the low supply of money which savings banks have to lend the lower interest rate seems to have been forgotten. Coming at a time when announcements of semi-annual dividends are distributing vast sums the announcement of a changed policy may prove to be a very opportune action.

Pennsylvania-McAdoo Interests May Widen 32d Street.

A well-known broker says he has reliable information to the effect that the Pennsylvania and McAdoo interests purpose widening 32d st, between 6th and 7th avs, to full 100 ft. in width, in order to properly accommodate the multitude which will pass through this highway upon the completion of the railroad and tunnel improvements now in hand. If true, the widening of 32d st will unquestionably contribute much toward the comfort of patrons of the Pennsylvania lines by minimizing congestion through this channel of approach. Of course, the carrying out of the idea would necessarily mean the contraction of the proposed width of the McAdoo terminal building at 6th av, between 32d and 33d sts, but it is argued if the interests of both companies are identical, no friction need be looked for on this account.

It is pointed out that a $25,000,000 station should enjoy better advantages of approach from Broadway and 6th av than is at present afforded. There is no question but that 32d st is the logical entrance to the great terminals of the railways entering this part of Manhattan, and any improvement which will tend to preclude the possibility of congestion along this approach will be welcome to the public. Real estate men in the district attribute much of the recent activity on the south side of 32d st to the rumor now in circulation.

Operations Under the Recording Tax.

The Brundage clause reads as follows:

"In the event of the passage after the date of this mortgage of any law of the State of New York, deducting from the value of land for the purposes of taxation any lien thereon, or changing in any way the laws now in force for the taxation of mortgages or debts secured by mortgage for State or local purposes, or the manner of the collection of any such taxes, so as to affect this mortgage, the holder of this mortgage, and of the debt which it secures, shall have the right to give 30 days' written notice to the owner of said land requiring the payment of the mortgage debt, and it is hereby agreed that if such notice be given, the said debt shall become due, payable and collectible at the expiration of said 30 days."

Frank Bailey, vice-president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., on being asked as to the policy of that company, and of the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Co., said:

THE EXEMPTION CONDITION.

"It will be noted that this clause gives to the holder of a mortgage the right to demand payment of any mortgage within 30 days after notice, if there should be a change in the law taxing mortgages. During the year beginning July 1, 1905, and ending July 1, 1906, this company made loans of some thirty million dollars on bond and mortgage at 5½%. Out of the interest received, we paid the tax of ½% up to July 1, 1906. And many of those mortgages we sold to investors, guaranteeing them to be exempt from taxation for local purposes on account of their having contributed to the State and city ½ of 1%.

"On July 1, 1906, the new law went into effect which changed the method of taxing these mortgages made between July 1, 1905, and July 1, 1906. The law states that these mortgages are no longer exempt from taxation and that the only mortgage exempt from taxation is a mortgage recorded after July 1, 1906, and that that mortgage becomes exempt by paying a recording tax of ½% which tax is not an annual tax, but by its payment gains exemption forever. It will be noted, therefore, that the law says that if you have paid ½% for the year ending July 1, 1906, your mortgage is exempt only for that year, but if you paid a recording tax after July 1, 1906, your mortgage is forever exempt.

"The local assessors throughout the country and in Brooklyn, find from the records the list of those people who have taken mortgages and paid the ½% during the year ending July 1, 1906, and thereby are able to make an official list of the holders of mortgages for the purposes of personal taxation.

"The holder of a mortgage, therefore, subject to taxation on his personal estate, such as individuals, executors and trustees, was confronted with the situation that if he continued his mortgage investment, he would be compelled on the second Monday in January to pay a tax on the amount of his mortgage at the rate of 1½ per cent. per annum. This tax would leave him with 4 per cent. net on his money.

NEW ARRANGEMENT NECESSARY.

"Such a condition became untenable for the lenders, and so this company, adopted a policy of demanding from owners of property who had borrowed from it during the year ending July 1, 1906, the execution of a new bond and mortgage at 5 per cent. from July 1, 1906, due at the same time as the original mortgage, and that at the same time they should pay the recording tax—the company making no fee except the cost to it for changing the papers, about $20.

"By this arrangement, a party owing $6,000, for instance, on which he should pay interest at 5½ per cent. for the next three years, would gain $90 interest during that period, and the cost of changing the papers would be $20, and the tax of $30.

"If it had been practicable, as any sane law should have been, to have taken the papers and paid to the Register one-half of 1 per cent. without going through the formula of new papers, this cost would have been decreased to the borrower so that it would have been only $30—which would have been paid entirely by the lender, but in such an event he would have kept his mortgage at 5½ per cent. until its maturity.

"On all mortgages under $2,000 this company adopted the practice of requiring those to whom they had sold the mortgages to reassign the mortgages to it, and will not disturb the borrowers until maturity.

"FOOLISH LEGISLATION."

"This action on the part of the company in relation to its borrowers during that year became necessary, because in case of failure to so do it we must pay the personal tax of 1½ per cent., this made necessary not by the company, but by the passage of foolish legislation which should be amended the first opportunity the Legislature has. This law was passed in spite of personal pleadings on my part and a clear statement of what such an absurd law meant to the borrowers, who would be compelled to pay for these new papers, an entirely unnecessary expense.

"This company has not allowed any of its clients holding mortgages guaranteed by the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company to call mortgages at 5½ per cent., because of this clause, and demand the payment of the recording tax and interest at the same rate again. To those lenders who have thought such a policy was within their rights we have asked

The annual number of the Record and Guide Quarterly contains all the legal records for the past year concerning real estate and projected buildings, arranged alphabetically and numerically, with invaluable annotations. These are supplemented by tables of important transactions, with typical prices, covering the past quarter of a century or more, accompanied by expert comments; also by a list of realty corporation created during the past two years, with officers and the enterprises in which they are engaged. The whole makes a volume of reference which no real estate man can afford to be without. It should be on every desk and in every library. Its cost is as nothing compared to its value as a time-saver. This important work can be obtained, with three quarterly numbers, for the comparatively small sum of $20. It is published by the Record and Guide, at Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., where interested parties may see it and have its uses explained to them. If you cannot call, drop a postal card to the Publisher, or call him up on telephone 3157 Cortlandt.

Broadway Paved to Kingsbridge.

For the first time in history, Broadway is paved from Manhattan st to the Ship Canal. This thoroughfare has a surface of asphalt blocks with center parks laid out between each street from 137th st to 168th st, and granite blocks are used between the car tracks. Broadway intersects St. Nicholas av at 168th st, where the former takes a northerly course, while St. Nicholas av continues in the direction left off by Broadway. The correct name of the latter street has been an unsettled question for some time. It has been known under two aliases, namely, Kingsbridge Road and St. Nicholas av, and is now called Broadway. Chauffeurs say the asphalt blocks are better and safer than wooden ones, especially in wet and slippery weather, while those in the employ of the New York City Fire Department who are compelled to travel at full speed in all kinds of weather say they have noticed no difference; they use the granite pavement whenever possible. Broadway in its present state is very fine. Mr. Thomas, of David Stewart's office, said that the paving of this thoroughfare would no doubt lend its influence to enhance the value of properties in the vicinity of this roadway, while Mr. E. S. Moses, of the office of Charles Griffith Moses & Brother, said that he believed some of the rents of apartments in proximity to this improvement had already been raised.

Fourth Avenue Car Barns Bought by the New Haven Road.

Rumors are again in circulation with respect to the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad having concluded arrangements to utilize the site of the old car barns on 4th av., between 32d and 33d sts., in its New York City terminal arrangements. The latest information on the subject comes from a prominent officer of the New Haven road, who in the course of conversation made the statement that the car barns had been secured by the railroad company. While much of the significance of the sale has been anticipated, this new information, together with the recent marked increase in the purchase of real property within the immediate vicinity of the 4th av. car barns, is regarded by real estate men as the most convincing news yet received. A well-known broker in the neighborhood said: "That some great change is about to take place on Murray Hill there can be no doubt, and I believe that a verification of current rumors will soon be made that will result in a widespread buying movement in this locality."

Transit Troubles in Queens.

Queens Borough is on the eve of one of the greatest agitations in its history, according to the belief of those who are interested. The agitation will be directed towards securing from the Board of Rapid Transit of New York the adoption of routes for subways in the Borough of Queens.

The movement, while it has just been started, has received hearty endorsement. It has been taken up by associations in the Second, Third and Fourth wards of the borough. In the very near future it will be considered by associations in other wards. The plan is to have every civic and business men's association in the Borough of Queens working together to get for Queens what is her just share of the development of the subway system of travel in the city.

In the petitions to the Rapid Transit Commission for a city subway system the residents of upper Queens say:

"The time by trolley from Long Island City to College Point, a distance of about eight and one-half miles, is about one hour, and those living at College Point who are obliged to travel to and from the metropolis find it necessary to spend on the cars two hours going as far as Long Island City and back to their places of residence.

"The passengers on the trolley cars from College Point change at Flushing to Jackson av cars to go to the city. The Jackson av cars are so crowded, particularly from half-past seven to half-past nine in the morning, that many of the College Point passengers are obliged to stand until they reach the ferry.

"The trolley service does not go beyond College Point.

"The single fare from Whitestone to Long Island City on the Long Island Railroad is thirty-three cents.

"By subway the time from College Point to Long Island City would be about fifteen minutes, and the time from Whitestone, across Blackwell's Island bridge to Broadway, Manhattan, would be about twenty-four minutes, and the fare should be five cents.

"The time by trolley from Long Island City to Parsons av, Flushing, a distance of about eight and one-half miles, is about forty-five minutes, and by subway the time from Flushing across Blackwell's Island bridge to Broadway, Manhattan Borough, would be about twenty-two minutes.

"Single fare on the Long Island Railroad from Flushing to Long Island City is twenty-three cents.

"The single fare on the Long Island Railroad from Douglaston to Long Island City is thirty-seven cents.

"A large proportion of the people of the north side cannot afford to travel on the Long Island Railroad, even as commuters or by family or mileage tickets.

"The credit of Greater New York, including Queens Borough, is pledged for the expense of constructing subways in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, and there is no good reason why the equal right of the north side of Queens to subways should be ignored.

"We ask that the fare to Whitestone and Douglaston be limited to five cents, the same as in the other boroughs mentioned.

"The population of the places along the proposed route is approximately as follows: Long Island City, 60,000; Woodside, 7,000; Winfield, 8,000; Corona, 10,000; Flushing, Murray Hill and Broadway, 20,000; Bayside, 3,000; Douglaston, 1,000; College Point, 12,000; Whitestone, 7,000. "The petitioners therefore ask that your honorable body lay out subway routes in the north side of Queens Borough as follows: From the terminus of Long Island City of the subway from Manhattan Borough, across Blackwell's Island bridge and 34th st tunnel, through Flushing to Douglaston, with a spur from Flushing to College Point and Whitestone, to the end that by means of such legal proceedings as may be necessary, and appropriate legislation, subway rapid transit along said route may be obtained."

—Renting conditions in Brooklyn are far more favorable than for a long time past. A large number of houses and flats have been completed in the new sections and are ready for occupancy, or will be so within a few weeks. Notwithstanding the many new buildings, however, there is no real surplus of accommodations, for the demand for housings has increased in even greater proportion. Important Announcement

REAL ESTATE SERVICE OF 1907

The Real Estate Directory of the Borough of Manhattan will be ready for delivery on or before January 15. Send in your order for an early copy.

ADDITION TO THE DIRECTORY.

There are many particulars of property which a map cannot give. The number of flats to a floor in tenements, rooms to a flat, steam heat, hot water, elevator, electricity, liquor license, etc. The 1907 Directory will give a complete description of all tenements north of 14th Street, underlining the name of the owner in the geographical classification.

THIS IS AS GREAT A LABOR SAVER AS THE TELEPHONE, AND YOU COULD AS LITTLE AFFORD TO DO WITHOUT IT.

CORRECTION OF ADDRESSES.

During 1906 the work of locating property owners went on rapidly. More than 20,000 addresses were corrected and added, and we can now offer you a directory of which we are justly proud, and which, we can assure you, will be thoroughly efficient. We have a reputation of forty years of unequalled accuracy to maintain.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE RECORD AND GUIDE BUREAU OF INFORMATION AND THE REAL ESTATE DIRECTORY.

The maintenance of two real estate services by the brokers of New York, charging a double price, being under a double expense, and neither giving the broker all the advantages of co-operation, which is the aim of such a bureau, made a consolidation necessary. It is obvious that the larger the subscription to the Bureau the more efficient and expensive a service can be obtained. A subscriber should realize that it is not his subscription fee alone that gives him the benefit of an expensive plant, but the combined subscriptions of all brokers. If you want this benefit, don't try individual system or partial systems—the best is the cheapest.

SERVICES FOR 1907.

It is our object to retain all good features of the Record and Guide service and that of the Real Estate

Directory, and the consolidation has made it possible to offer the subscriber his choice of several different services.

This service entitles the subscriber to one hundred special requisitions.

SERVICE NO. 2.

The Real Estate Directory, leased with all the Manhattan conveyances, wills filed, and letters of administration, carefully edited, spaced, the address of grantee added, and in every way prepared for pasting on cards, with two hundred special requisitions.

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existings ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before second figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of Purchases under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

December 21, 22, 24, 26 and 27.

METAL CEILING ASSOCIATION OF NEW YORK.—E. P. Hoyt, Pres., First and Washington Sts., Jersey City; John W. Yehe, Secy.—Treas., 525 W. 23d St.

ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS OF METAL COVERED DOORS AND WINDOWS.—O. G. Norman, Pres., 412 East 125th St.; J. F. Blanchard, Secy., 819 Fuller Building; M. F. Westergren, 483 East 144th St. Meets on call.

Leonard Sheet Metal Works.

In view of the announcement of the sale at the Manhattan Real Estate Exchange of all right, title and interest in the former Leonard Sheet Metal Works, on Dec. 28, a distinction should be made between that business and the new "Leonard Sheet Metal Works" (same name), of 219 Grand st, Hoboken, N. J. (New York office at 127 East 23d st). The new concern is on a perfectly sound basis, and is handling many very important contracts with the principal builders and architects of New York City, and the new concern is in no way connected with the old concern, as might have been supposed from the announcement of he sale.

—National Association of Master Plumbers has issued Vol. XXIV. of its proceedings, the contents of which are devoted to its recent convention in Atlantic City, N. J. In addition to the proceedings of the convention, which fill 199 pages, there is also an appendix containing the association's certificate of incorporation and by-laws, also a resume of the twenty-three previous conventions. The frontispiece is a portrait of President Moody and the colored cover portrays the board walk and beach at Atlantic City.

—Escoba Mfg. & Supply Company, 147-149 Cedar st, New York, has recently built a factory in Brooklyn equipped with modern machinery to manufacture push brooms of all kinds on a much larger scale than heretofore attempted by the company. It is intimated that the company is prepared to furnish the goods at attractive prices.

Character and Show.

For worth is more than merely being seen,

Or heard, or lifted tall where men shall burn

For envy of our dazzling eminence.

—A. S. Woodburne.
